Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] Tomorrow is Labor Day (I suppose set by act of Congress.) Everything we do nowadays is either by or against acts of Congress. How Congress knew anything about Labor is beyond us. But anyhow, tomorrow is Labor Day.

It's a day in the big cities when men march all day and work harder than they have in any other of the 365. Even the ones that ain't working labor on Labor Day. There is two things that tickle the fancy of our citizens. One is let him act on a committee and the other is promise him to let him walk in a parade.

What America needs is to get more mileage out of our parades.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

EIGHT DEAD IN FLAMES

Apartment Fire Traps Guests

Ten Injured and Damages of $50,000 Wrought at Winnipeg

Many Victims Leap from High Windows as Others Expire in Sleep

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1. (AP)—Eight persons lost their lives and ten others were injured, two seriously, in an apartment-house fire here today.

The dead include several women and children. Seven died in the apartment-house, trapped in their upper-floor suites, while the ninth succumbed in a hospital shortly afterward.

The flames, thought to have started in the basement, shot through hallways and up stairways. Portions of the roof soon collapsed.

When rescuers reached the scene the building was an inferno of flames and smoke. Men, women and children screamed for help from upper windows. Some jumped from the third and fourth-floor windows into fire nets or to the pavement.

DEATH LIST

The dead are Mrs. Madge B. Edwards, 42 years of age, her daughter Marjorie, 14, her son Gordon, 9, Alfred Applebee, 45, his daughter Irene, 11, Ralph Weighton, 36, Mrs. H. L. Butler, Mrs. Sarah E. Gaunt, 68.

GRAF RACES FOR HOME

Zeppelin Far Out Over Atlantic

Great Craft About 1500 Miles on Way to Final Goal Seeking New Record

Dr. Eckener Remains Here as Substitute Pilot, Lehmann Takes Her Into Sky

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2. (AP) A radio message picked up by the radio operator of the Reading Company at 1:25 a.m. (E.S.T.) gave the Graf Zeppelin's position as 46.10 degrees west, 39.66 north. It was estimated that the ship was approximately 1500 miles east by east southwest of Lakehurst.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) Sailing the southern route and riding the winds that kept her earthbound until dawn, the Graf Zeppelin tonight is skimming along at an eighty-mile-an-hour clip, more than 1000 miles at sea.

Darting like a homing pigeon for Friedrichshafen when she lifted her silver flanks from Lakehurst in the morning sun, night found her still on an arrow-like course for her home hangar.

The globe-trotting German dirigible, record-bent for all the honors she already has won, is following a path dotted with ocean liners. Several ships have sighted her and at 4 p.m. New York daylight time she radioed her position as north latitude 38.12 west longitude 63.20. This put her 630 miles east of Charleston and indicated she must be traveling before a favoring wind.

NEW YORK DISAPPOINTED

The British liner Lapland sighted the sky visitor just before noon and she was seen scudding through the clouds again at 1 p.m. Other ships cruising along the Zeppelin's route are the New York, Romana, Scythia and President Johnson.

The racing Graf disappointed New York by not paying the city a farewell visit. Skipper Ernest Lehmann headed directly to sea because he was in a hurry and because storms and fog were reported along the Great Circle route.

According to weather charts prepared by naval aerologists, the Zeppelin must hold a southerly course if she is to dodge thick weather. A storm is reported blowing off the Newfoundland coast and fog patches are all along the northern lane.

The Graf slid away between gusts today to ride the wind that had held her earthbound in the naval hangar here for almost nine hours. The German dirigible bobbed up from American soil at 8:10 o'clock this morning bound eat with twenty-two passengers for her fifth Atlantic crossing.

ECKENER REMAINS

She left with a new skipper at her helm and a misty-eyed commander saw her off. Capt. Ernst Lehmann is taking the Graf home on the last leg of her Friedrichshafen-to-Friedrichshafen journey, for business held Dr. Hugo Eckener in the United States.

Twenty men and two women peered through the cabin windows at a tiny crowd which had remained all night to bid them farewell. There was a writ of attachment of $100,000 figuratively plastered on her side, but this bothered neither the passengers nor the Zeppelin as she sailed away still hopeful of arriving in her home port before Thursday, which she must do if she is to break her own around-the-world record.

The Graf Zeppelin began to roll at 8:03 o'clock. Its blunt prow was clear of the door four minutes later, just in time to be rocked by a vagrant gust of wind. Safely at the end of the dirigible track more than 100 yards from the hangar, the Graf was unhitched from its trolley. Then the marine army appeared in double time down the field with the gas bag on its collective shoulders.

A couple of minutes were given to the "weighing off" of the Zeppelin—this for the benefit of land lubbers, means the balancing of the ship by shifting ballast—and at 8:15 o'clock the German sky liner was ready for the air. The two rear propellers began to turn and at 8:19 o'clock came the shout of "ship up."

Freed of its fetters, the Graf floated into the morning sky, prow high up, tail down. At 150 feet

MATHER TRIBUTE PLANNED

John Hays Hammond Initiates Move to Construct Yosemite Monument to Park Director

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The achievements of Stephen T. Mather, director for fourteen years of the United States National Park Service, are to be immortalized with a $150,000 memorial structure in Yosemite National Park, it was revealed here today in a letter addressed to several thousand friends of the retired official by John Hays Hammond, capitalist and chairman of the movement.

Two plans, the letter discloses, are under consideration, one to erect an entrance gateway at Tioga Pass, the other to build a chapel and community house in Yosemite Valley.

STEPHEN T. MATHER

Hammond's letter is the first step looking toward the organization of a national committee which, it is expected, will make possible the completion of the memorial before the end of next year's park season. It reads as follows:

FOR TESTIMONIAL

"The following prominent citizens of the United States have joined me in forming an executive committee to create a fund for a suitable testimonial to Stephen T. Mather who, because of ill health, has been forced to retire as director of the National Park Service, to the development of which he has unselfishly devoted his time, money and energy during the last fourteen years; and we are asking you, as one of his legion of friends, to join in a general nation-wide committee for this purpose. The members of the executive committee are as follows:

"Hon. Louis C. Cramton, Member of Congress from Michigan; Hon. James W. Good, Secretary of War; Dr. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, president National Geographic Society; Dr. Vernon L. Kellogg, permanent secretary, National Research Council; Theodore W. Noyes, editor of the Washington Star; Mrs. Henry A. Strong, chairman of board, Hattie M. Strong Foundation.

"At the preliminary meeting for organization the undersigned was urged to act as chairman and consented to do so, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank of Washington, has signified his willingness to serve as ex-officio member of the executive committee and also as treasurer for contributions for the testimonial. Hundreds of other friends of Mr. Mather in all parts of the United States will undoubtedly

HINDU CITY WIPED OUT BY FLOOD

Indus Valley Devastated by Torrent, and Cholera Epidemic Follows

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.)

BOMBAY, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The town of Bakkar, which a few days ago had a population of 10,000 was swept to destruction overnight by the flood which inundated the Indus Valley for 400 miles.

Great fear is felt for the safety of the Lloyd dam across the Indus at Sukkur. The dam was designed at a cost of $120,000,000 to convert millions of acres of the Indus Valley into arable land.

Damage to the Province of Sind Kashmir and the frontier districts is already estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars and the flood has not yet reached its peak.

Airplane warnings have enabled most of the villagers to make an escape, but cholera, which is a water-borne disease, is now rampant and 120 deaths have been recorded in the last two weeks from its effect.

Evacuations of tens of thousands of inhabitants of the Sind area is taxing the commissariat to the utmost and the specter of starvation now is facing those rescued from the flooded cholera-infected districts.

BROWN BEATS SCHOENHAIR

Los Angeles-to-Cleveland Hop Made in Fast Time; Goebel Out, but Wood Takes Air at 1 a.m.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (AP)—Lieut. Henry J. Brown, Cleveland-New York air-mail pilot, completed a nonstop race from Los Angeles to Cleveland in the national air races today, crossing the finish line at 5:19 p.m. His time was 13h., 18m.

Brown completed the trip in more than a half-hour less than the time flown by Lee Schoenhair of Los Angeles last Monday. Schoenhair's time was 13h., 51m., 10.8s. These are the only flyers to have completed the trip in compliance with the regulations, Roscoe Turner having finished after the deadline of 6 o'clock last night. The flyers are competing for a $10,000 prize.

The crowd cheered when the black-and-silver mail-wing Lockheed landed, its gasoline tank nearly empty and the motor sputtering.

ART GOEBEL OUT OF RACE, DUE TO MOTOR

Art Goebel, entrant in the Los Angeles-Cleveland nonstop race against time, who was scheduled to hop off last night from the Metropolitan Airport at 11 o'clock, withdrew from the race when his mechanics announced his new Cessna plane was not working as it should following test flights, yesterday afternoon and last evening. He flew the plane here from Wichita Saturday.

Maj. John Wood lifted his Lockheed Vega monoplane from the runway here at 1 a.m. today, seeking to land at the scene of the National Air Races in less time than Lieut. Henry Brown yesterday.

Lieut. Henry Brown, veteran Cleveland-New York air-mail pilot, took off at 1:20 a.m. yesterday after several delays due to mechanical difficulties. He was flying a Lockheed mail-wing monoplane

EAKER OFF IN SHUTTLE FOR RECORD

Transcontinental Plane Makes Second Start on Refueling Flight Test

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The Shuttle, Boeing plane attempting a new endurance and distance refueling flight, was fighting heavy west winds and making little progress, it was reported at the air-mail field here tonight. At 11 o'clock, mountain standard time, the Shuttle had just reached North Platte, Neb., taking three hours for the flight of little more than 200 miles from Omaha.

OMAHA (Neb.) Sept. 1. (AP) Winging its way westward in a second attempt to set a new transcontinental endurance record, the Boeing air-mail plane Shuttle, piloted by Capt. Ira Eaker, was twice refueled over Fort Crook Field here tonight and departed for Cheyenne, Wyo.

MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—A second attempt to establish a new refueling endurance-flight record was begun today by Capt. Ira K. Eaker and Lieut. Bernard Thompson in the transcontinental plane Shuttle.

The flyers made an easy take-off from Mitchel Field at 5:35 eastern standard time, this morning, and headed into the west.

They planned two round trips across the continent, with Oakland, Cal., as their western turning point, and after that they hope to shuttle back and forth between the Atlantic Coast and the Middle West "as long as the motor holds out."

The Shuttle's first attempt at an endurance record, begun at Oakland, Cal., ended last Thursday night at Cleveland, after the plane had flown here and was en route back to the West Coast. An accident that occurred when the plane was taking oil caused a forced landing.

Capt. Eaker brought his plane here yesterday, intending to start his endurance flight then, but slight damage from a fire which caught from the exhaust caused a postponement until today.

Many Homeless After $200,000 Canadian Blaze

FERNIE (B. C.) Sept. 1 (AP)—Many residents of Waldo, west of here, are all homeless tonight as the result of a fire, starting in the Baker Lumber Company which caused a property loss of approximately $200,000.

The flames, believed to have started from one of the company's burners, destroyed a large part of the plant, the store, office, boarding house, dance hall and sixteen private residences. In less than an hour the buildings were razed completely. No loss of life was reported.

Supplies were rushed for the homeless who are being quartered at the Waldo Hotel, a school house and other available buildings. Winds carried the flames one mile north, destroying a residence and other property in its path.

SHIPWRECK DEATHS 77

Hollywood Man Added to List

Southland Theater Manager and Bay City Resident Reported Missing

Henry Holgate, Angeleno, Found Among Rescued; Home for Orphan

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—As the weary work of checking passenger lists of the ill-fated steamer San Juan went on today, two new names were added to the list of seventy-six known missing from the 47-year-old steamer which was rammed and sunk Thursday midnight by the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd off Pigeon Point light, thirty-five miles south of the Golden Gate.

The list of victims of the disaster mounted only to seventy-seven names, however, as one man reported missing was found to have been saved and treated at the Emergency Hospital.

The two new victims are:

Charles H. Welstead, 40 years of age, 5372 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, manager of Hunley's Theater, Los Angeles.

Harry Colvin, San Francisco.

The man erroneously reported missing is Henry Holgate of Los Angeles, a passenger of the San Juan. He was rescued, brought into San Francisco and given hospital treatment, after which he was discharged. The record of his treatment at the hospital was lost temporarily, this giving rise to the belief that he had been lost.

Welstead's name was added to the list of missing by his mother, Mrs. Alice Welstead, with whom he lived. She came to San Francisco today to search for her son. Welstead came up on the last trip of the San Juan from Los Angeles, and had a round-trip ticket, which might explain the absence of his name on the passenger list.

Welstead came here to visit A. L. McMeans, but found him out of the city. When he discovered his friend had left the city, according to Mrs. Welstead, he decided to return on the San Juan and boarded the steamer a few minutes before she sailed. Nothing has been heard from him since, said his mother.

Colvin's absence was reported by his sister, Mrs. Eva Miller, with whom he lived here. She said her brother suddenly decided to leave for Los Angeles Thursday, raced to the wharf in a taxicab and boarded the San Juan a few minutes before the San Juan's gang plank was hauled up.

SHIPWRECK ORPHAN OFFERED HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—A god home awaits Robert Winston, 17-year-old orphan survivor of the San Juan wreck, if he can be found.

When word that Robert was in the Pigeon Point shipwreck reached his aunt, Mrs. J. B. Kasal of 610 West Seventy-third street, Los Angeles, she started wiring in an endeavor to get in touch with the nephew. He is the lad who applied for refund of his passage money, on which he said he had spent his last cent.

Word was sent to Mrs. Kasal from the Los Angeles-San Francisco Navigation Company that the boy is all right, does not need any help and will get a job here. She motored up to San Francisco at once with her husband, a Los Angeles credit man, in quest of Robert. Aid of police, relief agencies, newspapers and radio stations was sought, but failed to bring trace of the youth.

Seattle Girl Killed by Fall

SEATTLE, Sept. 1. (AP)—Ruth Nettleton, 23 years of age, a prominent member of Seattle's younger society set, died here today from injuries received last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lenox Boyce, when she fell ten feet from a porch railing to the sidewalk below. She never regained consciousness.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Diego Contrera, 12 years of age, was fatally burned today when he ran from his mother as she tried to take from him the explosive units he had removed from a pile of discarded fireworks.

ARAB MOBS RUN WILD

Jews Fleeing to Escape Foes

Many Homes Ransacked by Bedouins in Attacks on Towns in Galilee

Judea and Samaria Quiet; American Among Those Injured at Safed

JERUSALEM, Sept. 1. (AP)—Bedouins last night attacked nearly a dozen Jewish colonies in Northern Galilee, pillaging the houses and burning crops. There is an unconfirmed rumor that twenty-two persons were wounded in the attacks.

In contrast to the depredations in Galilee, Judea and Samaria were relatively quiet. In Jerusalem houses of Georgian Jews near the Damascus Gate asserted to have been left open by police after an unsuccessful search for arms were looted by Arabs.

TOWNS EVACUATED

In the Galilee district the Jewish inhabitants evacuated Yesod Hamaalah, Mishmar Ha'yarden when attacking Arabs appeared. The Mesha colony was destroyed and Roshpinah, the largest Jewish colony in Galilee, made preparations to break up an expected attack from the same body of raiders that pillaged Mishmar. Eleven Arabs who tried to burn crops around Roshpinah were arrested.

Another place pillaged by Bedouins is Ayeleth Ha'shachar. The inhabitants of Mahanayim Sedjera defended themselves from attack but asked for military aid.

STILL SERIOUS

The situation at Safed, first attacked last Thursday night, was described as still serious with few persons yet returned to the deserted homes and with epidemic threatened. The Hadassah medical organization has formed a special commission to render aid.

A. R. Greenstein, registered as an American director of the Jewish Orphanage at Safed, was among those wounded in the Arab attack Thursday. Rabbi Samuel Cohen and his wife, reported to have been killed in the same attack and at first believed to be from the United States, are not Americans.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency here reported that Hebrew newspapers in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv were permitted to appear today for the first time in more than a week but the editors were warned publication would be suspended if any matter was printed likely to cause disturbance of the peace.

STRAUS GIVES MORE TO RELIEF TO VICTIMS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Nathan Straus, 81-year-old philanthropist, has contributed a second $25,000 to a fund being collected here for the relief of Jewish victims of racial conflict in Palestine. The gift brought his total donations to the fund to $50,000.

SENATOR KING ASKS FOR APPEAL TO BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Senator King of Utah, addressing a Jewish mass meeting tonight, said the proper steps have not been taken by Great Britain to protect the population, including Americans, of Palestine and urged the American government to make representations to England to prevent future "atrocities and butcheries."

He asserted Prime Minister MacDonald and Minister of Foreign Affairs Henderson "will perceive their duty and replace officials who were vacillating or guilty of misconduct" and added that "we cannot make representations to the savages who committed the atrocities, but we can and should make further representations to the government which has undertaken to maintain peace and order in Palestine."

STREET CAR SERVICE ENDS IN ENID, OKLA.

ENID (Okla.) Sept. 1. The franchise was revoked on the ground that the company failed in its obligation to maintain the streets between its tracks.

RICARD PREDICTS STORMS

Weather Prognosticator Says Two Due This Month With Lots of Sunshine on Tap, Too

SANTA CLARA, Aug. 31. (Exclusive)—Father Ricard gave out the following today in regard to the weather program for September:

September 1, 2.—Fair weather with pleasant temperatures over California, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

September 3, 4, 5 and 6.—The first of the two severe storms of this month will enter over British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest generally, causing local rains. Northern, and Central California will be affected by occasional cloudiness and a few sprinkles especially over our mountainous regions. During this period also the low over Arizona will be deepened, causing frequent and sudden showers.

September 7, 8.—Will see the passing of the above storm, making it generally fair and warm on this side of the rockies.

September 9, 10, 11.—Somewhat disturbed over the Northwest again, but on the whole fair here and along the balance of the coast.

September 12, 13, 14.—Mostly fair everywhere this side of the continental divide, with hardly noticeable disturbance over Washington and British Columbia around the latter date.

September 15, 16.—Generally fair with moderate temperatures.

September 17, 18, 19, 20, 21.—The beginning of a series or an accumulation of storms will sweep down from the region of the Aleutian Islands and drop generous rain over the Canadian provinces and over Washington and Northern Oregon. California will be able to judge the extent of this storm in the northwest by the increasing cloudiness with sprinkles and thunder storms

HER MURDER STORY FACES INVESTIGATION

Senora De Vidal

VIDAL DEATH QUIZ URGED BY BROTHER

Beauty Knew General Was Married Before, He Says, Attacking Her Story

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—Alfonso Vidal has requested President Portes Gil to investigate personally the death of his brother, Gen. Moises Vidal, shot and killed in his home here August 25.

Alfonso made this request to the court investigating the crime and charged that Senora Maria Teresa De Landa De Vidal, "Miss Mexico" in the 1928 Galveston beauty contest, who has confessed the shooting, new that Vidal was married when she became his second wife last October. She is only 19 years of age.

The girl has insisted she did not know she was committing bigamy when she married Gen. Vidal and testified that when her true status was revealed to her by a newspaper article she shot her husband in a fit of despondency.

Alfonso told the court he did not believe the woman committed the crime, declining, however, to mention whom he believes she is attempting to protect.

Thomas Vidal, also a brother of the general, testified that the general told him before he married "Miss Mexico" that she knew he was married and that she consented to enter into a "false marriage" with him.

Senora Maria Teresa Herrejon De Vidal, the general's undivorced first wife also told the court that "Miss Mexico" knew Vidal was married.

Building Union Asks Brief Week

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—Union building craftsmen of Kansas City today asked for a five-day week, beginning next March 1, and coupled their request with a demand for extensive wage increases.

A. J. Rector, president of the builders' association, said his organization will not sign a five-day week contract or approve an advance in the scale.

The requested increase ranges from 12½ cents an hour for laborers to 37½ cents an hour for art glass and iron workers.

TOURISTS TO SEE FAIR

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. CIVILIAN RACES AIR MEET CARD

Cleveland Day Brings Forth Many Surprises

Capt. Turner of Hollywood, Second in Cabin Event

Thea Rasch Takes Women's Australian Pursuit

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (AP)—Flashing exhibitions of speed by civilian flyers on closed-course races characterized the National Air events here today.

A seventy-five-mile race for civilian pilots in cabin ships with motors of 800 cubic inch or less piston displacement was won by R. W. Cantwell of Tulsa, Okla., whose Lockheed-Vega with a Wasp motor flashed around the five-mile course at a speed of 152.27 miles an hour. He nosed out Capt. Roscoe Turner of Hollywood in another Lockheed, whose speed was 150.15. Capt. Turner flew in the same plane in which he raced from Los Angeles yesterday in the nonstop race to Cleveland.

J. Wesley Smith of Norristown, Pa., took third with a speed of 135.81. Prizes were $1500 for first, $675 for second, and $375 for third. The cabin ships in this event were required to carry a regulation "pay" load.

KANSAN WINS NEXT

Roaring around the five-mile closed air course at an average speed of 147.37 miles an hour, T. A. Wells of Wichita, Kan., won the seventy-five-mile speed race for civilian pilots in open cockpit planes with motors of 800 cubic inch piston displacement or less.

The victory was worth $1200 to the Kansas flyer and was his second important victory of the National Air Races. Wells won the Portland-to-Cleveland derby ending last Tuesday with its first prize of $3000 and lap awards.

The seventy-five-mile race brought together one of the fastest fields of civilian pilots attending the air races, including Charles (Speed) Holman of Minneapolis, who made an average speed of more than 150 miles an hour, but was disqualified for fouling on the pylons that mark the course.

H. S. Myhers of Defiance, O., finished second with an average speed of 145.57, and Snyder Hall of St. Louis was third. Wells and Hall flew Travelairs. Myers was in a Simplex.

HANDICAP RESULTS

The second section of the handicap Australian pursuit race for civilian pilots, was won by Arthur J. Davis of East Lansing, Mich. His handicap time for the seventy-five-mile race was 48m. 28.1s.

Errett Williams of Colorado Springs in an Eagle Rock Bullet won the sixty-mile closed-course speed race for the aviation Town and Country Club trophy with an average speed of 133.75 miles an hour. The race was open to cabin-type planes in the 800 or less cubic inch class.

The handicap Australian pursuit race for women went to Thea Rasche, German aviatrix of Lowell, Mass., whose net time was 36m. 6s. for the seventy-five-mile course, an average speed of 99.02 miles per hour.

LOUISE AGAIN WINNER

Louise Thaden, Pittsburgh flyer, who won the women's transcontinental derby last Monday, finished second by handicap, but her average speed was 136.83, the fastest in the race. The planes were handicapped according to their horsepower. Mrs. Keith Miller of Buffalo was third.

R. G. Lockwood, Long Island, N. Y., in a Fairchild finished first in the eighty-mile Detroit News transport and efficiency contest. His average speed was 127.37 miles an hour. George Haldeman, Newcastle, Del., was second in a Bellanca at 119.97 miles an hour and J. Wesly Smith third in a Bellanca at 113.74. Other factors besides speed must be computed before the winner is determined.

WINNIPEG FIRE FATAL TO EIGHT

Nellie MacIntosh are the two seriously hurt. They suffered severe injuries to their backs.

The property damage is estimated at $50,000, but the estimate does not include loss to tenants, many of whom lost all their personal effects. Rescuers saw many scenes of horror. A young girl surrounded by flames and with her night clothing afire, screamed for aid on the fifth floor. Before firemen could place their ladders she fell back into the fire and died.

Two bodies were found on what remained of an iron bed. The victims had been smothered by acrid smoke as they slept.

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Edwards and the latter's two children met death in a suite on the top floor. They apparently had been unable to escape by either windows or doors, so quickly had the flames surrounded them.

William Gilmour, a fireman, was injured when a stairway collapsed as he was carrying an unconscious tenant to safety. Both were saved from death by other firemen.

Occupants of several large rooming houses in the vicinity were forced to the street as sparks threatened to spread the fire.

over its mountains. The Arizona low again will deepen with the same result.

September 22, 23, 24, 25, 26.—The above storm will continue in the Northwest on these dates and possibly increase in character, while the weather in California will become menacing, with possible rain over northern as well as central regions, especially around the 23rd and 24th of the month. Arizona will continue to be proportionately disturbed.

September 27, 28, 29.—Will see the passage of the above storm to the eastward and a return to the Pacific Slope generally of our frequent fair weather and pleasant temperatures.

September 30.—Generally fair in California and neighboring States, with a very minor disturbance over Washington and British Columbia.

With Art Goebel withdrawing at the last moment, Maj. Wood is scheduled to hop from Los Angeles early this morning in an effort to beat Lieut. Henry J. Brown's time to Cleveland. Brown hopped yesterday morning and lowered the mark set a few days ago by Lee Schoenhair.

which is said to be capable of a speed of 195 miles an hour. It is powered with a 525-horsepower motor and carried 600 gallons of gasoline when it left the airport. He had planned to depart at 1 a.m. and his starting-time was so recorded by Joe Nikrent, N.A.A. official timer. Minor adjustment, however, delayed him twenty minutes in getting away.

The air-line distance from Los Angeles to Cleveland was estimated yesterday by airport attaches as approximately 2065 miles.

Goebel, breaking in his new Cessna plane, arrived in Los Angeles Saturday night from Wichita, having covered the distance of 1200 miles in nine hours and forty minutes. His average speed was estimated as a shade better than 130 miles an hour, but Goebel believes the plane is capable of a much faster gait after a bit of limbering. The ship was delivered to him brand new a few minutes before his departure for this city and the flight to Los Angeles was a "warming-up" affair.

Wood, who was forced down near Willard, N. M., by a faulty gastank, returned to the starting-point yesterday and since has been busy tuning his plane for another start.

GRAF ZEPPELIN FAR OUT AT SEA

the dirigible leveled off and sailed down wind directly over Lakehurst village a mile away. Traversing a great half circle the Zeppelin pointed her nose into the east toward the rising sun, flying for Friedrichshafen like a homing pigeon.

At 8:27 o'clock the air liner was a misty gray cloud over Barnegat Bay which a minute later dissolved in the sky.

ECKENER LEAVES FOR CLEVELAND RACES

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener passed through the Pennsylvania Station unnoticed by the more than 300 persons there tonight, just two days after the city's millions had acclaimed him for piloting the dirigible Graf Zeppelin around the world.

The German air hero, who this morning had watched from the ground the departure of his ship from Lakehurst, N. J., for Friedrichshafen, boarded the Pennsylvania train Clevelander for Cleveland, where he will attend the air races.

From Cleveland he plans to go to Akron, O., to inspect the two Zeppelins in course of construction there and to confer with officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company, which holds the American rights to the Zeppelin patents. He is accompanied by Rudolph Pagenstecher of the Goodyear company and F. W. Von Meister, United States representative of the Zeppelin company.

Dr. Eckener said he will return to New York Thursday and will sail for Germany Saturday.

ARCTIC JOURNEY OF GRAF DISCUSSED

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.)

BERLIN, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Capt. Fridtjof Nansen, en route to Geneva, conferred here today with Capt. Walter Bruns of the Aeroarctic Society in respect to preparations for next year's polar expedition with the Graf Zeppelin. Nansen, who will be in charge of the scientific commission, expressed the belief that the Graf, in view of its successful circle of the globe, will meet fully the demands of the polar flight now being prepared under the direction of Capt. Bruns, who will pilot the dirigible.

PRIZE VOTED TO REID'S WIDOW

Air Race Officials Will Pay $5300 Flight Award to Bereaved Bride

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Officials of the air race announced today that Mrs. Thomas D. Reid of Downey, Cal., widow of the pilot who established a new solo endurance record here Saturday and died three hours later when his plane crashed in the dark, will receive the prize of $5300 which Reid was to have received for his feat had he lived.

The $5300 was awarded for the extra three hours Reid stayed aloft after passing the old record. The pilot was married shortly before he attempted the endurance flight.

DOOLITTLE SAVES LIFE BY JUMPING

Army Flyer's Plane Loses Wing in Practice Flight at Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (AP)—Lieut. Jimmy Doolittle of Mitchel Field, N. Y., saved his life today in a parachute leap when the wing of his Curtiss pursuit plane came off 2000 feet in the air while he was practicing for exhibition flying about seven miles west of here.

The plane, a crumpled and tangled mass, fell into a field twenty feet off the road near Olmstead Falls. Doolittle landed in his parachute a quarter of a mile away.

The army flyer, who attained fame as the first pilot to negotiate an outside loop and who is engaged in the solution of the fog problem, under the Guggenheim Foundation, flew into Cleveland for the National Air Races from Mitchell Field this afternoon. He was on the program for a series of stunts at the races and was practicing for them.

He made a dive at 4000 feet and at 2000 feet the wings collapsed. He unbuckled his safety belt and, with the craft flapping and spinning, jumped free.

Doolittle was calm despite the experience and ready to go on for the stunts. The plane was a special craft used in engine-cooling tests at Wright Field.

YOSEMITE MAY HONOR MATHER

welcome an opportunity to join in this movement and it is through his proposed nation-wide committee, of which we are asking you to become a member that we hope to reach them."

"The plan is to secure a fund in the aggregate of $150,000 by which an everlasting testimonial to the work of Mr. Mather in the establishment of the National Park Service and the development of the National Parks on a high plane of public usefulness can be placed in the Yosemite National Park in California, where he first became interested in the national park idea and which was the scene of his earliest efforts in their development.

ALTERNATIVE PLANS

"Two suggestions as to the form such a testimonial should take have been made, one or both of which might most appropriately be accepted. One contemplates the erection of an entrance gateway at Tioga Pass, commemorating Mr. Mather's part in the purchase and donation to the government for public use of the strikingly scenic Tioga Road, which traverses the park for a distance of forty-six miles. The acquisition of this road, largely with his own money, and its donation to the people of the United States represents Mr. Mather's first major accomplishment in national park development.

"The other is the erection of a Stephen T. Mather chapel and community house in Yosemite Valley. His long interest in the erection of a structure of harmonious design and architecture for religious and community purposes makes this an equally appropriate suggestion.

SUGGESTIONS INVITED

"Furthering of such a project was among the last acts of his administration of the Park Service. Other suggestions appropriate to the man and his public service will be given consideration if offered.

"We shall be very glad to have you communicate with us and indicate your acceptance as a member of this committee at your earliest possible convenience, addressing all communications to General Headquarters, 809 Hill Building, Washington, D. C."

WOMEN GIVEN DERBY PRIZES

Seven Southland Trophies Presented to Flyers

Purses Also Bestowed at Cleveland Meet

Air Races Will Be Brought to Close Today

BY TERREL DE LAPP

"Times" Staff Representative

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Seven trophies from Los Angeles and Santa Monica and nearly $10,000 in prize money were awarded ten women flyers here tonight before a huge crowd at the National Aeronautical Exposition, as a final gesture on behalf of aviation for the valiant fights they made to blaze the way for women in cross-country flying as participants in the recent Santa Monica (Cal.) to Cleveland Air Derby.

The prizes were presented under the direction of Cliff Saunders, one of the Los Angeles managing directors of the National Air Races, which will close here tomorrow, and Frank Copeland of Santa Monica, director of women's derby.

Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, winner of second place in the heavy-plane class, was on the verge of tears when she learned that she was to receive a memorial trophy in honor of one of her close friends in Long Beach, Mrs. Jessie H. McWhinney, killed in an airship at Long Beach last spring.

The trophy was offered by C. C. McWhinney of Long Beach, husband of Mrs. McWhinney.

Amelia Earhart, who took third place in the heavy-plane class of the derby in a Burbank-manufactured Lockheed-Vega Wright whirlwind, was awarded the Los Angeles Times trophy tonight.

OTHER TROPHIES

Here are the other trophy winners and their donors:

Ruth Elder, now Mrs. Walter Camp, Jr., won the Hoot Gibson, Beverly Hills motion-picture cowboy, trophy.

Mrs. Keith Miller won the W. A. Clark III trophy.

Thea Rasche won the Hotel Carmel, Santa Monica, and Santa Monica Bay District Exchange Club trophy.

Neva Paris won the Women's Aeronautical Association of Detroit trophy.

Mrs. Thaden won the Women's Aeronautical Association of California trophy.

Edith Foltz won the Jim Granger trophy.

Blanche Wilcox Noyes won the Pickwick trophy.

FINAL CASH PRIZES

Here are the final official money prizes, the derbyites' times and their merit points:

D. W. Class—First, Louise McPhetridge Thaden, Pittsburgh, in a Travelair; merit points, 273.2; lap prize, $100; derby prize, $3500; total, $4100.

Second, Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach; merit points, 232.4; lap prize, $200; derby prize, $1750; total, $1950.

Fourth, Ruth Elder, Hollywood, prize, $525.

Fifth, Neva Paris, prize, $350.

C. W. Class—First, Phoebe Omlie, merit points, 289.3; derby prize, $500.

Second, Edith Foltz, derby prize, $450.

Third, Mrs. Keith Miller; derby prize, $325.

Fourth, Thea Rasche; derby prize, $175.

with the satisfaction of having initiated the institutional step that Gen. Calles announced and in behalf of which all good Mexicans are duty-bound to struggle, putting into the purpose all the love and impartiality of which they are capable."

Felipe Canales, acting Secretary of the Interior, reported on settlement of the church-state controversy, declaring that the Catholic clergy agreed to subject itself to the Mexican laws governing religious activities and that the government believed that in settling the controversy "it complied strictly with its duty."

In the field of foreign relations, Jenaro Estrada, acting Secretary, said that Mexico had presented its points of view to the United States government to prevent "exaggerated application" of immigration regulations to Mexicans, and had made opportune observations to Washington as to the proposed tariff increases on importations from Mexico, notably on tomatoes. The United States exports to Mexico last year, he revealed, totaled in value about $115,000,000, while its imports from Mexico amounted to $124,000,000.

The chamber, in which the joint meeting of the two houses was held, was packed by listeners and a huge crowd assembled outside as the chief executive gave accounting of his stewardship. Members of the diplomatic corps, military officers, Cabinet officials and social and business leaders looked on.

LACK OF GOLD BRAID

The President wore a morning coat with the Presidential sash across his chest. The diplomats appeared for the most part in morning dress instead of the full uniform which usually attends such functions.

Senora Portes Gil arrived half an hour before her husband and took a seat in a balcony box. The President came from his palace by automobile and, preceded by a troop of cavalry, rode between a double file of troops. Military bands played the national anthem. He greeted his Cabinet assembled to meet him on the steps to the chamber and then proceeded to the rostrum to begin his address.

FACULTY FIGHT KILLS COLLEGE

Des Moines University Board Announces Closing

Court Order Assigned as Cause of Action

Secretary About Whom Row Began Gets Last Word

DES MOINES (Iowa) Sept. 1. (AP) The board of trustees of Des Moines University, Baptist-Fundamentalist institution, where a recent faculty dispute was followed by student rioting, announced today that the school will be discontinued.

A statement by the board of trustees issued by Miss Edith M. Rebman, secretary, said this course has been adopted because the District Court has granted an injunction preventing the board from interfering with the management of the school. The court order was obtained after a student riot in May, precipitated by the trustees' dismissal of the entire faculty.

The court action, the statement said, left the trustees nothing but the "high privilege" of paying the bills of the university.

GIVE UP FIGHT

"The trustees have concluded," added the document, "that if a Christian university is to be established and maintained it must be done somewhere else than in Des Moines."

The appointment of Dr. H. C. Wayman as president in 1927 was called an "unfortunate error" and it was charged that some of the faculty members were insincere in their allegiance to the university.

Dr. Wayman was dismissed with the rest of the faculty after investigation by the board of his charges of indiscretions between Miss Rebman and Dr. T. T. Shields of Toronto, Ont., president of the board.

TROUBLE REVIEWED

The board's order for suspension of classes May 13 was followed by granting of a temporary injunction to keep the school in operation. When the trustees refused to issue diplomas or credits until the sock-and-egg riot was investigated the faculty granted sixty diplomas at graduation exercises June 4.

Steps will be taken at once to wind up the university's affairs, Miss Rebman said.

Portland Has Gasoline War

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Rebellion struck the ranks of the Portland Retail Gasoline Dealers' Association today with A. L. Kurtz, president of the group since its inception, leading the revolt by severing connections with the organization while other members slashed motor fuel prices to as low as 17½ cents a gallon.

The latest gasoline war started Saturday with independent dealers displaying signs advertising gas for 18 cents. Standard Oil Company stations swung into line as did other major concerns, but today added stiff competition by reducing the price still further.

SMOOT FATHERS SENATE HERESY

Wants Debate on Tariff Kept to Tariff

Upheaval Feared When He Proposes Wild Idea

Highest Rule Insists on Exact Opposite

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—When Senator Smoot of Utah rises in his place Wednesday to launch the fight for the tariff bill which bears his name, he will lay before his colleagues an extraordinary, not to say, a revolutionary, suggestion.

He will ask that during the tariff debate Senators shall only talk about the tariff!

Some of his colleagues, to whom Senator Smoot has already confided his plan, have applauded his courage but have expressed grave doubts that the plan will get anywhere. Although the tariff bill will be the only business before the Senate and the House will not be in session to interrupt with messages and measures everybody expects that the Senate will run true to form and that four-fifths of the time during the tariff debate will be consumed in discussing everything but the tariff.

ONE FAST RULE

The Senate, according to Senator Moses, has only one hard and fast parliamentary rule, to wit: that "speeches shall have no reference to time or the subject before the Senate."

The country has often noted the operation of this rule. For instance a bill for the regulation of migratory birds can furnish Tom Heflin with the inspiration for an attack on the Catholic church; and an innocent measure for the relief of the Hopi Indians is apt to provoke a four-hour speech on prohibition from either a wet or a dry.

The tariff is running into a danger of this kind because there happens to be so many present-day issues which have so much more appeal. After ten weeks of enforced silence Senators are just yearning to relieve their minds of certain opinions on prohibition, farm relief, naval disarmament, public lands and a dozen other subjects, and much as they like Reed Smoot, they will be disinclined to adopt his suggestion too literally.

Just take the prohibition issue alone. Think of all that has happened during the summer when the Senate was not in session. Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission wrote his letter to Gov. Roosevelt advocating that the States take over the business of enforcement. Mabel Walker Willebrandt wrote her twenty-two articles, Gov. Ritchie went down to Charlottesville to defend Maryland's right to refuse to co-operate in enforcement. Dr. Doran of the prohibition unit has had some interesting pronouncements on State responsibilities, the mysterious increase in the consumption of grapes, and on the reopening of distilleries.

The Senate cannot be expected to ignore such a series of challenges. True, many individual Senators have had something to say already, but only through the unsatisfactory method of issuing statements. The job cannot be done properly until the Senators' views are in the Congressional Record, and a few hundred thousand copies are in the mails for the constituents back home.

It is entirely probable that there will be a gentleman's agreement to let the tariff bill have the right of way for a few weeks at least. But sooner or later, pent-up emotions are going to burst their barriers. And wets and drys are going to start reading the Washington dispatches again.

IT ALL DEPENDS

Then the "big navy" fellows like Hale of Maine, and Swanson of Virginia, are on the warpath because the President is not going ahead with the cruisers, and the "little navy" boys, like Harrison of Mississippi, and King of Utah, are for giving the President three rousing cheers. The "farm-relievers" are afraid that the tariff is not comprehensive enough to permit them to emit all their grievances. And so, ad infinitum.

The flood gate will be loosed shortly after noon next Wednesday. It will be interesting to see how much co-operation Senator Smoot obtains from his colleagues.

FARM AND DAIRY BODIES PROTEST TARIFF MEASURE

ST PAUL, Aug. 31. (AP)—A joint protest to every member of the United States Senate against the Hawley tariff bill has been sent by four of the largest agricultural and dairy organizations in the northwest.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation; Land o' Lakes Creameries, Inc., Central Co-operative Association and the Twin City Milk Producers' Association, representing 300,000 members, joined in the demand that unless tariff readjustments are limited to agricultural products, no changes whatever be made in present tariff schedule.

The protest charged that Congress thus far has given no regard to the purpose of the special session, relief of agriculture and instead has so readjusted both industrial and agricultural schedules as to make the inequality between agriculture and industrial tariff benefits greater than ever.

Lady Heath Improving, But Still Very Low

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (AP)—The condition of Lady May Heath, noted aviatrix who was seriously injured in an airplane crash Thursday, was the best tonight since the accident, physicians reported.

Her temperature has dropped and she is resting comfortably. She also is able to talk rationally. Physicians can not be certain of her recovery, however.

Lady Heath suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. The plane fell through the roof of a factory after a wing hit a chimney guy wire.

GENEVA SERMON APPLAUDS PACT

Dr. Cadman of Brooklyn Occupies Pulpit

Calls Antiwar Document "Christ Adventure"

Arms Discussion to Be Only Academic

GENEVA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Delegates and officials of the League of Nations and visitors tonight heard Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn in the pre-Assembly sermon applaud the agencies of world peace and summon humanity to united efforts for banishment of warfare.

The American clergyman spoke in historic St. Pierre Cathedral, rich in associations with Calvin and Knox. In his audience were scores of leaders of the great nations.

The Kellogg antiwar pact was said by the preacher to resemble "Christ's adventure for mankind" in that it specifies no physical means for enforcement. He denounced absolutism in states and "the philosophy of force" and urged religious groups to take co-operative action for world security.

ONLY ACADEMIC

As delegates discussed among themselves the purposes of this tenth Assembly of the League the opinion was frankly voiced tonight that all plans for limitation and reduction of armaments hinge on the results of the private conversations between the United States and Great Britain and on the outcome of the projected five-power naval conference.

The disarmament committee to be created tomorrow by the Assembly is regarded as the most important group of all, but in the absence of any American delegation many leaders were convinced that discussion could be only academic.

France, especially, feels that with the United States absent little can be achieved and believes, moreover, that courtesy toward the United States would seem to suggest debate only very general in scope.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain arrived today, accompanied by his daughter Ishbel, and Premier and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France arrived tonight and Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann of Germany is due tomorrow.

"All Latin-American members of the League are represented except Argentina. Dr. J. Gustavo Guerrero, Salvador jurist and statesman, late tonight appeared certain of election as president of the Tenth Assembly. The name of Foreign Minister Hymans of Belgium had also been mentioned for the honor but after receiving representatives of a number of European delegations he announced that he would decline to be a candidate.

"The Belgian Minister said the delegates from American nations appeared practically unanimous in support of one of their number and that he did not wish to be an obstacle to such a desirable development. Dr. Guerrero participated in the League's codification of international law and in drafting its treaties of conciliation and also took an active part in the last Pan-American conference."

DIRT SPILLED ABOUT CHICAGO

Everyone Who Lives in That City Breathes Pound and Half of It Yearly

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) — Chicagoans breathe into their lungs one and a half pounds of dirt each year, Health Commissioner Kegel announced today at the conclusion of a survey undertaken to determine what peril lurks in the air in the congested districts of the city.

The number of pounds of dirt breathed each year into the lungs of the residents of the ten cities in which the survey was conducted was found to be as follows:

St. Louis, 1.8 pounds; Cincinnati, 1.75; Pittsburgh, 1.69; Detroit, 1.61; Chicago, 1.50; Indianapolis, 1.48; Cleveland, 1.45; Toledo, 1.12; Atlanta, .99; Des Moines, .88.

Rome-to-Brazil Flyer Plans for New York Hop

ROME, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Arturo Ferrarin, hero of the Rome-to-Brazil nonstop flight, and Commander Umberto Maddalena, who played a prominent part in the rescue of Gen. Umberto Nobile while the latter was stranded on a polar pack, will take off in October in a Marchetti Savoia, a big, newly built hydroplane, for a Rome-to-New York nonstop flight, it was learned tonight.

The flyers are making daily preparatory flights in Northern Italy with two new Marchetti Savoia hydroplanes and are waiting until the very last moment to select the best plane in which to make the hop.

DRY LAW DEATH FIGURE SOUGHT

Enforcement Toll Traced by Hoover Commission

Difficulty Encountered in State Investigations

Justice Department Fails in Similar Inquiries

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Hoover law enforcement commission has launched a new attempt to compute the death toll of prohibition enforcement by State, Federal and municipal officers, it was learned today.

Figures disclosing the number of persons shot by Federal prohibition agents, customs personnel and Coast Guardsmen already have been placed in the hands of the commission's investigators by Seymour Lowman, assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

ATTEMPT MADE

Steps to determine the number of persons killed by State and local officers engaged in prohibition-enforcement activities have been inaugurated, but just what success has been achieved still is unannounced.

This latest move to investigate the activities of the dry personnel marks the second Federal attempt of this nature launched in recent weeks. Atty.-Gen. Mitchell recently announced that investigators of the Department of Justice would attempt to obtain figures showing the number of Federal agents killed in prohibition work as well as the number of citizens killed by dry personnel.

The Department of Justice inquiry launched directly after the killing of Henry Virkula, an International Falls (Minn.) confectioner by customs agents on July 8, last, has not been productive.

DIFFICULTY MET

Such Federal official figures as were on file in the prohibition, customs and Coast Guards offices were obtained readily but difficulty was encountered by the department when it sought State figures. As a result, the Department of Justice inquiry virtually has been abandoned with little likelihood that it will throw any new light on the situation.

It still is too early to tell whether the Hoover commission will be any more successful in running down figures of the various States. Unless special investigation in each of the States is conducted, the results of their inquiry will be incomplete.

PSYCHOLOGISTS CONVENE TODAY

International Congress to Open at New Haven

Thirty Foreign Countries Are Represented

Many Notable Scientists In Attendance

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Individual maladjustments which lead to crime, and the effect psychoanalysis has upon human conduct will be of major importance among current problems presented at the ninth International Congress of Psychology, which opens here tomorrow with more than 950 members attending. This is the first international meeting of psychologists to be held in America, and thirty foreign countries have sent delegates.

Many of these have traveled halfway around the world for the meeting, coming from India, China, Russia and other distant places. President James Rowland Angell of Yale University will formally open the congress with an address of welcome. Prof. J. McKeen Cattell of New York, president of the congress, will reply on behalf of the scientists. The official welcome will be extended by William J. Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education. The congress, which is held every three years, convenes for the purpose of presenting the results of psychological research in the interim. This session is expected to be the most important held within the last twenty-five years, since major discoveries have been made in the last three years, and will have their first announcement here this week.

CRIME PROBLEMS

Linking up psychology with the problem of crime, Prof. Ivan P. Pavlovo, head of Russia's Institute of Psychology, will tell the congress of his work on behavior, and will show his film, "The Mechanics of the Brain," next Thursday afternoon. Tomorrow, one section of the congress will consider what psychoanalysis can do for the maladjusted, with a talk on "Psychoanalysis and Conduct Problems," by Abraham A. Brill of New York City, American expert in this field.

What causes some persons to steal has been the subject of the special study by Phyllis Blanchard, of the University of Pennsylvania, who will present her analysis of the problem. The parts played by intelligence and emotion in maladjusted children will be presented by Prof. A. D. Tendler, of City College of New York.

Such authorities as Trigant Barrows, Herman Adler, Joseph Jastrow and Harry Elmer Barnes will speak on the study of crime and the mind. Among other world renowned scientists who will attend the congress are: Prof. Wolfgang Kohler, authority on Gestalt psychology, of Berlin; Prof. Pavlovo, head of the psychological laboratories of the Russian Academy of Sciences of Leningrad, and Prof. Henri Pieron, of the Institute of Psychology of the Sorbonne.

ECKENER INVITED

The New York Library Dormitory and the Harkness Memorial Quadrangle have been turned over to the congress for the guests. Last night an informal dinner was held in the university dining hall, followed by a smoker, attended by virtually all of the delegates from foreign countries, they having arrived in New Haven by various trains during the past two days.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin round-the-world flight, has been invited to attend the congress, a telegram having been sent him yesterday by Prof. Cattell, president of the congress. Dr. Eckener was a former student under Prof. Wilhelm Wundt, of the University of Leipsig, having been granted his doctorate upon the thesis, "Sensations of Touch."

THREE-WAY PACT URGED BY GERMAN

Von Tirpitz Wants Entente to Include United States, England and Own Nation

[Copyright, 1929, by New York Herald-Tribune.]

BERLIN, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Grand Admiral Fred Von Tirpitz, the creator of the German high-seas fleet, advocates in the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung today an entente between Germany and "the Anglo Saxons," as he calls the United States and Great Britain.

The policy begun at Locarno of establishing a rapprochement between this country and France, Tirpitz says, he has held "from the very beginning to be quite hopeless." On the contrary, the author of the ruthless submarine campaign which brought the United States into the World War, maintains that the destruction of the German armada at Scapa Flow prevents Germany from having any future as a naval power and removed automatically England's jealousy of this country.

"We have so many cultural relations with England," writes Von Tirpitz, "and in still highed degree with America and so many common points of view, that good relations among these three Germanic states cannot but be profitable for all three partners."

Secretary Davis Will Make Five Speeches Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Long before there was a Labor Day, James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, started making Labor Day speeches, and he has kept right on, through all its "legal holiday" period, reaching his top record this year.

Five speeches, all carrying the message of an American labor freed by the modern machine from straining of sinews, are his contribution to the current Labor Day celebration. They will reach more hearers than any similar short "speech swing" of his career, except in the heat of political campaign.

Margaret Anglin

Bank Official to Go on Trial

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Harry C. Johnson, Washington State banking supervisor, will go on trial here tomorrow charged with accepting two bribes totaling $3260 from two South Tacoma bankers for refusing to grant charters to new State bank in South Tacoma.

The first day is expected to be devoted to selection of a jury. Scores of witnesses, prominent in Washington political circles, have been listed to testify.

KNOWING PART OUSTS ACTRESS

Margaret Anglin Loses Role by Not Rehearsing

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 1. (AP)—Margaret Anglin, noted actress, came to Milwaukee tonight with every intention of playing the lead in a stock-company presentation of the drama "The Woman of Bronze."

She left almost as soon as she came with the information that her contract had been broken because she did not attend rehearsals; that she had been cited to Actors' Equity and that an understudy would take her part.

Miss Anglin had felt, she said, that since she had played the lead in the drama 1060 times she was not needed for rehearsals. She had been booked for one week. Sherman Brown, the theater manager, felt otherwise.

When she walked in the stage door tonight accompanied by an attorney and ready to play whether the understudy did or not, Brown informed her that her contract had been broken and that Albert Mack, director, had formally cited her to Equity.

HOOVER ENDS HALF YEAR WITH NOTABLE RECORD

Farm Board and Law Study Group Among Chief Accomplishments; President Keeping Self Fit

[illegible]TON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Herbert Hoover will com- [illegible] his first six months as President next Wednesday noon, at [illegible] a somewhat unruly Senate will be reassembling for [illegible] debate on the tariff.

[illegible] is not a long time in governmental affairs, and it [illegible] too early to attempt to judge the administration of this [illegible] President. However, Mr. Hoover has been so ac- [illegible] has undertaken so many tasks on such an elaborate [illegible] his record already is such as to make possible if not [illegible] analysis and comment.

[illegible] into office March 4, last, [illegible] down by the public expec- [illegible] of extraordinary accomplish- [illegible] President Hoover has tackled [illegible] variety of problems, both [illegible] and foreign, with energy [illegible] ability. He has demonstrated [illegible] instances even this [illegible] that the organizing and execu- [illegible] on which he built his [illegible] did not desert him when [illegible] the White House.

POWERS DELEGATED

[illegible] Hoover up to this time has [illegible] one outstanding character- [illegible] Chief Executive of the na- [illegible] that of being able to [illegible] authority, to pass some of [illegible] off on other [illegible] and get the right men to [illegible] of particular jobs. This [illegible] to be the hall mark of [illegible] executive, and Mr. [illegible] had the knack from his [illegible] days as a public figure. In [illegible] tendency to surround [illegible] with persons of ability and [illegible] to share his bur- [illegible] he only ran true to the [illegible] that brought him to na- [illegible] attention during war [illegible]

[illegible] of his critics already are [illegible] to him as an "administra- [illegible]" because Hoov- [illegible] so many different [illegible] to his aid, such as the Law [illegible] Commission, the Farm [illegible] and the commission that is [illegible] California waterways. But [illegible] as what count in the long [illegible] Mr. Hoover, enjoying the [illegible] health when he might be [illegible] physical disaster by trying [illegible] personal supervision over [illegible] details of his administration, [illegible] serenely while his friends [illegible] that in the end he and [illegible] will run up a record [illegible] accomplishment that [illegible] itself to the nation.

HE KEEPS FIT

[illegible] Hoover is too much of an en- [illegible] in the most exacting of [illegible] posts take too much of a [illegible] the standpoint of health. [illegible] keeping himself fit and sound. [illegible] way he is doing it is by [illegible] detail as much as possible [illegible] saving his own strength for [illegible] matters. He does not propose [illegible] his death out of the [illegible] as have some Presidents [illegible] history, notably Harding. [illegible] to be in at the finish of [illegible] administration. This being the [illegible] he has called to his assistance a [illegible] list of men of special [illegible] knowledge that are be- [illegible] "Hoover patriots." [illegible] all who have been liter- [illegible] into the government [illegible] their own wishes and [illegible] at financial sacrifice. [illegible] of Santa Paula, Cal., [illegible] was prevailed on to take [illegible] the Federal Farm Board, [illegible] George E. Farrand, [illegible] lawyer, who is general [illegible] of the Farm Board, is an- [illegible]

[illegible] entered office with a [illegible] program. He had the farm [illegible] on his schedule, the pro- [illegible], the demand for tariff [illegible] and a score or more less- [illegible] problems. He not only [illegible] to dispose of the most [illegible] of these matters, but has [illegible] movements in various [illegible]. Already in six months [illegible] investigating commis- [illegible] at work or in the proc- [illegible] formation, the most impor- [illegible] of which, of course, are the [illegible] Farm Board and the Wick- [illegible] law-enforcement group.

FIRST FIGHT WON

[illegible] getting through the legislation [illegible] created the Farm Board Mr. [illegible] out in his first battle [illegible] a Senate that has been rebel- [illegible] ever since he be- [illegible] President. The board is func- [illegible] and is administering the [illegible] sum of $500,000,000 which [illegible] to pull agriculture out of [illegible]. It has made loans to the [illegible] industry and the Cal- [illegible] industry and in both [illegible] has advanced assistance [illegible] to enable those industries [illegible] in business. It is too [illegible] to pass judgment on the board [illegible] a national standpoint, but [illegible] is a noticeably better feeling [illegible] farm States since it started.

[illegible] vast majority of people in the [illegible] States have decided to [illegible] the new Farm Board a chance [illegible] prove its worth. The harvest [illegible] is at hand, and there is a [illegible] in Washington and in the [illegible] that by setting up some sys- [illegible] of orderly marketing the new [illegible] agency may restore that [illegible] equality" which the [illegible] says he lost in the 1921 de- [illegible]

[illegible] the farmers might have had [illegible] board for the asking three [illegible] ago does not minimize Presi- [illegible] feat in getting them [illegible] it now. He had to use [illegible] methods to snuff out [illegible] campaign for an export bounty, [illegible] so-called "debenture plan."

ANOTHER TRIUMPH

[illegible] of the reapportionment- [illegible] bill was a distinct Hoover [illegible]. This was a Con- [illegible] responsibility, ignored for [illegible] greater part of a decade, and [illegible] constitutional mandate to re- [illegible] the membership of the [illegible] of Representatives still might [illegible] ignored but for the President's [illegible] that something be done. [illegible] made reapportionment a part of [illegible] agenda for the special session [illegible] Congress, and his followers in [illegible] took care of the rest. Cali- [illegible] is particularly indebted to [illegible], as it stands to gain at least [illegible] additional Representatives—the [illegible] number of any State.

[illegible] Hoover has not been so [illegible] with the tariff, but this [illegible] fault of his. The business of [illegible] the import duties is so dif- [illegible] and complicated that delay [illegible] certainly have been inevit- [illegible]. Mr. Hoover does not know [illegible] whether the pending Haw- [illegible] bill ever will come to the White House for his signature, and unless his friends have misconstrued some of his recent comments, he does not very much care. In his opinion, the continuing prosperity of the country means that business as a whole is not interested in the tariff and will get along very well if the protective rates are unchanged. He promised relief to certain branches of agriculture and industry, but he cannot keep that promise without the co-operation of the Senate, and he knows the country will understand the situation.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

The commission next in importance which Mr. Hoover has set to work is that on law enforcement. A great deal has been said and written about the work of this commission and the President's own views on prohibition—the main theme in the investigation—but actually nothing of substantial character can be deduced at this time. There are indications that the administration feels the individual States should take a larger hand in liquor law enforcement. It cannot be stated definitely that this is the President's policy, although it originated with his enforcement commission chairman, Mr. Wickersham.

President Hoover has taken the shortest route to prevent corruption in the leasing of public lands in shutting down on leases in the future. Now he plans to check the centralization of government in Washington by turning most of those lands back to the control of the States.

As regards governmental economy, Hoover is for it, of course, but there is no belief in his or any other mind that expenditures at Washington will be reduced. That just isn't in the cards.

COST GOING UP

The cost of government is going up all the time and it will increase under Mr. Hoover just as it has increased under every other President. But it's what you get for your investment, rather than the outlay, that is important. Farm relief as now outlined will cost $500,000,000, there is an authorized naval program to be financed, $36,000,000 additional is to be asked to fight the Mediterranean fruit fly and Mr. Hoover has started so many new ventures that undoubtedly expenditures at Washington will increase under his stewardship.

As evidence that the President himself sees that expenditures will mount there are his obvious preparations for it—for example the move to have a study made of the feasibility of raising postal rates to make the Postoffice Department entirely self-sustaining, which it never has been. There also is the tariff revision, which may increase revenues. It is by no means certain that the President will not find a way to reduce some tax rates within a year or so, at least before the 1930 Congressional elections, but he says the reduction most certainly will be based on greatly increased revenues rather than on reduced expenditures.

HIGHWAY BACKED

Mr. Hoover has turned his hand to promoting projects which will strengthen the position of the United States in South America, where he blazed the way with his trip while President-elect.

He is doing all he can to speed construction of an all-American highway connecting the United States with all the nations to the south; he is doing what he can to assist in the development of an airplane route forming the same Pan-American link and he and his administration are whole-heartedly in favor of the building of the Nicaraguan canal, giving the United States another passage for war and peace purposes between the Atlantic and Pacific. He also has addressed himself to many domestic public improvements, such as the Colorado River Boulder Dam project, the Mississippi flood-control program and the bridge across San Francisco Bay.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

With all these activities the President has been concerned in a major way with America's relations with other lands and particularly with the vital question of military armaments. During the summer it became his duty and pleasure to proclaim the ratification by more than half-a-hundred nations of the Kellogg antiwar pact. On the same day he issued this proclamation, he seized the opportunity to initiate a new movement for reduction in naval strength. He even hurled a challenge at some of the most influential members of Congress by announcing that he would delay construction of the new cruisers authorized by Congress last winter. Since the President made these announcements in July the conversations between the United States and its chief naval rival, Great Britain, have progressed to the point where any day now simultaneous statements may be expected to issue from the White House and No. 10 Downing street giving the terms of a new naval agreement between the two nations.

The impression gathered at the White House these days is that the President is wrapped up in his naval reduction, or naval limitation program, as it may more properly be called, to the exclusion of almost every other subject at this time. In his opinion, plainly, the armaments question transcends any other now before the people of the United States. In spite of truculent statements from the "big navy" men in Congress, he is plugging away toward cheaper parity, confident that in the end he will have the enthusiastic support of the American people.

HE APPEARS RESTED

Although Mr. Hoover has worked harder, perhaps, than any peacetime President in our history, the President gives every indication that his office agrees with him. His eyes are clear and he walks with a firm step. He has lost the tired look he brought back from South America last January. Some fears for his health were expressed when he announced that he would remain in Washington during summer, but his camp at the headwaters of the Rapidan in near-by Virginia has provided him with just the sort of relaxation he likes best. The worst of the capital summer weather now is over, for August and September nights here are cool. The President enters his second half year refreshed in body and mind as the result of his regular week-ends at his Virginia camp.

Mr. Hoover also has found time to stir himself politically and his purging of the Republican party in the South of some of the figures that in the past have waxed fat off Republican patronage may be listed as one of his major accomplishments. He rapidly is making over the entire national Republican organization to suit his own ideas and the result promises to be a cleaner organization all down the line—cleaner in the sense that there will be fewer scandals and possibly none at all as Republican candidates in the future are to be presented for office on the basis of merit alone, with group voting, the purchase of votes, the crooked counting of ballots, the selling of postoffices and other jobs all thrown into the discard. The old line politicians are opposing the President in this renovating process, but he is having his way about it and those of standing either are being forced to comply or bow themselves out of the Republican national picture. At Mr. Hoover's dictation a political moralist of the first caliber, Claudius H. Huston, soon is to be made chairman of the Republican National Committee.

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEN—AND WHAT THEY WEAR

by The Chevalier

Copyright, 1929, Marie Frank

> "Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
> But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
> For the apparel oft proclaims the man."
> Hamlet, Act I, Scene III.

AS only ten days remain during which straws can be correctly worn, we will consider hats in our first discussion of Fall accessories, for they are the most immediate concern of every man who keeps in step with seasonal changes.

We have been told that the selection of a hat is one of those problems that most men dislike to face. Yet it is simple if one or two things are kept in mind.

The two most important factors in selecting a hat are color and style. So far as color is concerned, this should be governed by the shade of the suit with which it is to be worn. Only certain colors may be regarded as affinities, therefore two soft hats are really necessary for day wear if a correct blend is to be achieved with the apparel in the average man's wardrobe.

For his suits of blue or grey he may take his choice of silver, pearl, steel, Quaker, or mottled grey, and oyster. With suits of tan or brown he should choose beige, maize tan, cocoa brown, lavender mottle, or balsam green. Green is also good with grey.

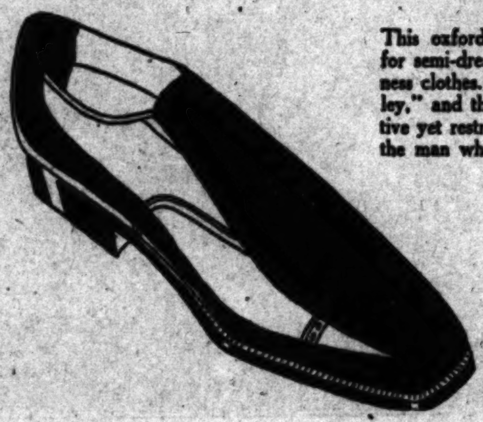
In deciding upon the style, or shape, consideration should be given to when the hat will be worn. There is a strong tendency to greater formality in business dress, and the Homburg type of hat best conforms to this vogue. When there is less need for a strictly dress effect the welt and bound edge styles, with the brim worn up all around, are smart and correct.

The raw edge style, worn with the brim snapped sharply down in front and up at the back, gives the required touch of jauntiness for country wear and informal activities, and a most nonchalant air when snapped down all around.

The Homburg styles for Fall are even more English in character than they were for Spring, decidedly formal in shape, with a side roll and decisive curl to the brim, which straightens smartly fore and aft.

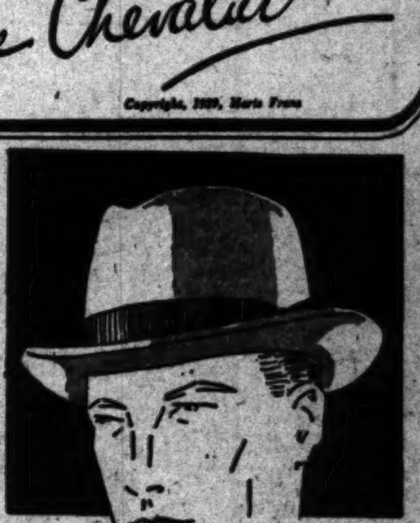
Snap brim hats have crowns a shade higher, and slightly tapering. The medium width brim is correct in this style.

The Chevalier



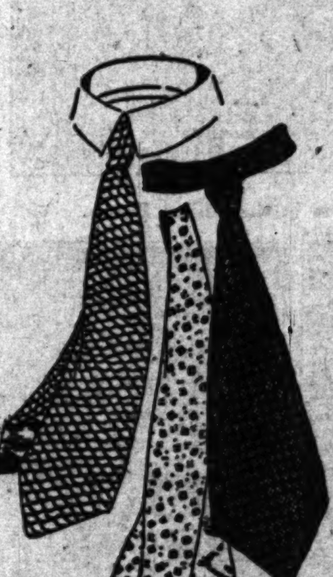
This oxford of soft black calfskin is correct for semi-dress, and with the more formal business clothes. The plain pattern of "The Rutley," and the stitched boxing, give it a distinctive yet restrained character that will appeal to the man who gives thought to his appearance.

At Walk-Over



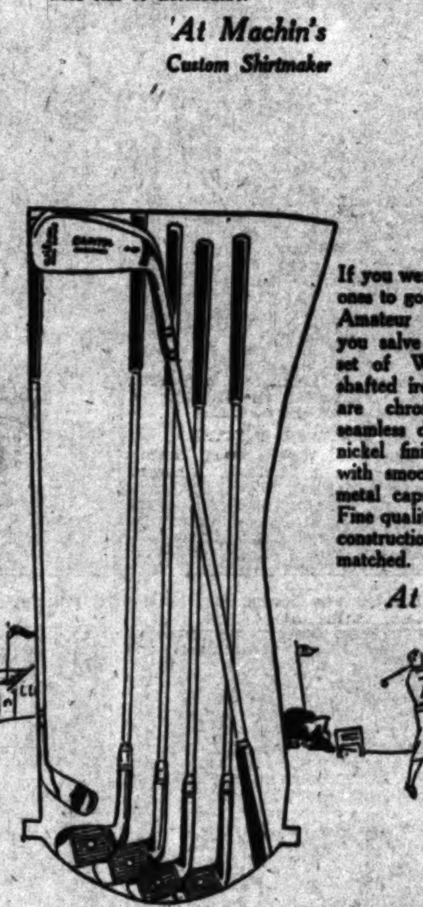
"The Paramount," a new Homburg type Stetson styled in the English manner, and especially suited for dress-up occasions, either business or social. It has the sharply curled high side roll brim, straightening smartly front and back, and narrow tapering crown. In Nubian brown, tokay, silver gray, pearl gray, and balsam green.

At Harris & Frank



New cravat patterns that give the added formal touch now entering into business dress. We show a French satin cravat, shadow cord pattern, with multiple tones of wine shading from dark to light; a genuine English Spitalfields with small divided square pattern in tones of blue-gray, black and red; and French satin in two tones of blue with jacquarded pattern. All are lined with Skinner's changeable silk to harmonize.

At Machin's
Custom Shirtmaker



If you were not one of the lucky ones to go to Del Monte for the Amateur National, we suggest you salve your feelings with a set of Wilson Capitol steel-shafted iron clubs. The heads are chromium plated. The seamless drawn steel shafts are nickel finished, and equipped with smooth calfskin grips and metal caps to form a bell top. Fine quality in both material and construction, and factory matched.

New to America is Athlone Twist, an exceptionally sturdy fabric produced by Irish weavers expressly for Roos Bros. The suit sketched is in Aztec Brown, and has fine stripes about an inch apart. This is but one of many handsome colors and patterns in which this imported fabric is available. Tailored to Roos Bros. specifications.

RICE CROP BENEFITED

WILLOWS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Exceptionally hot weather during the last few weeks has proved beneficial to the growth of rice. An inspection of the rice belt has revealed that harvesting operations this season will begin earlier than usual.

PEIPING MAN DESCRIBED AS NEAREST MISSING LINK

PEIPING, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Peiping man, who with his human teeth and a monkey jaw roamed the earth about 1,000,000 years ago, is the nearest thing to the missing link which scientists have yet examined, paleontologists here declare.

A cave about twenty-five miles from Peiping bit by bit has been yielding the story of this individual.

It has required nine years of study, excavations and careful calibration of the various finds to put together the reconstruction of today.

The story begins with the finding of a tooth in 1920 by Dr. A. Zdansky, a Russian. Its latest chapter is another tooth, recently dug up, the third to be found.

Along with these teeth and other finds, there are excavated evidences that their human or semihuman owner was contemporary of saber-toothed tigers and primitive hyenas.

The teeth appear to have revealed more of the scientific story than any other objects. Dr. A. W. Grabau, formerly of Columbia University, now professor of paleontology here and chief paleontologist of the Chinese Geological Survey, feels confident that in the discovery is every indication that man existed in China 1,000,000 years ago, and that the tooth of the Peiping man is at least a missing-link type of a human.

The second tooth was found by Dr. Birger Bohlin, a young Swedish scientist, and definitely identified and named by Dr. Davidson Black, an American of the Peiping Union Medical College, a Rockefeller Foundation institution.

Dr. Black places the Peiping man on a stage of development between the modern human and anthropoid apes. The time estimate of 1,000,000 years is based on the recent advances in geology, whereby the earth's age, and that of its living creatures, is calculated at far higher figures than it was a few years ago.

On this time clock, the Peiping man antedates the Neanderthal man, but is about contemporaneous with the Heidelberg man of Europe.

TAX RATE CUT

SANTA ROSA, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Sonoma county tax rate for the fiscal year 1929-30 has been fixed at $2.94 per $100 assessed valuation, 2 cents lower than last year. The rate applies to all except outside districts, which have an additional roadtax of forty cents.

Artistic Pullman Cars for Austria

VIENNA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Pullman cars that will appeal to esthetic as well as practical tastes soon will carry passengers on the Austrian federal railway system.

The road has decided to apply the principles of modern art to the new Pullman coaches which will supersede the old-fashioned carriages of the International Express trains.

Architect Josef Hoffmann, professor of the Austrian Academy of Fine Arts, has designed the new model of the Pullman car, which, it is declared, in point of decorative art and comfort, will surpass any car of that description.

Plans for improvement also provide for the gradual electrification of the system. When the plan is carried out two years hence, Austria will boast one of the most efficient railway systems in Europe.

Seventh Annual National Radio Show Opens Doors to Public Today

BIGGER and better than ever as to exhibits, space occupied and beauty of decorations, the seventh annual National Radio Show staged its preview yesterday. The show, which runs until Saturday night in Ambassador Au will open to the public at 2:30 p.m. today, when the greatest array of radio equipment yet assembled in Los Angeles will be on view. It is the annual display of radio developments made during the past twelve months, and conducted by the Radio Trades Association of Southern California. A crowd estimated at 15,000 attended the preview yesterday, the throng consisting of persons professionally identified with the radio industry.

FOR ALMOST A MONTH FOLLOWING THE END OF THE GERMAN DRIVE FOR HAZEBROUCK THERE WAS A LULL IN THE FIGHTING. DURING THE RECENT BATTLES GENERAL FOCH HAD SENT NEARLY HALF THE FRENCH ARMY NORTH TO HELP THE BRITISH.

BELIEVING THE GERMANS WOULD RENEW THEIR ATTACKS TOWARD HAZEBROUCK AND AMIENS, FOCH HELD THIS GREAT FRENCH FORCE IN THE NORTH. BUT HINDENBURG PLANNED TO STRIKE IN ANOTHER QUARTER.

HEAVY WITHDRAWALS IN MARCH AND APRIL HAD GREATLY WEAKENED THE FRENCH LINE FROM A POINT NORTH OF SOISSONS TO ANOTHER NORTH OF RHEIMS. KNOWING THIS, HINDENBURG SECRETLY PREPARED A MIGHTY "PUSH" AGAINST THIS FRONT.

Little Josephine McKim, a trim, petite lass of 18 summers, outdistanced a field of twenty-five stars yesterday afternoon to win the first annual Times Pre-Olympic swim for women. The affair, staged over a half-mile course off the Venice Pier, attracted thousands of spectators, hundreds of whom jammed the wharf to watch the fair paddlers cut their way through the water.

Miss McKim covered the distance in 13m. 13 4-5s., finishing 1m. 20s. in advance of Norene Forbes, sturdy San Diego youngster, who is one of the best swimmers in the Far West. Miss Forbes's time for the race was 14m. 37 1-5s. She represents the Florence Chambers Club of San Diego.

Olive Hatch of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, a veteran of many races and a competitor with plenty of color and courage, followed Miss Forbes to the finish line in 15m. 12s. Had Miss Hatch elected to set a faster pace at the start she might have been right with Miss McKim at the finish.

Polly Foster of the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach was fourth. Hilda Curtis, who used to be a big star at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, swam unattached, and placed fifth.

If there is a neater bit of feminine swimming class than Miss McKim this writer has failed to notice her. Weighing

Double-Header Billed for This Afternoon

BILL RUMLER

It was a jovial bunch of athletes that ambled up to Owner "Bill" Lane's office after yesterday's double-header, to receive their semimonthly stipend from "Spider" Baum, the secretary of the Hollywood ball club. They had just won the seventh game of the present series, dropping only one game earlier in the week.

By winning yesterday's double-header the Stars are only one-half game behind Portland for first place, and one-half game in front of the Los Angeles club for second place.

The same teams play two games today, the first game starting at 1:30. Hulvey and Wetzel will work for the Stars, with Bryan and Gillick doing the mound duty, if any, for Manager (Buddy) Ryan.

Howard Burkett, who has a happy faculty of playing the goat and the hero in a baseball game, put the Senators in a position to tie the score in the second game when he took Stoeven's easy chance and threw wild to Dudley Lee at second base to force Burke, who had walked.

Bucky Harris, the young backstop of the Sacs, came up with his third hit in the game and scored Burke with the tieing run of the game in the sixth inning.

SCORE ON TRIPLE

The Sacs has scored one run in the fourth inning on McLaughlin's triple, who scored while Rohwer was being thrown out, Stoeven to Jones, who had raced over to first to cover the bag.

The Sacs scored twice in the fifth on singles by Harris and Jones, and were sent home by Ray French and Jimmy McLaughlin.

Dudley Lee counted first for the Stars at the start of the game. He sent a sharp line drive to right, and went to second on Rolling's sacrifice, Jones to Monroe. He went to third on a passed ball and after Funk walked, Rumler scored him with a long fly to Osborne.

In the third Lee led off with a double to left field, Rollings popped to French but Funk came through with a hit to center field and Dad raced home. "Bill" Rumler came up with fire in his eyes and planted the onion over the garden wall scoring Funk ahead of himself.

That was all the scoring the Stars did until the fatal seventh.

Hollywood was the first to score in the first game.

Hollywood started the scoring in the fourth inning.

Funk, who had hit a double in the first inning, walked and moved to third when Bill Rumler hit a long single to center field and scored the first run of the game when Cleo Carlyle hit a fast one through the pitcher's box. Rumler was thrown out trying to take third, Carlyle to McLaughlin. Mick-

JONES BEGINS DEFENSE OF CROWN AT PEBBLE BEACH

Hand-Picked Field Offers Champ Great Opposition in Struggle for Golfing Gonfalon

BY ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 1. (AP)—The royal and ancient game that knew its alibis in merrie old England long before there was any rush to California for gold or balmy climate, has shifted its main battleground to this modern El Dorado for the first time—but there is no change in the star role.

BOBBY JONES

Bobby Jones, like the old pioneers, has come west to conquer with spade and mashie and putter where the old-timers used pick and shovel. The great Georgian starts tomorrow the defense of the national amateur golf championship against a hand-picked field of the world's foremost players. He has dominated all the preliminaries to the most widely heralded title tournament the game has ever known and if he fails to do the same thing in the more serious business of championship competition the reverberating echoes will be heard as loud in New York and Atlanta as they will be up and down the Pacific slope.

Golf has seldom, if ever, had a more picturesque setting for one of its principal affairs than the seaside, wind-blown links of Pebble Beach, whose hazards are just as dangerous as they look. Neither has the game ever had a more commanding figure than Shotmaker Jones, who will start as almost an even favorite against a field of [illegible] of the best amateurs of the United States, Great Britain and Canada. The opening skirmish of Pebble Beach tomorrow consists of eighteen holes, medal play, for the entire field. Another eighteen will be played Tuesday to complete the thirty-six-hole qualifying test and determine the thirty-two survivors for match

DEL MONTE, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) Don Moe will be one of the world's greatest golfers within a period of another five or six years.

DON MOE.

Furthermore, it will be only a decade, or even less, until the Pacific Coast is supplying 60 per cent of America's finest golfers for championship competition.

That was the prognostication of none other than O. B. Keeler of Atlanta, Ga., nationally famous golf critic, on the eve of the thirty-third annual national amateur golf championship, which opens tomorrow morning over wind-swept Pebble Beach.

Keeler, close personal friend and counselor of Bobby Jones for the past fourteen years, and through thirty-three national championships, is sold on the smiling 19-year-

University of California at Los Angeles Footballers Await First Practice on New G

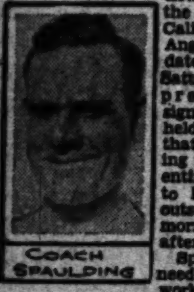
BRUINS TO USE WESTWOOD GRID

Spaulding Will Assemble Team on 14th Inst.

New Field Will Serve as Practice Site

Backfield Problem Faces U.C.L.A. Mentor

The 14th inst. has been set by Coach Bill Spaulding as the opening date for grid practice at the new campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. On this date, which is a Saturday, only a preliminary sign-up will be held in order that the following week may be entirely devoted to heavy workouts both in the morning and afternoon.



COACH SPAULDING

Spaulding will need these heavy workouts to get his men in condition for the hardest season they have ever played, including games with Southern California, Stanford, St. Mary's, and Oregon, as well as a number of other games which will tax the Bruin gridders to the utmost.

Contrary to preseason dope, Spaulding predicts that this season's eleven will be little, if any, stronger than that of last year. The loss of Stan Gould, star of the Oregon game last year, and one of the best linemen that U.C.L.A. has ever produced, has left a hole that will be hard to fill in an otherwise veteran line.

The backfield presents much more of a problem. Bert La Brucherie, safety man for the last three years, will be particularly hard to replace, and coupled with him are Capt. Joe Fleming and Earl Fields. As safety man, Spaulding has Buddy Forster, who will hold down this post a good share of the time, but Forster is not as tough as was his predecessor, and it will be necessary to develop some one who can shift off with him in this position. This will be one of Spaulding's biggest jobs. It is possible that Howard Robert, a graduate from last year's frosh, will take over this task.

To fill in the other backfield positions Spaulding has Clif Simpson and Jerry Russom at halves, and Rube Thoe and Norm Duncan who will battle it out for fullback. Both of the latter men will probably see plenty of service. Thoe shines particularly as a defensive player, while Duncan, a graduate from last year's undefeated frosh outfit is noted for his offensive work.

Only two weeks after practice opens, the Bruin eleven plays what will probably be their hardest and most important game when they tangle for the first time with the Southern California Trojans. The two universities have already tangled in other sports and this will probably be the beginning of a rivalry between the two schools. Two weeks later the locals meet another member of the Big Three in the Coliseum when they play Stanford. All of their games will be in the south this year except the Oregon encounter, to be played in Eugene.

SEATTLE LOSES BOTH GAMES TO SEAL CLUB

SEATTLE, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Seals captured a double-header here today, taking the opener, which ran ten innings, 6 to 4, and the second, a seven-frame affair, 4 to 2. Skipper Johnson poled a homer in the ninth of the first to tie the score, but Ellsworth's errors let Donovan and Jolley score.

Fred Pipgras was batted from the mound in the second. Curt Davis scattered Seattle's seven hits carefully. The series ends tomorrow.

AUGIE CURTIS WILL COMPETE IN TOURNEY

Augie Curtis, who was runner-up in the 112-pound division of the 1929 amateur boxing championships, will compete in the far-western tournament to be held in San Francisco October 28 and 29. Abie Miller, present Pacific Coast and far western 112-pound champ, also will compete.

A PAIR OF SIZZLERS

TWO thrilling races in which the paddlers came down the ocean stretch neck and neck marked the first Times pre-Olympic swims at Venice and Ocean Park yesterday. Both races—the men's between the two piers and the shorter spin for women—were viewed by a crowd estimated at over 20,000 persons.

These were gathered on the beach, on the piers, in boats, and in addition hundreds swam out through the surf to get a front row seat as the champions and near champions of the water sped by.

Buster Crabbe, the thick-chested boy from Honolulu who won four national championships in the same meet at San Francisco recently, lived up to his reputation by defying ocean currents and other champions like little Austin Clapp of the Hollywood Athletic Club and Walter Spence of the Pennsylvania Athletic Club to finish first.

And pretty little Josephine McKim, the world's queen over the 440 and mile distances, captured the half-mile race for the fairer sex. But she had plenty of competition from Norene Forbes, the 15-year-old lass from San Diego, and Olive Hatch of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. It was a battle all the way between these three lassies.

These races, reviving the famous ones of old in which Duke Kahanamoku and Ludy Langer were the king pins sixteen years ago, reflected the intense interest there is in swimming in Southern California and particularly in the Olympic Games to be staged here in 1932.

It was with the Olympic Games in mind that these distance races were revived by The Times, and they are to be continued in succeeding years with the purpose of developing swimmers that will excel in 1932 for the honor and glory of Southern California.

Thanks are due the A.A.U. officials, Manager Keppen of the race, and the business men of Ocean Park and Venice who co-operated so thoroughly to make big successes of both races.

HUDKINS AND ANDERSON

MR. JAMES DOUGHERTY of Leiperville has entered the battle to reinstate the Ace Hudkins-Joe Anderson bout on the calendar.

Mr. Dougherty writes from Leiperville that he fails to see why Hudkins should not be permitted to meet his boy Joe Anderson when the referee of the contest permitted the Hudkins-Belanger contest to go ten rounds, thereby calling it a contest, and at the present time he (the referee) is in the good graces of the commission.

Mr. Dougherty goes on to say in his letter that he is sure Mr. James Woods has taken no hand in the matter, but that the local fight commissioner merely wants to support his brother commissioners if they insist on a point.

However, Mr. Dougherty says he has talked to some of the Philadelphia commissioners, explaining the situation that arose after the Hudkins-Belanger fight, and that none of them thinks Hudkins should be considered guilty until proven so.

And Mr. Dougherty says he doesn't see how that can be done when the referee has been reinstated and by his actions called the affair a fight.

Mr. Dougherty is particularly interested in the matter because he believes his boy Anderson can repeat the victory he gained over Hudkins here last October.

A TIP TO GOLDIE HESS

I HAVE an inside tip from northern points that Wildcat Carter has been beaten in his last two fights because he has changed his style.

It seems that Carter has always been a rushing, tearing-in fighter, but that against Stetson in San Francisco and against Townsend in Seattle the other night he let the other fellow come to him.

According to my informant, Carter is therefore easy to beat if he is fought right.

And the tip to Goldie Hess, therefore, is to wade right in and start throwing.

Somehow, I suspect it is needless to give that tip to Goldie.

He has never been any other kind of a fighter, and there is no reason to believe he won't be the same when he meets the black boy from the Northwest at the Olympic tomorrow night.

QUALIFIERS START TODAY

play, beginning Wednesday with two eighteen-hole rounds and proceeding thereafter, in thirty-six-hole matches, until the finals on Saturday. Only eight can survive Wednesday's strife.

Despite the rigors of this skillfully trapped and naturally hazardous layout, it is expected that scores of 156 will be needed to qualify for the man-to-man battles later in the week.

Jones has turned in by far the best performances in practice, his main effort being a spectacular 67 on Friday that clipped five strokes from par and three shots from his own previous low mark for the course. No other player has broken 70 and the prospect is that even the stars will have their troubles from the outset. The qualifying struggle, in which more than 100 must be weeded out, will offer no chance for anyone to take it easy.

Comparative unknowns have been uncorking some dazzling play in practice. The Far West has its biggest delegation in history on hand for this event, with California alone contributing more than fifty to the field, so that it will be necessary for the favorites to bear down from start to finish. Jones faces old, as well as a number of up and coming rivals in the international galaxy of contenders. Of the more seasoned talent, yet comparatively young veterans of many brilliant campaigns, there are George Von Elm of Detroit, George Voigt and Jess Sweetser of New York, all evidently in fine form. Representing an even older guard, there are Chick Evans of Chicago, Francis Ouimet of Boston and Chandler Egan of Medford, Or., who won the amateur crowns in 1904 and 1905—and helped design the difficulties of Pebble Beach.

Evans, master of the iron and its control, has his game tuned for a comeback.

Two of the game's mightiest wallopers, Cyril Tolley, the British champion, and Phillips Finlay of Redlands, Cal., former Harvard star, will be troublesome if they can reduce their streaks of wildness to a minimum.

In the Far Western brigade, which hopes to do something to celebrate the first title tournament ever held out here, chief hopes are pinned on Dr. O. F. Willing, Frank Dolp and Don Moe, all of Portland, Or., and the latter now holder of the western amateur title; Bon Stein of Seattle, former western champion; Johnny McHugh of San Francisco and Jack Neville of Del Monte, the present California champion.

Canada's champion happens to be a New Yorker, Eddie Held, who is also one of the East's main threats. But the Dominion has two star entries in Ross Sommerville and Don Carrick.

Tolley is the most conspicuous of the British challengers but Eustace Storey and Thomas Bourn both have impressed the galleries with their preliminary play.

Principal pairings in tomorrow's qualifying play follow: 9 a.m., Francis Ouimet, Boston, and Georgie Ritchie, San Francisco; 9:10, Johnny McHugh, San Francisco, and Jack Mackie, Jr., New York; 9:25 Eustace Storey, England, and Dr. Paul Hunter, Pasadena; 9:30, Eddie Held, New York and Maurice McLoughlin, Los Angeles; 10 a.m., Cyril Tolley, England, and Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul; 10:20, Bobby Jones, Atlanta, and Jack Neville, Del Monte; 10:35, George Von Elm, Detroit, and W. K. Lanman, Jr., Columbus, O.; 10:50, George Voigt, New York, and Clarence Wolff, St. Louis; 10:55, Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Or., and D. Clarke Corkran, Philadelphia; 1 p.m., Frank Dolp, Portland, Or., and Denis Lavender, Abilene, Tex.; 1:15, Chick Evans, Chicago, and William Little, Jr., San Francisco; 1:20, Jess Sweetser, New York, and Gus Novotny, Chicago; 1:30, Phillips Finlay, Redlands, Cal., and Ross Somerville, London, Canada; 2:15 Chandler Egan, Medford, Or., and Fred J. Wright, Jr., Albemarle, Mass. Par for the Pebble Beach course:

Races On At Lake Elsinore

Miss Hupmobile, piloted by C. H. Tupman, won the ten-mile O. K. Hunsaker trophy speedboat race at Lake Elsinore as the first feature event of a two-day Labor Day Regatta. The program will be concluded today with six races.

Miss Hupmobile's time was 20m., 3s. The "233," driven by M. C. Martin, was second, with Vagabond, piloted by Ruth Wheeler, third.

Class C, 1-a, five-mile race, first heat went to Black Fox, piloted by Capt. F. Triggs, in 9m., 15s. Spirit of California with O. Butterman at the wheel was second and Inaminute, piloted by Walt McIntosh, third.

Class B, second division, first heat won by Diamond C., driven by C. H. Covington. Miss Hupmobile was second and Miss Salton, piloted by Sam Holt, third. The time was 8m., 19s.

In Class D, division two, first heat, the Goobar III was first in 8m., 48s. Second place went to Miss Salton and third to Diamond C.

Sonnenberg to Meet Stecher, Lewis Winner

Gus Sonnenberg, world's wrestling champion, has been signed by Promotor Lou Daro to meet the winner of the finish wrestling match between Joe Stecher and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night.

GUS SONNENBERG

The titleholder, in a telegram to the promoter yesterday, accepted terms for a title match with either of the former champions. It was reported that Daro was forced to guarantee Sonnenberg the biggest price ever given a champion to defend his title on the Coast.

In the opinion of mat experts, Sonnenberg's next match here will be the toughest he has ever been signed for since he won the title, as either Stecher and Lewis would probably enter the ring a favorite to beat the champion. That Sonnenberg is aware of the fact that he is due for a tough battle on his next trip to the Coast is seen in the large amount of time he is putting in training around Marquette, Mich., his home town. He has been in training since his bout here with Joe Malcewicz.

Both Stecher and Lewis are reported to be in perfect condition for their near championship battle. The fact that Stecher has been made favorite in some sections to beat him does not seem to worry the headlock artist any.

Several mat experts who have watched the giant Kentuckian in training during the past few days declare the headlock exponent looks like a better and rougher wrestler than he was at any time when he was champion. The twelve weeks is reported to have been spent in the Wisconsin lumber camps getting in condition have helped Lewis bring his weight down to 225 pounds. He weighed 226 the night he took the title away from Stecher in St. Louis. Stecher weighed 217 for that match. He weighed 215 yesterday.

This match between Lewis and Stecher is more important than the last bout between the pair here, and it is creating more interest among the wrestling fans in all sections of the State. It was reported that mat fans from all parts of California, as well as from Oregon and Arizona, would be on hand for the battle, which is expected to pack the Olympic to the doors.

Lewis stated yesterday he would be just twice as rough with Stecher Wednesday night as the Nebraskan was with him here in their last bout, while Stecher, through his manager and brother, Anton, stated the headlock expert would again be outclassed in both roughing and wrestling by the scissor expert. Mat experts predict a sensational match, with plenty of action and color.

Jack O'Malley will meet Nick Velcoff in the special event of this card, while Dr. P. A. Mullikan meets Ad Herman of St. Louis in the opener.

Hudkins Offers Cup for Racers

With Ted Simpson, the racing king from Newark, N. J., scheduled to make his first appearance Thursday night at the American Legion Speedway and with the biggest program of the season expected, Ace Hudkins yesterday stepped out and posted a trophy to go to the victor in the thirty-lap main event. The famous Wildcat of the ring—ever a racing enthusiast—will be on hand to personally present the award.

Simpson's coming here has excited renewed interest in Thursday night's event. Castor-oil critics are unanimous in declaring that the ace of eastern dirt courses will show his exhaust to Mel Kenealy. The latter has captured the last four main events staged here.

A. C. Pillsbury of the A.A.A. announces that Thursday night's program will be the last of the night races for some time to come—probably until next year. Sunday afternoon meetings will be revived next month.

AL ISOZ TO TAKE ON HERNANDEZ IN RING

Al Isoz, 22-year-old Rockford (Ill.) welterweight who has scored fourteen knockouts in twenty-one starts without once meeting defeat, will face Leo Hernandez next Saturday night at the Main-street Athletic Club. Isoz is managed by Gig Rooney, Jackie Fields's pilot.

Ramon Lugo, Mexican 128-pounder, lost a hard fight to Barney Ross of Chicago last Saturday night. Jack Charvez, Berkeley middleweight, outsocked Jackie Stewart in another six-round bout, while Al Cruise and Ivan Agalsov, 158-pounders, traveled to a draw in another six-rounder. Marty Fields, Chicago featherweight, knocked out Marcus Zorilla in three rounds.

Big Six

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank O'Doul headed the Big Six parade through a lot of heavy slugging yesterday. The Phillie southpaw registered the one big gain of the day by slamming out four hits in nine times at bat in a double-header against Brooklyn, winding up with a mark of .390, just seven points behind the leader, Babe Herman.

The Brooklyn Babe collected three blows in seven tries, holding his average stationary. Rogers Hornsby also gained ground with two hits in four attempts. Jimmy Foxx was the big loser, going hitless four times, while Babe Ruth and Al Simmons got but one hit apiece.

ARMY POLOISTS CAPTURE CLASH

Eleventh Cavalry Players Defeat Uplifters

Service Team Takes 9-to-8 Game from Clubmen

Thornburgh and Roach Show in Star Roles

Army poloists, sporting the colors of the Eleventh Cavalry Post rode to a sensational 9-to-8 victory over the Uplifters' Club squad yesterday afternoon at Rustic Canyon Field. The service players making their first appearance here proved to be everything said about them. They rode like the wind and carried the battle to the local riders, captained by Hal E. Roach, every step of the way. The game which was hard fought throughout was decided in the last few minutes of play when the cavalry team crashed across two goals. Lieut. Thornburgh, No. 2 man on the Army four, scored the winning goal.

CAPT. WOOD

Thornburgh was outstanding for the winners. He tallied five goals. Hal Roach was the star for the losers. Roach scored six goals. His playing was as good as any seen this season in low goal competition. Lyell Puckett was the only other scorer on the Uplifters' four besides Roach. Puckett collected two goals.

The Cavalry players grabbed an early lead and were out in front at half time by a 6-to-2 margin. The Uplifters came out with blood in their eyes in the fifth chukker and from that time on the game was as hot as anything ever staged on the Rustic Canyon turf. Roach and Puckett were the leaders in the Uplifters' attack. The score was tied 7 to 7 at the close of the seventh chukker.

The Uplifters went into the lead in the eighth on a goal by Puckett. Capt. Wood, star back of the Eleventh, tied the score and then Lieut. Thornburgh sent across the winning marker.

The two squads clash again next Sunday afternoon in the final game of the series.

Eleventh Cavalry (9)		Uplifters (8)

JONES FACES HARD FIGHT

Von Elm Predicts Champion to be Given Hardest Battle of Career on Del Monte Links

BY GEORGE VON ELM
(National Amateur Golf Champion 1926)

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 1.—The thirty-third golfing scramble for Bobby Jones's national amateur golf championship will get under way here tomorrow. The most brilliant array of amateur golfers ever grouped in this country will medal eighteen holes tomorrow and a like distance Tuesday for match play ratings in the title bracket of thirty-two and a chance at the most prized trophy in American golf.

Bobby Jones went fishing today and I am sure didn't worry about his chances in the ensuing competition. Jones is playing very fine golf and has taken kindly to California courses, especially the Pebble Beach layout, where the amateur will be contested. Bobby was more interested this afternoon in his first Pacific Coast fishing expedition than he was in the varied reports issuing from golf headquarters.

GEORGE VON ELM

It would take a brave man to predict Bobby's defeat in this year's amateur, but Mr. Robert Tyre Jones is in for the most intensive tee-and-green's week of his career—starting early tomorrow morning—and there will be golfers qualifying who have more than an outside chance of turning back even the Atlanta whirlwind.

The first two eighteen-hole matches, slated for Wednesday, should provide numerous upsets. I know from experience that the distance is dangerous—and Bobby has had narrow escapes during the last two years. Medal play is hard—but the effort to defeat two highly inspired golfers in the same day is even harder. The first thirty-six-hole round comes Thursday, the day following, and there can be no letdown with semifinals and finals staring you in the face.

I guess everyone of the many golf writers gathered here will talk about the high wind that swept Pebble Beach today—and the probable effect upon the qualifying play tomorrow, if the wind continues, but I also want to add that this threatened breeze may cause a lot of damage. I have played over a good many golf courses, here and abroad, and the California wind that has been known to sweep this sea-bordered golf course is no joke. The layout has been entirely revamped for the amateur and the designers have laid out enough trouble without any playful zephyrs, so we are all hoping for more favorable weather.

I like George Voight and Jess Sweetser in the championship. If Philip Finlay can control his long tee shots he is going to be one tough golfer to head off. Sweetser is an experienced competitor and, like the vast majority of the 140-odd golfers who will attempt to qualify, is a born fighter. Fighting is a necessary asset in both medal and match play and while I don't look for anything startling in the former—I do look for some real unexpected results in the hole-by-hole competition.

Local authorities have made arrangements to care for a record crowd of 25,000 fans—by far the largest golf-minded group ever to collect west of the Mississippi. The starting flag tomorrow will mark the thirty-third renewal of the amateur championship and everything hereabouts smacks of excitement.

There was little practicing today. It wouldn't be fair to mention the few entrants who spent all daylight hours working feverishly to iron out pronounced kinks. I have said before that the present field is the most brilliant in the history of national amateur golf and I want to add that the boys—singly and collectively, assay 100 per cent plus and while I have qualified in six previous events, I consider it an even greater honor to know that I will be out there tomorrow, fighting tooth and nail for that old amateur cup. And, remember, there will be more than 100 more good golfers swinging clubs with the same idea—and something is going to happen.

WALTERS WINS FIVE STRAIGHT FOR DUCKS

Wallace Walters of Portland was used as a relief hurler in several contests before taking his regular turn in the box. He has started and finished five complete games during the past two weeks and has scored five wins with no defeats to mar his record for the season.

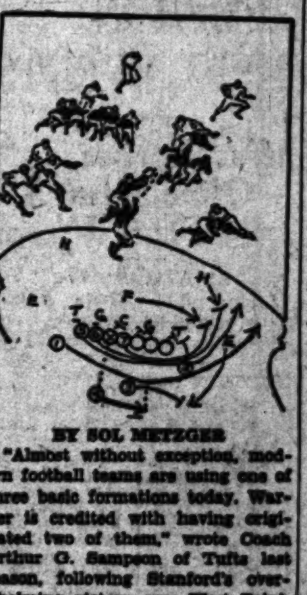
DELARA BACK FROM EAST

Jack DeLara, University of Southern California freshman tennis captain, returned yesterday morning from the East where he was the runner-up to George Jennings, Chicago, in the national public parks championships at Buffalo, N. Y. DeLara arrived at the Southern Pacific Station aboard the Golden State Limited at 9:05 o'clock.

McLarnin to Fight Baker in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, Seattle welterweight contender, will meet Sergt. Sammy Baker of Mitchel Field at the New York Coliseum, October 4, Jess McMahon announced tonight. McMahon completed arrangements for the bout by two long-distance calls, one to McLarnin's father on the Pacific Coast and the other to Baker in Birmingham, Ala., where he is to fight tomorrow.

Pop Warner Builds Two Formations



BY SOL METZGER

"Almost without exception, modern football teams are using one of three basic formations today. Warner is credited with having originated two of them," wrote Coach Arthur G. Sampson of Tufts last season, following Stanford's overwhelming victory over West Point.

The latest wrinkle of Pop Warner, Stanford gridiron mentor, is his famous "formation B." Many leading elevens will employ it this fall. While it neatly lends itself to deception, it also carries a sufficiency of old-time punch to in no wise weaken it in this respect.

Deception, via hidden ball, spinner and double-pass plays, seems destined to be the key to football success this fall. So let us look at one of Warner's pet plays of this nature from his new formation. It will play a leading role during the 1929 season.

Against West Point the No. 4 back, Capt. Hoffman, took the ball direct from center and started off apparently to skirt the defensive left end. Note that three linemen, Nos. 5, 6 and 7, came tearing around with the No. 1 back as though to make interference for No. 4. Back No. 3 alone was deployed to take the opposing end. Few backs can turn this trick single-handed. So, when No. 3 hit the end Hoffman tossed a short forward pass to back No. 1, who was loose for the end run with three interferers. That's modern football. Another example of it, this one from the brain of Knute Rockne, will be shown tomorrow.

OAKS DIVIDE BILL WITH MISSION REDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Oakland and the Mission divided their two-game program here today, but the latter took the series, four games to three. The home team won the morning game, 5 to 4, in ten innings, but lost the afternoon struggle after taking a five-run lead in the third inning. The Oaks made their first lone tally on Arlett's home run in the fourth, and clinched the game with six scores in the seventh, including Verges's four-bagger. Scores:

INDIANS COP

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Kenneth Holloway limited the White Sox to two hits this afternoon and the Indians won, 5 to 0, in their final appearance of the season in Chicago. The victory gave Cleveland two out of three in the series.

Only four balls were driven out of the infield by the White Sox. The Indians clouted Al Thomas and a lad named Byrne for a collection of eleven blows, one a four-bagger by Bib Falk, who drove in two of the Cleveland markers. Johnny Hodapp enjoyed a big day at the plate with two singles and a triple in four times up. Score:

PHILS COLLECT

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The Phillies won both games of a double-header from Brooklyn here today by scores of 15 to 2 and 8 to 6.

The second game was called on account of darkness at the end of the seventh. The first game was notable for Chuck Klein's thirty-sixth home run and for Harry Smyth's pitching. Smyth, recruit southpaw from Asheville, won his third successive game. Klein's homer was delivered in the sixth with O'Doul on base and Ballou in the box.

O'Doul bettered Babe Herman's record for the day in their duel for the National League batting championship. The Philadelphian got four out of nine as Herman picked up three out of seven.

O'Doul's four drives brought him to the 200-mark in hits, and gave him the honor of being the first major league batsman to reach the double century. Scores:

National Open Polo Tourney Starts Today

WESTBURY (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—With one victory already recorded for Tommy Hitchcock's Sandspoint four, the national open polo championship will be resumed tomorrow with a clash between the strong Greentree squad and Old Aiken, national junior title-holders. Greentree, co-favorite with Sandspoint to win the title, will line up with F. W. C. Guest, internationalist; John Hay Whitney, Eric Pedley and Elmer J. Boeseke, Jr., the latter two from California. The Old Aiken four will ride as usual with Elbridge Gerry, Jimmy Mills, Stewart Iglehart and John Rathborne in the line-up.

MISS M'KIM IS RACE WINNER

but 100 pounds and looking for all the world like a petite movie star, the former Panama Canal Zone girl leaped into the lead at the start of the race and her red cap was always well in front of her rivals throughout the half-mile grind.

Miss McKim made the Olympic team when hardly out of grammar school and was one of Uncle Sam's star performers at Amsterdam last year. She holds records for 440 yards and the mile, her mark in the latter being 24m. 49s.

Sixth place resulted in a terrific race between Florence Chambers of San Diego and Jennie Cramer of the L.A.A.C. The two swam neck and neck during the last 50 yards and when ten yards from the finish Miss Chambers put on a final burst of speed. When she forged ahead Miss Chambers cut directly in front of Miss Cramer and actually swam right over the L.A.A.C. girl. It was entirely unintentional, but officials had no other course than to award Miss Cramer sixth place and put the San Diego swimmer in seventh position. Miss Chambers felt badly about the turn of affairs. She swam a fine race and no one felt like penalizing her for her zeal at the finish. However, in all fairness to Miss Cramer, who was shoved beneath the waves as Miss Chambers swam over her, the decision had to be made.

Miss Forbes, who won second place, is only 15 years of age, and copped a special prize for girls under 16. She weighs 145 pounds and is a powerfully built swimmer.

Due to the closeness of many finishes in the women's race officials were unable to announce other prize winners last night.

PASADENA GOLFERS BO TO SANTA MONICA TEAM

The Santa Monica municipal course team defeated Pasadena's public link's squad, 10 to 2, at Santa Monica yesterday. Francis Schroeder of the beach outfit set a new course record of 65 strokes. Summary:

Lorimer and Schroeder (S.M.) won three points from Blist and Griffin (P.); Kerr and Rooney, (S.M.) two and one-half points from Luke and Devine (P.) one-half point; Johnson and Rudiero (S.M.) two points from Losey and Watson (P.) one point; Lugo and Craine (S.M.) two and one-half points from Wood and Leonard (P.) one-half point.

safely by the shouts of the crowd. He was about fifty yards ahead at the time and because he had to change his course, won by only about thirty yards. His time was thirty-two seconds faster than his nearest competitor, Clapp being timed in 17:46 and Spence in 17:46 1-5.

Frank Booth of the Hollywood Athletic Club finished fourth, proving to be the real dark-horse threat of the contest. Booth finished third behind Crabbe and Clapp in the mile race at San Francisco and yesterday proved that he is a distance star of real ability.

Following Booth were Leslie Olds, the young San Diego Rowing Club star; Buddy Crabbe, the winner's younger brother; Earl Plescia of the Pacific Coast Club; Frank Walton of the Holywood Athletic Club; Norman Kettering of the Pacific Coast Club, and Norman Skeete of Glen Arden Club.

Fifty-seven of the sixty-five men entered in the race actually started, only eight failing to appear on the starting line at 2 o'clock. Huge crowds lined both piers and the entire shoreline from start to finish.

Crabbe will receive a leg on the handsome Times trophy, in addition to an engraved wrist watch for his spectacular race. The huge trophy must be won three times before it can be awarded permanently, and Crabbe signified his intention of defending his crown on every possible occasion.

The first fifteen men to finish the long grind will receive wrist watches or cigarette cases.

Buster Crabbe not only swims like Nurmi runs, but finishes like him. The Outrigger Club star had plenty of wind left at the finish, and after he had climbed on the Ocean Park pier, he showed no ill effects when he was called upon to dive in the Pacific again, and swim to the United States Coast Guard boat for pictures.

Lieut. H. T. Jewell's Coast Guard cutter proved a big help in transporting various officials and signalmen up and down the course. The flag-bearers wigwagged the standings of the leaders, to the broadcasting stations on shore.

Thirty-seven of the fifty-seven starters actually finished. After the first ten came McGowan Miller, H.A.C.; Mickey Riley, L.A.A.C.; Julian Robertson, L.A.A.C.; Dave Foster, Venice; Dutch Smith, L.A.A.C.; Joe Walton, unattached; Charley Johnson, unattached; Paxton Klaus, Pacific Coast Club; Bobby Burns, Mission Beach; Laurie McNulty, Venice; Ray Skeete, Glen Arden Club; Jack Bergman, unattached; Fred Belcher, S.D.R.C.; Ed Prentiss, Venice; James Tuthill, Los Angeles Elks; Ted Johnson, Oceanside; Martin Flores, Oceanside; George Self, unattached; Hartwell Shippey, unattached; Walter Schachtebeck, Mission Beach; Rud Smith, unattached; Jose M. Padilla, unattached; Herb Morey, unattached; Charles Bent, Hollywood A. C.; William Williams, Oceanside; William Fox, unattached.

Duke Kahanamoku, who won the old Venice rough water swim back in 1913, was aboard the Coast Guard cutter, and gave Crabbe a big hand when the latter was hauled aboard.

Dave Foster of Venice took fourteenth place in the long grind and received an engraved cigarette lighter. Foster was grateful, but announced that the token would rest in his trophy case, rather than his pocket, as he does not smoke.

Coach Clyde Swendson's Hollywood A. C. boys took whatever team honors were hanging around. With three of his stars finishing second, fourth and eleventh, he had a great day.

Mickey Riley and "Dutch" Smith, the L.A.A.C. diving stars, surprised everybody by finishing close up in the race. No one suspected they were hiding some long-distance ability under the expert diving.

While Crabbe won the race virtually by himself, there were innumerable other bitter battles for the rest of the places, ranging from second to thirty-seventh.

Two sets of brothers swam and finished the classic. Buster and Buddy Crabbe of the Outrigger Club of Honolulu, took first and sixth places, respectively. Norman and Ray Skeete of the Glen Arden club of Glendale, finished tenth and twenty-first.

La Barba Off on Long Jaunt

Fidel La Barba, former world's flyweight champion, departed from Los Angeles last night on the first lap of his journey to Europe. The little Angeleno goes to Europe to fulfill several matches. Before departing he announced that if any good offers are forthcoming in the East he will remain over in New York for a while. Otherwise he will sail from New York next Saturday on the Homeric, bound for Southampton. La Barba's wife and George Blake, his manager, accompanied him.

Wright Scores Hole-in-One

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 1. (AP)—A hole-in-one by Fred Wright, Jr., of Boston, on the 110-yard seventh hole of the Pebble Beach course, today enlivened the new final practice rounds played in preparation for the national amateur championship, starting tomorrow. It was the second ace made within a week, Gene Homans of Englewood, N. J., having holed his tee shot on the 185-yard twelfth.

Westwind is Victorious at Newport

NEWPORT HARBOR, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Westwind, winner of the Southern California star boat championship series recently at Santa Barbara, added to her laurels today when she copped the Newport star series opener from a field of nineteen starters. Skippered by Edward and Preston Plumb, two Southland schoolboys, the Westwind breezed along in the light wind like a thoroughbred racehorse to step across the finish line some distance ahead of the Tom Robin, piloted by Tom and Rob Webster, who copped second place. The May Star took third honors while Walton Hubbard and Tempe III was in fourth place. The Pelican won the second race for Snow Birds for the Admiral Solland trophy. Jim Webster, chairman of the Newport Star Fleet, handled the races here today.

MOE RATED AS REAL THREAT

old University of Oregon sophomore, stock, lock and barrel.

CLOSE BATTLE

It is Keeler's frank opinion that Bobby shot that par-smashing 67 over Pebble Beach a few days ago just a week too soon, and he is far from predicting a walk-away victory for the national champion, as almost any one you care to talk to up here is doing. Keeler believes that there will be thirty-one golfers in the match play capable of defeating Jones, and he gives a golfer from the West a good chance to annex the amateur crown, as the next one.

"Watch Moe," says Keeler, "there is the sweetest prospective champion I have ever seen," and Keeler has seen them all.

Battling to uphold its reputation as the birth-place of champions the West has marshaled a formidable field of golfers, at least from the standpoint of numbers, and possibly from the standpoint of class. But it will require a week of the stiffest kind of championship golf to determine the latter point.

Whenever a discussion comes up as to the relative strength of the Pacific Coast, it seems to be the general opinion that three phlegmatic Nordics from Portland, Or., Moe, Frank Dolp and Dr. O. F. Willing, and one Southern Californian, Phil Finlay of Redlands, are the most likely to stand the crucial test.

Right here, it is interesting to note that George Von Elm, 1926 national champion, and seeded second by the United States Golf Association, is being given very little consideration by the dopesters. George has been ill with appendicitis, and his game has suffered accordingly. He has given little indication of being on his game in practice.

WON WESTERN

Moe, who went East to Kansas City this summer to win the western amateur championship, has captured the fancy of many golfers. Keeler, among others, says he has a better playing temperament than Bobby Jones had at his age. He has the shots, he is continually and conscientiously striving to better his game, and is equally good at match and medal play.

Of the northwestern golfers, Dr. Willing has been playing the most consistent golf in practice. The Portland ace, who won the Oregon open championship a year ago by defeating Johnny Farrell, then national open champion, has clicked off three rounds over Pebble Beach for an average of 73 strokes, one over perfect figures. He is a tenacious battler and a sound golfer.

Dolp was western amateur champion in 1927, and has been a consistent tournament winner in the Northwest.

Southern California's "youngster brigade" is likely to furnish the real surprise of this tournament. Young Charles Seaver went out yesterday afternoon to score a fine 74. He was playing with Charles (Chick) Evans who registered a 76, and Francis Ouimet, who carded a 76. Walter Hagen in a recent story named Seaver as being one of the finest young golfers in the country. Bobby played with him at Riviera just before he left for Pebble Beach, and was equally enthusiastic about Charlie as a future great.

Gibson Dunlap, 20 years of age, U.C.L.A. student who defeated the cream of Southern California amateurs in May to win the Southland amateur championship, is a dark horse to qualify. "Gib" stepped out Saturday and smashed out a 69. He holds the honor with Bobby of being the only golfer to break 70 in the history of Pebble Beach.

Dunlap has had wealth of tournament experience, both in California and in the Midwest. He is not long off the tee, comparatively speaking, but plays his irons beautifully and can putt with the best of 'em.

Other Pacific Coast golfers who are given a better-than-average chance to qualify are Fay Coleman, Los Angeles city champion; Jack Neville of Pebble Beach, California State champion; Johnny McHugh, former California State champion; Dr. Paul Hunter of Pasadena, former California State and Southern California amateur champion, and David Martin of Los Angeles.

Many Del Monte golfers who have watched both Coleman and McHugh in action during State championships and in practice for the amateur are of the opinion that either or both are likely to go far in the amateur.

Today marked the lull before the storm. The majority of the field of 140 remained away from Pebble Beach. The perfect weather which marked the latter part of last week, especially the windless day when Bobby scorched Pebble Beach with par-wrecking rounds, are apparently of the past. Ocean breezes that kicked up white caps and sent waves dashing high along the picturesque shoreline of Pebble Beach also made golf a hazardous game this afternoon. If the ocean breezes continue to tickle this already difficult course, tomorrow is likely to be a very sad day for many a golfer.

KEPPEN GIVES CHEERS FOR SWIM ASSISTANTS

BY CHARLES KEPPEN
Manager of The Times Pre-Olympic swimming races

At this time I want to take the opportunity to publicly thank and express to each and every individual who aided putting over the first annual Times Pre-Olympic swimming races for men and women yesterday.

Such an event could not have been the success it was without the work and co-operation of numerous individuals and organizations.

Capt. Behrendt of the Venice Police Department deserves praise for the way he and his men handled the crowds at Venice. The officials of the two races took care of the details in a splendid manner. The Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Department had their finest lifeguards on the job every minute.

I am indebted to the Abbott Kinney Company, to the Ocean Park Business Men's Association, Lick Pier, Ocean Park Pier, the Ocean Park Bathhouse and the Venice Bathhouse for the wonderful support we received from all organizations. The Coast Guard supplied a fast cutter under Lieut. Jewell for our use and a Buick automobile was at our command, donated by the Howard Automobile Company.

I also want to thank J. Park Dougall of the California Yacht Club for his services, and all others who helped in every way to make these races so successful.

Last, but should come first, the entire day was made such a success due to the untiring work of the Los Angeles Times and staff, sponsors of the race.

MANDELL IN NONTITLE GO FRIDAY

Louis Vincentini Meets Champ in Chicago Ring; Risko Faces Christner

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Sammy Mandell's return to the ring wars furnishes boxing's faithful with their chief enjoyment this week. Making his first start since he successfully defended his lightweight championship against Tony Canzoneri, Mandell meets Louis Vincentini, of Chile, in a ten-round bout at the Chicago Stadium Friday night. Mandell's title will not be at stake. This bout heads an interesting card with three other ten-rounders to hold the customers' interest. Mike Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, meets the Spanish body puncher, Alf Ros, in the semifinal. Joey Medill, Chicago lightweight, battles Vincentini's countryman, Stanislaus Loayza, in the other leading offering.

Heavyweights will head the card at Cleveland Wednesday night, Johnny Risko of Cleveland and K. O. Christner of Akron, O., clashing over the ten-round route. The behemoths also will be active at Ponca City, Okla., where the home-town boy, Babe Hunt, meets Jack DeMave of New York in a ten-rounder on Monday night.

New York's best attraction in a dull week is a ten-rounder between Pete Nebo, Seminole Indian from Tampa, Fla., and Sid Terris, veteran New York lightweight, at the Queensboro Stadium Tuesday night.

Jake Zeramby of Lynn, Mass., lightweight, faces Bruce Flowers of New Rochelle, N. Y., negro, in the best offering at Boston Tuesday night.

Other bouts on the national schedule:

Monday—At Louisville: Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia, vs. Kid Kaufman, Louisville, welterweights, ten rounds. At San Francisco: Speedy Dado, Manila, vs. Boy Walley, Singapore, flyweights, ten rounds.

Tuesday—At Los Angeles: Wildcat Carter, Seattle, negro, vs. Goldie Hess, Los Angeles, junior lightweights, ten rounds.

Wednesday—At Oakland, Cal.: Everett Strong, Omaha, vs. Frankie Denny, Oakland, middleweights, ten rounds. At Dayton, Ky.: Benney Burns, Akron, O., vs. Vincent Hambright, Cincinnati, welterweights, ten rounds.

WALKER AND FIELDS TO START TRAINING

Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, and Jackie Fields, welterweight king, both will begin training tomorrow afternoon at the Main-street gymnasium, according to Carlo Curtis. Other famous fighters now training daily at Curtis's gym are Ace Hudkins, Joe Anderson, Ernie Peters, Young Nationalista, Newsboy Brown, Dynamite Jackson, Santiago Zorilla and Bert Colima.

BRUIN NETMAN TAKES CROWN

Gladys Patz Retains Title in Women's Singles

Former Prep Stars Battle in Long Beach Play

Quarter-Finals on Schedule at Santa Monica

Leanord Dworkin, U.C.L.A. captain-elect, succeeded Arthur Kussman, Occidental College, as the Alhambra tennis champion. Dworkin yesterday fought an uphill battle to eliminate John Risso, Berkeley, in a hectic three-set final, 4-6, 7-5 and 6-1.

Gladys Patz retained the women's singles with a straight-set triumph over Violet Doeg of Santa Monica, 6-2, 6-4. The mixed doubles went to Elizabeth Deike and Bob Little, both of Pasadena, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1. The men's doubles champions are John Risso and Sidney Wood.

All of the four final events sparkled with brilliant volleying and driving. Bob Little, in winning the mixed doubles, outstroked any of the finalists yesterday. His superbrilliant volleying and terrific serves even outshown the play of Sidney Wood of Pasadena, whose driving and serving won for him the men's doubles.

Dworkin opened with a 6-3 defeat at the hands of Risso in their men's singles final. Trailing at every stage until games reached 3-4, Dworkin finally stormed the net in a successful attempt at victory and eked out a 7-5 win. After the rest interval Risso failed to keep up his battle, and Dworkin swept through at 6-1.

Miss Doeg's backcourt weakness against the severe chop strokes of Miss Patz proved her undoing. Deep and low line returns were hard to retrieve for Mis Doeg, whose petite figure will not stand the continual side-to-side running necessary to defeat her foe. She succumbed in two sets though fighting desperately.

The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

Finals—Dworkin defeated Risso, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Semifinals—Tidball and Laird defeated Vines and McPherson, 6-1, 6-4; Wood and Risso defeated Mahoney and Scholtz, 6-4, 6-3.

Finals—Risso and Wood defeated Laird and Tidball, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Finals—Miss Patz defeated Miss Doeg, 6-2, 6-4.

MIXED DOUBLES

Finals—Little and Deike defeated Williams and Workman, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1.

VEACH NETTERS IN FINAL ROUND

LONG BEACH, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Two ex-Poly High captains, Carl Bartlett and George Newby, clash for the Long Beach city tennis championship tomorrow, following brilliant semifinal victories today. Before reaching the finals, Bartlett today toppled Rex May, defending champion, 18-8, 6-8, 6-0, and Newby eliminated Kelsey Petterson, Compton Junior College star, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Upset after upset has featured the tourney for the past week. Petterson created a sensation Saturday by mowing down three highly touted opponents within a few hours. Everett Miller, former U.S.C. captain, was one victim, at 6-4, 6-1. K. D. Welch fell by scores of 6-0, 6-3, and Dave Bradbury, ex-Junior College captain, was the third victim by counts of 7-5, 6-4.

Bartlett, 19-year-old giant, utilized a terrific overhead smash to defeat May, while Newby, who has just turned 21, depended on a wide variety of cuts and placements to beat Petterson. Bartlett rules the slight favorite by reason of his smashing power.

In the title doubles play, four duets are surviving with semifinal and final battles scheduled tomorrow. Miller and Roberts defeated Sweet and Petterson, 6-1, 6-3. Newby and Bradbury downed Brande and Futchik, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. Cate and Bartlett tumbled the Bennett brothers, 6-3, 6-3, and Foutz and Unruh beat Hinchman and Kincaid, 7-5, 8-6, to complete the bracket of semifinalists. The Miller-Roberts team is favored to meet Cate and Bartlett in the finals.

WESTSMITH CHOICE AT SANTA MONICA

Southern California's tennis brigade gathers at Santa Monica today, where play will continue in the quarter-final brackets of the several events being staged. Finals in all events have been scheduled for next Sunday afternoon.

Frank Westsmith meets G. Thoman, Leonard Dworkin encounters N. Dodge, while J. Wright meets H. Williams in today's main feature attractions.

The complete schedule:

9 a.m.—Westsmith vs. Thoman; Dworkin vs. Dodge; Myers and Oakes vs. Brashere and Brashere.

10 a.m.—J. Wright vs. Williams; F. Curtin vs. Alice Park; D. Workman vs. Koch.

11 a.m.—Winner of Westsmith and Thoman vs. Mahoney; winner of Dworkin and Dodge vs. Burr; winner of Saunders and McMillan vs. Sholtz.

12 m.—Workman and Williams vs. Goodman and partner; A. Curtin vs. Alice Thoman; S. Myers vs. Bearse.

1 p.m.—Kate Northcote vs. Doris Gladman.

2 p.m.—Westsmith and Dworkin vs. Crockett and Snowden; Stewart-Williams vs. winner of McHaley-Tucker and Mahoney-Sholtz.

3 p.m.—Winner of Myers-Oakes and Brashere-Brashere vs. winner of Workman-Williams and Goodman-partner.

4 p.m.—Blank.

5 p.m.—Winner of Workman-Koch vs. winner of Thoman-Curtin; winner of Westsmith-Dworkin; Crockett-Snowden vs. winner of Patten Rindell, Baines-Bearse, Ordway-Wachner; winner of McHaley-Tucker, Mahoney-Sholtz, Stewart-Williams vs. winner of Marvin-McNab and Hinston-Neville.

Play Resumed in East-West Net Tourney

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—The East needs only two more victories to clinch its annual tennis series with the West when play is resumed at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, tomorrow.

Players from the Atlantic seaboard captured three of the first four matches of the series yesterday and need to take only a pair out of the last five matches tomorrow to win the series.

STARS ANNEX SOLON OUTFIT

ey Heath was walked by Gould and Hank Severeid, whose hitting has featured this series, poled a home run over the left-field wall scoring Carlyle and Heath. Burkett was thrown out by Baker, ending the inning.

After Gould had thrown out Kinney to start the fifth inning Dudley Lee hit to right field for a single and went all the way to third when "Red" Rollings sent a high fly to center that Hoag could not get his hands on, for a double. With two men away "Bill" Rumler could not see Gould's spitter and he went out on strikes for the third out.

"Slim" Stoeven who has been filling in at first base for Manager Ryan started the sixth inning by poking a single to right field and after "Pudgy" Gould popped out to Lee, Billy Burke, playing in his first game of the present series, hit the wall in left field for two bases and Stoeven stopped at third. Johnny Monroe fouled out to Hank Severeid but McLaughlin worked Kinney for a walk, filling the bases. This brings Leonard Backer, the Sacramento milk man, into the picture and he filled the bill in great fashion by sending a long hit into right field for three bases, scoring Stoeven, Burke and McLaughlin for three runs, which looked mighty big to "Buddy" Ryan.

Art Koehler walked but Ray Rohwer ended the splurge by striking out.

After Cleo Carlyle fouled out to Koehler, Mickey Heath singled to right field, stole second and went to third when Koehler's wild heave went into center field. Hank Severeid scored him with a drive to left field.

Howard Burkett hit to right field and Severeid stopped at second. Kinney hit a weak fly to Backer but Dud. the Lee, sent one to right and two runs counted. "Red" Rollings also hit safely and Funk scored both runners with a terrific drive over the right-field wall for a home run, his fifth home run in seven games.

RUMLER HITS TRIPLE

"Bill" Rumler sent Hoag to the wall in center field and was resting on third base when the ball reached the infield. This was too much for Manager Ryan and he yanked Gould and sent in Louie Vinci, the left-hander. Carlyle, up for the second time in the inning, went out on strikes, a pretty fair inning for the Stars.

Neither team scored in the seventh, "Slim" Stoeven being the only man able to hit. Vinci struck out and Burke walked to be left on base when Monroe flied to Carlyle. The Stars went out in order, not being able to solve Vinci's hook.

Leonard Backer, who had cleaned the bases in his last time at bat, walked with one out in the eighth but Koehler and Rohwer went out on weak flies to the infield.

Osborne, who replaced Hoag at the start of the eighth inning, was the first man to face Kinney to start the ninth inning but hit a weak grounder to Burkett who threw him out at first. Burkett then booted Stoeven's grounder and went to second when Ray French, hitting for Vinci, hit to right field. Burke looked at three strikes. Johnny Monroe hit one too fast for Howard Burkett and Stoeven scored. Jimmy McLaughlin ended any chance Sacramento had to score by striking at the third one and ending the game.

DRIVERS READY FOR PEAK RACE

Cannonball Baker, Schultz Picked to Win

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Final tuning up of motors and last-minute practice spins today occupied the eleven drivers who tomorrow will pilot their cars up the Pike's Peak highway in the annual Labor Day race.

Cannonball Baker, one of the best-known of the endurance racing drivers of the country, who will tackle the grade that will carry the racers 8000 feet above their starting level in the twelve and one-half miles covered in the race, was generally favored by the sports prognosticators but Glen Schultz, two-time winner of the race and holder of the present record for the climb, presented a threat that will have to be overcome by the winner.

The drivers and cars:

Ab Jenkins, Studebaker President eight (stock car.)

Glen Schultz, Studebaker President eight (stock car, two-time winner and present title-holder.)

Ralph Hepburn, Studebaker Commander eight (stock car.)

W. P. Bentrup, Roosevelt (stock car.)

Joe Unser, Coleman front drive (special.)

Louis Unser, Coleman front drive (special.)

Jerry Unser, Coleman front drive (special.)

Cannonball Baker, Franklin four-wheel drive (special.)

Edward Phillips, Schultz (special.)

Angelo Cimino, Broadmoor Hotel (special.)

Robert Mason, Cliff House (special.)

started their comeback in the eighth inning of the first game. They pounded the weary iron man, Lee Roy Mahaffey, for two runs in the eighth, then jumped on him with both barrels in the ninth, tied the score, and went far in front with a six-run outbreak.

Mahaffey, who was attempting for the fifth or sixth time in a few weeks, to work with only two days' rest, was losing his stuff fast and two other pitchers shared part of the bombardment. In that inning Haney doubled with one out and Statz scored him with a single. This left the Angels only one behind and out Mahaffey came. Ortman relieved him to pitch to Webb but Jack Lelivelt substituted Doc Crandall and Ortman walked him. Chesterfield took his place and walked Berger. Schulmerich then cleared the sacks with a hot single and scored on Jacobs's double. Jacobs reached third on a bad throw and came in himself on Jones's sacrifice fly. In the second game Portland made a runaway start off Roberts which at one time amounted to 8 to 2, but Fullerton had trouble holding it.

An error by Chatham put him in the hole in the Angel eighth and a four-run rally ensued, cutting the Portland lead to two. The Ducks got one back in their half and Fullerton just did manage to get the side out in the ninth with two Angels on the bases. The series now stands four games for the Ducks and three for the Angels, with morning and afternoon contests tomorrow.

SHIPPING NEWS AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

RAILWAY LINE ON MOTORSHIP

Material for Almost Entire System on Board

Locomotives, Coaches and Rails Aboard

Shipment En Route from East to Dairen

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

The materials for almost a complete railroad passed through here yesterday on the Norwegian motorship Beljeanne, calling for bunkers en route from Wilmington, Del., to Dairen.

The ship had ten locomotives on deck, all set up ready to run and each weighing eighty-five tons, while also on deck were more than a score of first, second and third-class coaches.

In her holds were rails and much other railway equipment, as well as four lifts of oil soaking units, each weighing 104 tons.

The vessel was specially designed for the huge items, having hatches seventy-five feet long and twenty-six feet across, and a derrick capable of lifting 116 tons. All her auxiliaries are operated electrically.

She is similar to a fleet of such vessels which played an important part in transporting locomotives across the English Channel for troop use in France and Belgium during the World War. She was built in Newcastle in 1926, and is owned by Christen Smith of Oslo.

GAS-CONSERVATION LAW'S EFFECT PROBLEMATICAL

Petroleum transporters still are seeking to interpret the effect on their business of the new California gas-conservation law, which went into effect yesterday.

The effect of this law on petroleum production is declared still problematical, but the majority of the surplus oil produced is said to be in California, and the law is expected to have some effect in lowering production, and with it, reducing the consequent need of transporting.

American petroleum exports during the first seven months of 1929, particularly crude oil, show an increase of $5,793,435 over a corresponding period last year, while refined petroleum exports gained $19,477,490 over the same periods.

While Los Angeles Harbor, as the world's leading petroleum port, contributed much of this, particularly the refined oils, its marketing of heavy oils has been disturbed by the development of Venezuelan and Colombian fields.

Fuel oil from Los Angeles to Buenos Aires, for instance, has been cut to practically nothing by these new fields, which are so much closer to the Argentine capital. A few cargoes of Los Angeles gasoline, however, still go out to Argentina, and an occasional cargo of Diesel oil, but the movement has dropped materially. Eagle Oil Company's entire fleet of tankers plying from here to South America have discontinued this run in recent months.

Charter rates in practically all trades from the Pacific Coast during August were at their lowest levels in many years, according to General Steamship Corporation's review in its house organ, Pacific Coast Shipping, released yesterday. Wheat chartering in the Northwest is declared discouraging, due to reported poor crops, and liner competition in the oriental range has driven lumber to Japan and China to extremely unremunerative charges. Lumber intercoastal likewise is still down, to around $10 to $10.50. Tanker charters also were quiet, rates ranging around $1.10 for clean and 88 cents for dirty bottoms intercoastal; 37 cents for clean vessels to United Kingdom, and 35 cents for clean vessels to Australia. Japanese trade showed no activity.

More money and more brains are the crying need for forest fire protection, in the opinion of Prof. T. Saulisbury Woolsey, Jr., of New Haven, Ct., one of more than 600 passengers on the Panama Pacific liner California, sailing from here this morning for New York. He has completed a three months' survey of cutting and denudation in California, Arizona and New Mexico for the National Forest Conservation Association of Washington.

The Dollar globe-girdling liner President Adams, Capt. W. O. Kohlmeister commanding, arrived from New York yesterday noon completing her eighteenth voyage around the world. Of her eighty-three passengers, twenty-two disembarked here and she is discharging 1200 tons of the 6500 aboard. Travelers included George Wirth, pioneer circus owner of Australia; William H. Hoops, Chicago importer of furniture; George H. Ainslie, president of the Ainslie Galleries, which have units in New York, Detroit and at Barker Brothers store, Los Angeles, and Michael L. Garvey, head of a forwarding and customs brokerage house of Boston. The liner will embark thirty passengers and load 1000 tons of Los Angeles cargo before sailing for San Francisco and the Orient at noon today.

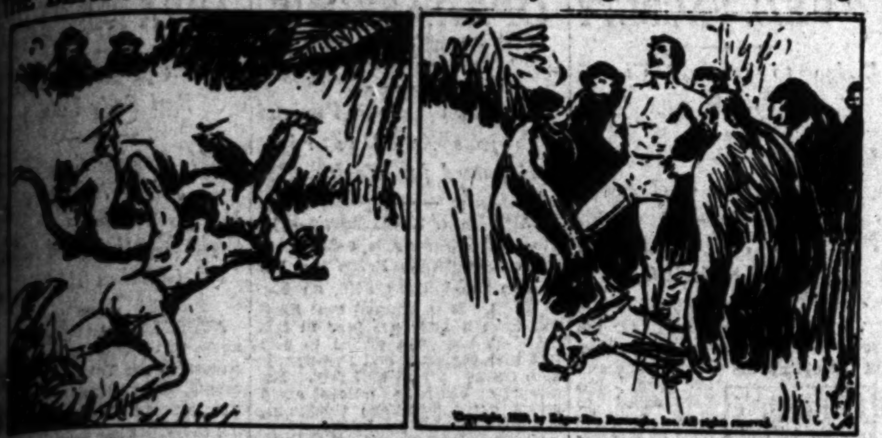
THE BEASTS OF TARZAN

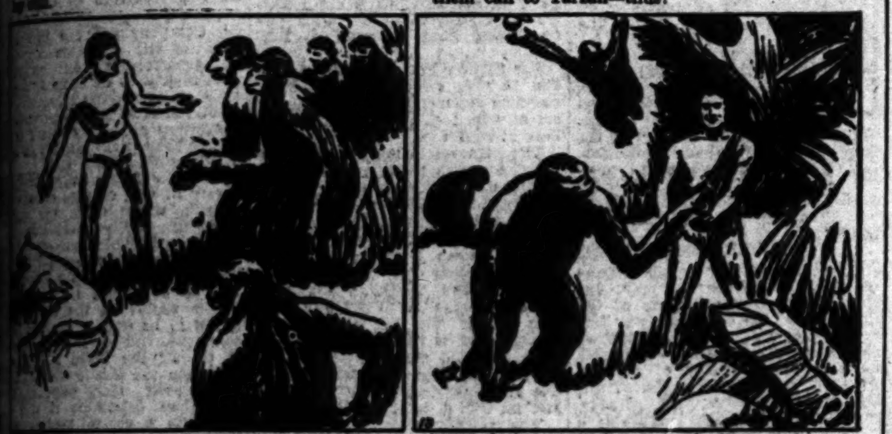
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

The mixed, savage cries of the panther mingled with Tarzan's own bloodcurdling ones. Akut had had time to leap to one side. The white ape clung tenaciously to the screaming, roaring, maddened beast. Relentlessly, Tarzan drove his knife through the glossy hide, until with a final lunge the great feline rolled over on its side and lay still.

Once again through the jungle rang the wild challenge of Tarzan's victory cry. Akut and the apes of Akut stood looking in startled wonder at the dead Sheeta and the lithe, straight figure of the man who had slain him. Tarzan was the first to speak: "Twice have I saved Akut's life. When Akut or his tribe is in danger again let them call to Tarzan—thus!"



—and the ape-man raised the hideous cry with which the tribe of Kerchak had been wont to summon its absent members in times of peril. "And," he continued, "when they hear Tarzan call to them, let them remember what he has done for Akut and come to him with great haste. Shall it be as Tarzan says?" From Akut and his tribe there rose a unanimous assent of satisfied grunts.

Presently the tribe went to feeding again as though nothing had happened. The glistening body of Lord Greystoke mingled with the brown, shaggy hides of his companions as they hunted. He noticed that Akut, with a look of friendship in his small eyes, always kept close to him. Sometimes, when Akut found a particularly tender morsel, he would hand it to Tarzan.

IN THE EARTH

KETTLEMAN HAS NEW WILD WELL

Marland's Elliott Project in Surprise Action

Project Reported Flowing at 3500-Barrel Rate

Early Taming Held of Vital Moment to Field

Despite every precaution, the Marland Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8, on Sec. 12, 22-17, on the north dome at Kettleman Hills, is reported to be out of control and producing about 3500 barrels of high gravity oil per day, along with approximately 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

This completion, it is said, was not expected at the present depth of 6875 feet, although for days drilling operations were going ahead cautiously because the drill was milling ahead in a hard formation showing considerable gas and was checking up closely with the formation penetrated in the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well, about 1000 feet northwest.

Brought in under an agreement which calls for early completion of a group of wells to deplete the gas pressure of Milham's uncontrolled producer, Marland's first well at Kettleman Hills is the third for that district. It is a direct offset to the discovery well and is likewise offset by the Standard Oil Company's No. 81, which is yielding 1000 barrels of oil from a depth of 6673 feet on Sec. 11, 22-17.

SITUATION SERIOUS

The general situation at Kettleman Hills will be made more difficult, it is thought by operators, unless Marland's producer is soon killed. Today, according to field reports, the oil is pouring into hastily constructed traps, while sump holes are overflowing. Storage tanks capable of handling about 10,000 barrels are expected to be inadequate unless some measures are taken immediately to get the well under control and to divert the oil and gas into pipe lines. An absorption plant a short distance away can handle more than 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Sixteen wells at Kettleman Hills are drilling below 6000 feet. Standard's No. 8, on Sec. 1, 22-17, is drilling below 6250 feet, and the No. 41, on Sec. 3, 22-17, is milling in a hard sandy formation which has gas showings, at 6514 feet. Nine and five-eighths-inch casing has been cemented at 6190 feet in the No. 261 on Sec. 11, 22-17, with bottom of the hole at 6284 feet.

DOWN 6012 FEET

Standard's No. 78, on Sec. 7, 22-17, is below 6460 feet, and the Armstrong No. 81, on Sec. 10, 22-17, is drilling at 6012 feet. Drill pipe was recently fished out of No. 87, on Sec. 27, 22-18, and drilling is steady below 6600 feet.

The Marland Oil Company's Elliott No. 2-13, on Sec. 2, 22-17, which is a direct offset to Standard's No. 87, on Sec. 3, 22-17, is milling cautiously ahead below 6188 feet.

Having picked up the same kind of gas formation penetrated in other projects, the Shell Oil Company's Armstrong No. 1, on Sec. 8, 22-18, is drilling below 7020 feet, and is rapidly nearing the production area of Milham's Elliott No. 1.

The Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1, on Sec. 35, 21-17, is below 6475 feet and the Robinson No. 1, on Sec. 14, 22-17, is drilling at 6230 feet. On Sec. 28, 20-16, the Ladd No. 1 is below 5714 feet.

TO SET CASING

Preparations are under way to set eight and five-eighths-inch casing in the Pacific Western Oil Company's No. 27, on Sec. 34, 21-17, with bottom of the hole at 6446 feet.

The Associated Oil Company is sidetracking in its Watson No. 1, on Sec. 34, 22-18. Drilled originally to 4230 feet, where a fishing job developed, it was plugged back and cemented. The drill is reported to be milling past about 1000 feet of drill pipe below 2650 feet.

The General Petroleum Corporation has succeeded in sidetracking past the three-inch drill pipe in Ochsner No. 2, which was originally drilled to 6965 feet, where the pipe stuck. It is now below 6997 feet and is circulating heavy mud to hold down the gas pressure, according to reports. The Ochsner No. 2 on Sec. 20, is preparing to set nine-inch casing at 6320 feet.

On Sec. 4, 22-17, the Armstrong No. 1 of George F. Getty, Inc., is drilling below 6480 feet in shale. Eleven and three-quarter-inch casing has been cemented at 4870 feet in the Armstrong No. 1 on Sec. 6, 22-18.

The Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation's Ferguson No. 1, on Sec. 24, 22-17, is drilling ahead below 6030 feet.

PROJECT STARTED

Pacific Western at Work on Poso Field Well

POSO STATION, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Pacific Western Oil Company has begun activity in the drilling of its Rench No. 4 well on Sec. 12, 27-28 in the Poso Creek field. The derrick is located 1068 feet south and 150 feet east from the west quarter section corner.

The Petroleum Securities Company has obtained a permit for a new well to be known as Glide-Vedder No. 1 on Sec. 25, 27-28 at Poso Creek.

OILDALE PROJECT IN TOUGH FORMATION

OILDALE, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Drilling ahead at 1836 feet, the Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company's No. 27, on Sec. 23, 28-27, of the Kern Front field is going through blue shale. The company's No. 28 on the same section is rigging up.

MINING MEN IN SESSION WEDNESDAY

Leaders in Industry Will Gather at Sacramento to Discuss Their Problems

For the purpose of effecting a State-wide organization of the mining industry of California a meeting has been called in Sacramento Wednesday by the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce department of mines and the Northern California Mining Association.

Operators of gold and other precious metals mines, nonmetallic mines, clay, cement materials and structural materials plants have been invited to the conference and will be bound together in one organization devoted to the protection and upbuilding of the mining industry in California.

Representatives of the industry from San Diego to the Oregon line are expected to attend the conference and after discussing some of the problems of the industry agree upon a plan of organization modeled after that along which other California industries are organized.

Mining exclusive of petroleum represents an annual production of $85,000,000 and has many problems demanding co-operative effort. These include compensation insurance rates, taxation, public land policies and marketing of the product.

The meeting convening at 10 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce Building in Sacramento will probably be the largest gathering of miners held in the State for many years.

WATER TEST AT PROJECT SUCCESSFUL

Standard Gets Shut-off at Oak Street Well in Bakersfield City

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Belief that the water problem in the Standard Oil Company's Oak-street well at the northwest corner of Bakersfield's city limits has been solved was expressed by company officials here yesterday. They declare that a successful test of the hole has just been completed.

Although the well is pumping pure water without a trace of oil, it is reported that such a result was expected.

In making the latest test, the crew plugged back from 4777 feet to a new level at 4629 feet. The well has been on the pump from the new level for two days and it is thought that the water will soon be pumped out and an excellent completion recorded.

The well was brought in July 1 after the crew had drilled for three and one-half months. Initial production amounted to nearly 300 barrels of 18-deg. gravity oil per day and finally settled to a steady production of 240 barrels per day.

Repeated attempts to stop the flow of water which almost eclipsed the petroleum production were unsuccessful. After many ineffective tries, officials came to the conclusion that the water was flowing from the same sands from which the oil was obtained.

To eliminate the water, it became necessary to find a new level from which to obtain production, and company officials believe that the problem has been solved by the latest attempt.

Work on Meteor Mountain Shaft Makes Headway

WINSLOW (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Some interesting news comes from Meteor Mountain, where a force of men employed by D. M. Barringer of Philadelphia is sinking a shaft in search of a great meteor believed to have buried itself there many centuries ago. The shaft is now down 1600 feet. In all previous efforts to locate the meteor, the miners were never successful in sinking more than 200 feet. Water and loose sand always defeated them.

Diamond drill explorations lead to the belief that the aerial ore is 90 per cent iron and 7 per cent nickel, with traces of iridium and platinum. Astronomers estimate the weight of the mass at 10,000,000 tons and its diameter at 500 feet.

PROGRESS SLOW

McFarland Wildcat of General In Hard Brown Shale

McFARLAND, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) The General Petroleum Corporation's K. C. L. No. 1 wildcat, in the McFarland area, Sec. 25, 26-25, is down 6116 feet, with the bit in the hard brown shale.

Indications are that the hole will be drilled considerably farther in order to make a true test of the territory. The only casing is the sixteen-inch, which was cemented at 810 feet, according to reports. At present the crew is waiting on a shipment of four-inch pipe.

DAILY SHIPMENTS OF BENTONITE HEAVY

Fifty-five tons of bentonite, extensively used by oil companies for shutting off water while drilling, are being shipped daily from the Summerfield-Thompson property near Sodaville, operated by Cooper Shapley of Los Angeles. A steam-shovel has been purchased and production soon will be increased. A large tonnage is said to be in sight.

GAS LAW IN EFFECT TODAY

Majority of Oil Operators Reported Agreeable to Plan Outlined by State Supervisor

The new gas law which was designed to prevent wholesale wastage of natural gas in the oil fields of this State goes into effect today. The duty of enforcing the measure falls upon Reid Bush, State oil and gas supervisor, whose higher authority is Fred V. Stevenot, State director of natural resources.

One of the unusual features of this law, which appears to be in conflict with the opinion expressed some months ago by the Attorney-General of the United States to the effect that oil operators cannot lawfully enter into mutual agreements to curtail the production of oil and gas, is a paragraph known as Section 8-C, which says:

LAW CITED

"Whenever the State oil and gas supervisor shall find that it is in the interest of the protection of oil and gas from unreasonable waste, it is declared to be lawful for the lessor, lessee, operator or other persons, firms and corporations owning or controlling royalty or other interests in the separate properties of the same producing or prospective oil or gas field, to enter, with the approval of the State oil and gas supervisor, into agreements for the purpose of bringing about the co-operative development and operation of all or a part or parts of such field, or for the purpose of bringing about the development and operation of all or a part or parts of such field as a unit, or for the purpose of fixing the time, location and manner of drilling and operating of wells for the production of oil or gas, or providing for the return of natural gas into the subsurface of the earth for the purpose of storage or the repressuring of an oil or gas field. Any such agreement shall bind the successors and assigns of the parties thereto in the land affected thereby and shall be enforceable in an action for specific performance."

HOW IT WILL WORK

Supervisor Bush has informed all operators that the business of disposing of natural gas in the Los Angeles Basin, where the supply is most plentiful, will be handled upon the following principles, subject to a satisfactory adjustment of operating details:

"That the amount of gas sold to the gas companies shall be taken pro rata from all the producers, but that the companies having the contracts shall receive the payment for such gas in accordance with the terms of their contract, as though their own gas had been delivered thereunder.

"That all gas used in the field for fuel or other operative purposes shall be taken pro rata from all the operators in that field.

"That all gas used for repressuring in the field from which the gas is produced shall be taken pro rata from all the operators in said field, who shall contribute pro rata to the cost of injection of the gas. This on the theory that each of the contributors will have a pro rata opportunity of recapturing this gas when the time arrives for its recovery.

STORAGE PLANNED

Arrangements are being attempted for removing gas from fields and storing the same in distant reservoirs. If this can be worked out, it is understood that the gas so stored in distant reservoirs will be taken pro rata from the producers and without charge to the producers for injection or transportation. This gas, when recaptured, will belong to the operators contributing toward the cost of injection, subject to such arrangements as can be made with the owner of the reservoir.

"Whenever 'pro rata' is used in this plan it is to be understood that it is the proportion which the producer's maximum potential production of gas, limited by a maximum oil and gas ration to be hereafter established, bears to the total maximum potential production of the field under the same limitation.

"The fundamental principle of the above plan is that everyone shall have an equal pro rate opportunity to make physical disposition of the gas so that no one will be obliged to blow gas into the air or curtail his oil production in disproportion to his neighbors."

Supervisor Bush submitted this outline to all the oil operators in the State and is reported to have received favorable expressions from upward of 85 per cent of them. There is said to be, however, a sharp difference of opinion between large and small operators on the point which deals with the small operator delivering his gas to the large operator while the latter uses it in filling his contracts for gas and collects the money.

RELIEVED OF EXCESS

The small operators believe it to be the spirit of the plan that they shall receive no money whatsoever for the gas thus delivered—that they are merely relieved, by the gas-marketing oil companies, of an excess supply of gas which they might otherwise have to blow into the air if they desired to keep their oil wells on production, because the small operators, as a rule, have but little opportunity to make gas contracts, for the reason that the gas companies desire to purchase large quantities from big oil companies which can assure them of a reasonably steady supply. It is reported that some of the gas-marketing oil companies have expressed a willingness to compensate the small operators for such gas, but that certain marketers objected to such compensation, and the supervisor found it necessary to submit the matter to all operators for ratification.

GETTY'S VIEWS

J. Paul Getty, general manager of George F. Getty, Inc., is quoted as speaking for that company and other small operators when he says "We feel that the only fair arrangement is to pay each operator for the gas he produces. The plan now proposed would bear heavily upon the smaller operators, as it means that he would suffer two hardships—loss of oil and loss of gas. The larger operators would suffer but one—the loss of oil, as he would continue to be paid for his gas. The smaller operators believe that this point of the plan is so fundamentally unjust that they will continue to contest it to the fullest extent of their abilities."

Speaking of the procedure where the spirit of the new gas law is disobeyed, Supervisor Bush in a circular to operators says:

"It is my duty as State oil and gas supervisor to apply to the director of natural resources to either order a hearing before me as supervisor or bring an action in the Superior Court for an injunction restraining unreasonable waste of natural gas, whenever I find that natural gas is being blown, released or allowed to escape into the air and the person responsible makes no showing of necessity to take his particular case out of the statutory presumption."

MARICOPA FLATS JINX DEFEATED

Operators in District Believe Solution Found for Water Problem

MARICOPA, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—That Maricopa Flats operators have finally succeeded in solving the water problem that has been holding up production in the several wells on the Flats is indicated by the recent successful attempt made by the Birch Oil Company to shut off the flow of water in its Birch-Royer well No. 1, on Sec. 7, 11-23.

According to reports, the hole was plugged back from the old bottom at 2710 feet to 2340 feet in an attempt to exhaust the water. Evidently this method has been effective for the hole has ceased to flow water.

Tubing is being run into the hole in preparation for swabbing, and clean production is expected within a short time.

The well originally came in at more than 1800 barrels of high gravity oil per day, but turned to water. It is thought this trouble is now eliminated as the hole is perfectly dry since the plugging job was completed.

The Birch-Royer No. 1 has nine-inch casing cemented at 2284 feet. The company's No. 2 well on the same section has rigged up and will spud in soon. The Signal Oil & Gas Company brought in its redrilled Sheehan No. 1 well on Sec. 8, 11-23. Production started with an estimated output of 250 barrels daily.

Of chief importance to operators in the district is the fact that the oil is 100 per cent clean and running 29 deg. gravity, both of which details are significant because of recent water trouble and the usual 24 deg. gravity production.

Silver King to Reopen as Long Litigation Ends

SUPERIOR (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Silver King Mine, one of the most famous of Arizona's early day producers, is again to be operated.

For ten years the Silver King, three miles north of Superior, has been tied up in litigation. Now the legal troubles have been cleared away and the owners have made several recent trips to the property.

Their immediate intention is to erect a small mill to treat ore on the dump and in the fills that was too lean for profitable treatment by crude methods formerly in vogue. They will also pursue underground explorations, in the belief that only a fraction of the rich silver deposit has been extracted. Mining men believe that a good chance exists for a big copper mine below the 800-foot level, the deepest of the present workings.

BIG PUMP TO HANDLE TOM REED WATER

Heavy Equipment Will Be Used in Mine Development Following Rich Strike

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—As evidence of the belief of the management in the extent at depth of the high-grade ore shoot recently opened and drifted on at the 950-foot level of the Tom Reed, arrangements were completed last week whereby equipment will be installed at once to further the sinking of the main shaft to tap and extract the ore at a level 150 feet below the present workings.

An item of equipment is one of the largest pumps in use in the Southwest which will cost installed between $30,000 and $35,000. With a pump this size there will be no doubt as to ability to handle the large water supply at the deeper levels of the mine.

The remarkable ore shoot opened on the 950-foot level of the Tom Reed has been drifted upon for a distance of 320 feet. This ore shoot will average $150 across better than five feet and taking in the lesser grade stuff at the side twelve feet of ore averaging from $70 to $75 can be broken for the mill.

MINE PLANT CAPACITY TO BE BOOSTED

Old Dominion Planning Production Increase of 33 1-3 Per Cent

GLOBE (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Capacity of the Old Dominion Copper Company's concentrator is to be increased 33 1-3 per cent. When the new concentrator equipment has been added and other contemplated improvements are made, the O. D. will be mining and treating 1600 tons of ore daily instead of 1200 tons, as at present. General Manager I. H. Barkdoll expects that the program can be carried out by January 1.

The capacity of the power plant will be practically doubled by the addition of a 2250-horsepower Nordberg Diesel engine. This plant now consists of two 1250-horsepower Diesels.

No change in the policy of shipping the O. D. concentrates to the International smelter at Miami is contemplated.

White Horse Tunnel Still in High Grade

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 1.—The tunnel being driven at the White Horse mine, in Mineral Park, still continues in ore. It is over 600 feet into the mountain now, and in high-grade all the way, according to Supt. A. Swan.

Juan Leyvas has brought to Kingman a small amount of very rich tungsten ore from a newly discovered vein in the Greenwood mountain section. His vein is not wide but because of its heavy mineral content it is regarded as important.

A new process of treating ore is soon to be tried out at Mineral Park. Gus Winkelman, inventor of the process, is installing a plant at the Keystone mine. It involves calcining in order to prepare the ores for over-recovery methods.

MILL TO RESUME

Gold Road Plant at Oatman to Operate Shortly

OATMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—By the 10th inst. the Gold Road mill will be ready to resume operations at the rate of 200 tons a day, according to an announcement by Manager Robert Milne.

It is the plan to mill 25 per cent raw ore and 75 per cent tailings, the ore being mixed in primarily to help grind the tailings to greater fineness. It is estimated that the pits contain 150,000 tons of tailings that will pay well for handling by modern methods, and there is a great tonnage of ore broken in the mine.

SMALL MILL BUILT BY YELLOW JACKET

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—A small mill and flotation plant has been installed at the Yellow Jacket mine, in the Aubrey district. Good ore is coming from the shaft, which has been deepened fifty feet since the present management took charge.

EX-OIL MAN ON U.S.C. FACULTY

Dodge to Instruct Classes in Engineering

Bissell Becomes Associate Professor of Geology

Petroleum Development to Be New Fall Course

John F. Dodge, who was for ten years petroleum production engineer of the old Pacific Oil Company and Standard, has been added to the teaching staff of the college of engineering, University of Southern California, effective with the opening of the academic year 1929-1930, the 16th inst.

LEWIS D. ROBERTS

Mr. Dodge also will conduct evening courses at University college, the downtown night division of the University of Southern California. He received his training in mining engineering at the University of California and in chemistry at the University of Southern California.

NEW MEMBERS

Other new faculty members announced for the current year include Lewis Dillon Roberts of the Colorado School of Mines, who has been appointed professor of physical chemistry; Dr. Malcolm H. Bissell, as associate professor of geology, formerly assistant geologist of the Pennsylvania Geological Survey, member of American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and American Association for the Advancement of Science; Gilbert H. Dunstan of Tulane University, as instructor in civil engineering, who is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Prof. David M. Wilson, formerly at the Universities of Michigan and Wisconsin, a member of the American Association of Engineers—from 1924 to 1929 and was assistant engineer in charge of drainage and irrigation work, building design and construction with the Central Aguirre Sugar Company, Porto Rico; Thomas F. Clements, a graduate of the California Institute of Technology, who is to be a teaching fellow in geology, mineralogy, and petrology; Lawrence M. White of Whittier College, a teaching fellow in cemistry, and Paul W. Jewell, who was two years chemist with the United States Department of Agriculture, bureau of chemistry, as teaching fellow in chemistry.

NEW COURSE PLANNED

Oil field development is a new course to start with the fall semester, both on the Trojan campus and at university college. The evening class will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:20 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., in charge of Prof. Dodge. Twelve weeks will be devoted to methods of drilling oil and gas wells and the equipment used, drilling tools, fishing tools, and casing. A night course in petroleum geology is also scheduled.

Shattuck-Denn Ruling Causes Little Concern

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Local stockholders are not at all concerned over the press dispatch from Duluth, Minn., regarding the decision of Judge H. J. Grannis in the matter of the merger of the Shattuck Arizona Copper Company and the Denn Arizona Mining Company.

Both are Minnesota corporations and were merged under the laws of Delaware into the Shattuck-Denn Mining Corporation. Judge Grannis held that at the time of the merger there was no law for merging of corporations in Minnesota. It is believed that there will be little difficulty about bringing about a merger, under some other procedure, which will stand in court.

TAFT FIELD OPERATIONS SUMMED UP

Situation at Various Projects in District Reported for Week

TAFT, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company is drilling out the cement in its Perris No. 1-A well in the Midway field, on Sec. 15, 32-23. It is believed that Shell will have a good producer in this hole. It has been drilled to 6741 feet with the eight and five-eighths inch casing set at 6327 feet. The company has been reticent about giving out information concerning the prospect for production.

The Standard Oil Company's deep test on the Mascot lease, Sec. 26, 32-23, is running nine-inch casing to 6356 feet with the bottom of the hole at 6378 feet.

The Republic Petroleum Company's No. 35 well, in the Midway field, on Sec. 8, 32-23 is down 2800 feet and drilling ahead after encountering good oil sand at 2675 feet.

The Cypress Petroleum Company's No. 15 well on Sec. 22, 32-23, is standing recemented with the casing set at 4900 feet and bottom of the hole at 5191 feet.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's No. 8, on Sec. 7, 32-23, is down more than 3010 feet in brown shale and drilling ahead after setting casing at 2325 feet.

Searching for sands far below the present known levels in the Maricopa Flats, on Sec. 22, 11-23, the Rio Grande's Leutholtz No. 1 is down more than 4300 feet and drilling ahead. The bit, according to information, is in the brown shale. This develops the fact that the brown shale area extends far below the same formation at 2600-3500 feet on Sec. 8, in the same district.

The company's Havenstrite No. 1 on Sec. 17, 11-23, is close to 3000 feet in the hard sandy shale and shell, and is drilling ahead, reports state. Production in this section is usually found a short distance below the 3000-foot level.

Ore Values in Pinnacle Vein Reported High

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Average assays taken across eight feet of the new vein being developed on the Pinnacle claim of the Gold King Coalition group, are $51.09 in gold and silver.

One streak runs $96.20, $86.40 being gold and the rest silver. This vein was cross-cut at a depth of 180 feet and the drift has been carried along for some distance, attaining a depth of at least 200 feet.

Bad road conditions, due to summer storms, have held up the delivery of machinery to the new shaft. It is now expected, however, that work will soon be under way in the shaft as well as in the drift.

LOCATION STAKED

Fred Sayre to Drill on Ranch In Delano District

DELANO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Fred Sayre has location selected for a new well in the Delano district. It is on the Joseph Girard ranch at the southeast quarter of Sec. 8, 26-28, southeast of the test well drilled by the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company about two years ago on Sec. 23, 25-27. The latter was abandoned when the drillers struck granite.

Machinery is now moving in for the Sayre well. Leases covering the acreage were acquired by Vedder Brothers and Albert J. Yoeman to cover a large area. The territory is regarded as practically proven.

SHELL RUNS STRING IN LERDO PROJECT

LERDO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company's No. 1 well on Sec. 5, 29-27, near Lerdo is running the oil string to be set at 4166 feet with the bottom of the hole at 4189 feet. Three-inch tubing will then be run in through twenty-one feet of perforated casing.

GAS AND OIL USES GROWING

Larger and more unusual demands are constantly being made on the California oil industry to supply gasoline and lubricating oil to both local and visiting motorists. California in the last year has supplied 36,328,346 gallons of gasoline and 7,265,669 quarts of oil to visiting motorists, to say nothing of the recent heavy draft on gasoline stores made by airplanes.

In addition to serving more than 3,000,000 motor vehicles on the Pacific Coast with their daily supply of gasoline and oil, the industry now is called on, as a result of heavy lubrication for another 100,000 or more pleasure vehicles crossing and recrossing the State line, many of them here for weeks and months at a time. The rapid increase of air travel is making heavy demands on the gasoline trade and is calling for a considerable supply of lubricating oil.

REQUIRES CAPITAL

All this, according to the bureau of public relations of the California Oil and Gas Association, means that the industry in this State is being called on to make enormous capital investments this year to equip a large number of oil refineries with equipment for "cracking" heavy oil in order that more gallons of gasoline may be obtained from each barrel of light crude and to enable producers to refine a considerable quantity of their heavy crude.

Several of the large refineries in the vicinity of Los Angeles Harbor are this summer making substantial additions to "cracking" equipment or else are installing their first units. One of the reasons for this is that the conservation of gas during the next year or two will curtail the production of a great deal of light crude which heretofore has been used in the production of gasoline. The shutting in of a great deal of gas will likewise sharply curtail the production of natural gasoline from wet gas. Another reason is that California is capable of producing large quantities of heavy oil which, by the old refining methods, is incapable of yielding much gasoline, but which, through modern fractionating processes, can be made to give up a considerable proportion of its bulk in the form of motor fuel.

SPEND MILLIONS

Many millions of dollars are being expended by the industry this year in California to modernize refinery equipment and to make possible the production of large quantities of gasoline for automobiles and airplanes, even though gas conservation cuts down the output of casing-head gasoline and reduces the supply of light, refinable crude. The producers are planning to "crack" down their heavy oil and thus to keep pace with the ever-increasing demand for gasoline. More than 400 uses for petroleum products have been found, but the greatest demand for any petroleum product is for gasoline. And the demand is ever on the increase, as is indicated by the fact that visiting motorists bought $7,447,310 worth of gasoline in California during the last twelve months. Their lubricating-oil bill amounted to $2,179,700.

NOTED OLD MINE ON REVIVAL WAY

New Discovery Reported in Idaho-Maryland

Empire Star Buys Tramline of Mason Valley

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Morehouse ledge on the 1800-foot level of the historic Idaho-Maryland mine at Grass Valley is again showing rich gold ore, according to the management. The ore has been recovered beyond a serpentine intrusion, with the vein ranging from twelve to thirty inches wide.

Considerable specimen quartz is said to show. The main lode has been developed for 1000 feet on the 1800-foot level and adjacent levels, and is said to be showing wide faces of excellent ore. The company has installed an underground electric haulage system, preparatory to increasing production.

The Empire-Star Mines Company, working the Empire and North Star mines at Grass Valley, has purchased the 6000-foot tramline formerly used by the Mason Valley Company at its copper properties near Yerington, Nev., and will use it for movement of ore from the North Star mine to the Empire mill. The tram will replace the fleet of ore trucks now used.

The Tungsten Corporation of America, said to be controlled by Los Angeles capitalists, announces that it has acquired the Bishop tungsten properties near Bishop, and five claims in the Atolia district of Kern county. The plant on the Bishop group is milling 125 tons of ore daily, and its capacity is to be raised to 500 tons.

Electric power is furnished by the Southern Sierra Power Company. The deposit is mined by the glory-hole method. The shaft on the Atolia property is to be sunk 100 feet from surface, and extensive prospecting conducted. J. Paul Jones is president of the corporation, Cooper Shapley is vice-president, and L. B. Lachman is secretary.

Rich Gold Ore Shows Again on Morehouse Ledge

Empire Star Buys Tramline of Mason Valley

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Morehouse ledge on the [illegible]-foot level of the historic Idaho-Maryland mine at Grass Valley is again showing rich gold ore, according to the management. North Fork Placers, Inc., of Los Angeles, expects to have the twelve-mile flume from the North Fork of the Trinity River completed to its Scholmer placer mine by the 10th inst. The flume is forty inches wide and three feet deep and is largely carried on trestles over exceptionally rough country. Four giants will be operated on the extensive gravel deposits under a water pressure of 500 feet. The company controls other valuable placers near Helena in the East Fork field.

FREAK PRODUCER IN TEXAS FIELD

Dense Fog Created When Project Suddenly Runs Wild

BEEVILLE (Tex.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—One of the most remarkable phenomena known to the oil industry in Texas accompanied the bringing in of the well by the Mission Drilling Company near Pettus, in Lee county. At a depth of 4053 feet, when eight feet in the oil sand, gas and oil spray shot out of the hole and far above the derrick.

The oil vapor quickly spread over a scope of country covering more than two square miles around the well, forming a fog that was so thick that the drillers had difficulty in turning the valve so as to cut off the flow.

The well has not yet been gauged, but it is estimated to have a daily initial production approximating 1000 barrels. The oil is said to be more than 40 deg. gravity. This well is two miles south of the original well of the new pool and is approximately thirty-five miles northwest of the producing oil and gas field in Refugio county.

German Diesel Motored Plane Does Long Hop

COLOGNE (Germany) Sept. 1. (AP)—The longest European flight by airplane using fuel oil was successfully completed here when a Junkers plane with a single Diesel motor landed following a three-hour hop from Dessau.

Authorities regard the flight as opening a new era for fuel oil as power for airplanes. The Junkers Works are planning longer flights to demonstrate the practicability of the Diesel motor for aircraft.

FLOW SETS MARK

New Record for Day Recorded by Texan Oil Well

AUSTIN (Tex.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—For the twenty-four hours ending August 22, the world's deepest producing oil well, owned by the Texon Oil and Land Company and situated upon University of Texas land in Reagan county, made a new high record of 2792.50 barrels, and a new gas peak of 25,776,000 cubic feet.

The total oil recovery from this well which has a depth of 8525 feet, since it began to flow at the rate of forty barrels a day on December 1, 1928, was 565,806 barrels up to August 22. The oil is 54.33 deg. gravity.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Montana Mine Expected to Make Steady Producer

NOGALES (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—It is expected that the Montana mine at Ruby, northwest of Nogales, will be a steady producer of silver-lead concentrates henceforth. The mill is now in operation, with an assured water supply.

A four-inch water line has been laid to the Santa Cruz River, fifteen miles distant, but it is not being used for the present as summer rains have filled the reservoir at the mine. The Montana now employs sixty-five men.

SURVEY PLANNED

Big Jim to Determine Extent of Recent Ore Strikes

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—With the object of determining the extent and value of several recent ore strikes, an extensive diamond drilling program has been started at the Big Jim property.

A number of holes will be drilled to intersect the main vein at depths ranging from 600 to 1000 feet. Upon the result of the drill exploration will depend the character of equipment to be installed at the Big Jim.

NEW PRODUCER

Bishop Corporation Gets Small Production at Oildale

OILDALE, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Completion of the Bishop Corporation's Fano No. 1, on Sec. 23, 28-27 of the Kern Front has been reported. According to information, it was brought in for 180 barrels of 19-deg. gravity oil daily.

Cut of the content is 0.4 per cent, it is said. Bottom of the hole is at 1980 feet with the casing at 1712 feet.

MILL GIVEN TEST

Trial Runs of Morning Glory Held Satisfactory

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Several trial runs have been made of the new mill at the Morning Glory mine, and the plant is now working satisfactorily. Steady production is to begin at once. Concentrates will be trucked to Patagonia for rail shipment.

Power for the Morning Glory mine and mill is furnished by two 100-horsepower Diesel engines.

SLAG PROBLEM FINDINGS TOLD

Report Made in Arizona on Results of Study

University Co-operates With Government Bureau

Solution Offered Viewed as Technically Feasible

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Possibility of a method being perfected to remove copper from converter slag without returning it to reverberatory furnaces is seen in a joint report of the University of Arizona and the Southwest experiment station of the United States Bureau of Mines. These two institutions have jointly concluded an exhaustive study into the slag problem. Their findings are epitomized as follows:

In the whole slag product obtained in converting a matte containing 30 per cent copper, about 10 per cent of the copper in the slag is in the oxidized form; the remainder is in the form of metallic copper and sulphides. The first skimmings are low in oxidized copper, the proportion of which increases as the white metal stage approaches.

The particles of sulphide are so small in a chilled slag that they are not all freed even by grinding to pass 350 mesh.

If the molten slag is allowed to cool slowly so as to develop a crystalline structure, the size of sulphide particles is increased greatly so that grinding to pass 150 mesh will free the sulphides almost completely. The crystalline slag is much easier to grind than chilled slag.

Cleaning of slowly cooled crystalline converter slag by flotation is probably technically feasible.

OPERATIONS AT MERCURY MINE TOLD

Mina Company Installs New Rotary Furnace at Nevada Property

MINA (Nev.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive) The Mina Mercury Company has practically completed installation of a rotary furnace on its holdings near Mina, and expects to start production of quicksilver early in September. The company recently passed into the control of Los Angeles and New Mexico capitalists, and is operating a group of properties long noted for heavy production of mercury.

Manager Peter Fox of the Arrowhead Development Company, largely controlled by Los Angeles residents, announces promising cinnabar deposits have been opened in the company's gold claims near Yerington. A five-foot ledge carrying quicksilver in commercial amounts was accidentally uncovered in a cross-cut from the 300-foot level, and has since been exposed in five places. Manager Fox says a substantial gold ledge has also been opened to the 300-foot level, and that the outlook for development of a profitable producer is steadily improving.

The Gilbert lease on the Mammoth-Last Hope group at Gilbert reports a four-foot ledge of $100 ore has been developed on the 160-foot level, and that the vein is showing pronounced strength on the hanging-wall. This ore was overlooked by a former management, and is assumed to be the extension of the ore body which yielded a substantial tonnage of excellent ore in the old workings.

Berlin Puzzled by Reichstag Building Blast

BERLIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—A mysterious bomb explosion in the cellar of the Reichstag Building during Saturday night shattered several windows in the building and twisted the ornamental iron trappings.

Parts of a clock-work fuse were found by police on the floor. No one was injured.

How the bomb got into the cellar of the building is a problem that today engaged the entire Berlin police department and several high government officials. No one has access to the building except Reich officials. Police are working on the theory that the same sources which recently directed bombings in the provinces of Hanover and Schleswig-Holstein were responsible for the outrage.

Brother-in-Law of Ira O. Copley Dies in Illinois

AURORA (Ill.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Clarence B. Strohn, 52 years of age, vice-president of the Elgin Courier Publishing Company, died at his home in Aurora this morning from pleurisy. Mr. Strohn was a graduate of Leland Stanford University and prominent at one time in college athletics. He was identified of late years with his brother-in-law, former Representative Ira O. Copley, as treasurer of the Western United Gas and Electric Company.

He leaves his widow, Bessie Thomas Strohn, formerly of Elgin, Ill.; a sister, Mrs. Eleanor McCauley and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Grace Strohn, both of Los Angeles. The body will be taken to Los Angeles for burial.

DELEGATE NAMED

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (AP)—David J. Reese, member of the State Civil Service Commission, will represent California at the civil service assembly of the United States and Canada to be held at some eastern point in the near future, A. R. Heron, director of finance, said.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on unusual minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Black Sand

PASADENA, Aug. 14.—Question: Inclosed please find a sample of black sand of which I ran on to a considerable pocket on the beach up in Ventura county. Will you kindly tell me through your "In the Earth" column—what it consists of and whether it represents any commercial value? S.

Answer: The sample carries approximately 65 per cent magnetite. Titaniferous iron and manganese present. Monazite sand and graphite absent. Quartz, in traces only. Free gold absent, and it would appear that the titaniferous iron could be separated from the magnetite by the magnet. The values of the sand are problematical owing to whether the named substances can be successfully separated on a commercial scale, and, even then, the prices for the products would be low.

Rocks

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Q.: Please classify the two specimens of white and pink colors. Taken from Santa Ana Mountains, Riverside county. H.

A.: Both samples are altered feldspathic rocks carrying iron oxides and free gold is not present. The pink coloring matter is from traces of halloysite.

Three Samples

GLENDALE, Aug. 15.—Q.: Am sending you three specimens. What gives No. 1 its weight? Nos. 2 and 3 come from Sinaloa, Mex. D.

A.: You state that No. 1 specimen is from Los Angeles county. It is a variety of tetrahedrite carrying galenite traces. Hornblende and quartz present. Sulphides of iron, zinc (black jack,) chalcopyrite (iron-copper sulphide) and arsenopyrite found in greater or lesser percentages. The weight for such a mixture of sulphides is not above normal.

No. 2 is of iron-magnesium silicate (altered rock) carrying copper traces and zinc in low percentage. No. 3 is of pyrite, zinc, and arsenical sulphide. No sample tested for gold or silver.

Lime and Magnesia

KANAB (Utah) Aug. 15.—Q.: I am advised to send to your "In the Earth" department two samples of ore to learn if they carry valuable minerals or ores sufficient to justify having assays made and spending money on the prospect. I am willing to pay charges for your work. G.

A.: No charges. The brownish sample is impure lime carbonate mixed with clay and iron oxides. The milk-white chip of mineral is dolomitic limestone containing magnesium-lime carbonate with a little clay as impurity. If the samples are representative of the ores found on the prospect the showing for values, on the commercial scale, are rather doubtful.

Sulphides

VISALIA, Aug. 16.—Q.: I would like to have this piece of rock classified. It has a white metal in it and if it is not iron it may be of some value. This rock came from Placer county near the Yuba River and cross-cuts a very hard iron formation. C.

A.: The sample is sulphide ore carrying pyrite (iron disulphide) with arsenical pyrite. Both sulphides found in low percentages.

Copper Present

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 16.—Q.: The sample I am seding you comes from the Chuckawalla Mountains northeast of Niland, Cal. I desire to know if this ore carries any other values than the gold content. M.

A.: The thirty-one thumb-specimens carry iron oxides and some Azurite, (blue copper carbonate) malachite, (green copper carbonate) traces. Metallic copper in both carbonates, approximately, 3 per cent. Fire assays might give returns for low silver values.

Quartz

BISHOP, Aug. 17.—Q.: Am sending by parcels post sample of rock from the White Mountains for your analysis. Please let me know if any platinum is present. B.

A.: The sample is stained yellow with limonite; it carries some grayish colored arsenical pyrite, and flake platinum is absent.

White and Black

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—Q.: Sample said to contain platinum and radium. Desire to know nature of dark and light product in the sample as well. Thomson.

A.: Platinum and radium not present in such rock. The white substance in center of samples is quartzitic rock, and the black coating thereon is vitrophyre, (porphyritic obsidian.)

Five Samples

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending five samples. Please classify the rock and give qualitative analyses on all minerals or metals contained therein. Thanking you for past and present services. E.

A.: Sample No. 1 carries no bauxite; it is a porphyritic pudding stone, (conglomerate.) No. 2 is dioritic rock in part; coated with iron oxide on one side; microscopic pyrite traces, and spotted microscopical, massive quartz found. No. 3 is mottled jasper. No. 4 microscopic pyrite traces; manganese in low percentage; zinc in low percentage, as blende, and No. 5 is altered rock containing traces of microscopic pyrite.

"Iceland Spar"

ANAHEIM, Aug. 18.—Q.: We would be pleased to know what this mineral is and its uses? Where can it be marketed and what is the amount used in the United States?

A.: The sample is transparent crystalline calcite which formerly was obtained in large crystals from Iceland. The specimen is however somewhat impure by reason of having a coating of sand limonite on one side, and it reflects, at one spot in the specimen, iridescent colors. The probabilities are that it is of no great value for uses in optical and other instruments, as a double-refractive indicator, or otherwise, but it comes very near the desired mineral for such purposes. At all events such mineral can be sold to mineral collectors as samples for high schools, universities, etc. Let us hope that you will develop the higher grade calcite which now sells for $12 per pound. The number of pounds produced in the United States of the real doubly refracting variety is not very great. It occurs in Montana, Idaho, and Colorado, in limited quantities only. Some of the mineral is imported from Africa.

Not Bentonite

LONE PINE, Aug. 19.—Q.: Am mailing to you a small package of desert product of Inyo county, Cal., thirty-five miles out from Lone Pine on one of the side-winder roads. Will you kindly classify this mineral and tell me of its commercial possibilities? Some call it trachyte. Some Travertine, and some bentonite. What is it? X.

A.: The large sample of conchoidal fracture is Dolomite. The remaining specimens carry lime carbonate with some altered wollastonite (lime silicate)—not tested for magnesia. The samples break up slowly in water, and seem to be partly hydrous aluminum and magnesium silicate. All of your samples represent problematical commercial use.

Flake Platinum Absent

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Q.: The samples come from Siskiyou county, California. Please give me a quantitative analysis on them. F.

A.: Qualitative tests only. No. 1 is on the order of slaty-shale and is in part (both sides of it) "Slickensides." No. 2 is a blackish altered rock, in part hornblende, and carries traces of microscopic pyrite, (iron disulphide.) Free gold absent.

Cinnabar and Dolomite

SAN JOSE, Aug. 21.—Q.: Inclosed find two samples of mineral from the Phipps mine in San Benito county. Please analyze both specimens and oblige. W.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a variety of dark-colored Dolomite showing small plates of dolomite crystals on one side. No. 2 is altered serpentine carrying cinnabar of approximately 3 per cent mercury.

RICH CINNABAR FIND REPORTED

Deposit Believed Greatest Made in Nevada

Pershing Quicksilver Gives Details on Strike

Antelope Springs Property Outlook Flattering

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive) The Pershing Quicksilver Company has announced the development of what appears to be the largest and richest deposit of cinnabar ever found in Nevada. The company operates a group of mercury mines in the Antelope Springs district, east of Lovelock, and reports that an inside shaft from No. 3 tunnel has followed a deposit of cinnabar to a depth of ninety feet, with the ore body fourteen feet wide. Eight feet of this is said to carry high values. Several strong and wide veins of cinnabar have been exposed on the company's holdings of 640 acres, with the deposits remarkably persistent.

The management states that the plant is treating 150 tons of ore daily, and that the August yield will approximate 300 flasks of quicksilver. Sufficient ore is reported in sight to assure a long period of profitable production, with new work augmenting the reserves. Development of a rich deposit, about 3000 feet south of the mill, has begun.

The Antelope Springs Mercury Company, controlled by Lucian Newton and associates, reports the development of a new body of rich cinnabar about 200 feet south of the main workings. The ore is said to sample $60 to $75 per ton at surface, with dimensions of the deposit unknown. The main ore body has been developed for 170 feet on the eighty-five-foot level of the shaft and ranges from three to five feet wide. The owners are said to be planning early installation of a rotary furnace.

Placer mining in the Placeritos field, forty miles north of Lovelock, has been started by the Nevada-Montana Mines Company. A test run is said by the management to have yielded considerable coarse gold and several small nuggets. Sufficient water has been stored for steady operations. The placers are among the largest in Nevada but have never been worked to any extent because the owners lacked the capital to develop a dependable water supply.

Venezuela and Brazil in Accord

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Another long-standing boundary dispute between South American republics received formal burial when Brazil and Venezuela exchanged ratifications here of boundary treaties negotiated in July, 1928.

The conversations looking to peaceful settlement of rival claims to jurisdiction over almost unmapped lands drained by tributaries of the Upper Amazon were begun seventy years ago.

WRECKAGE CONFIRMS VESSEL'S TRAGIC FATE

BOSTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Confirmation of the tragic fate of the coastwise freighter Sagua La Grande and its crew of fifteen, given up for lost more than a year ago, has been brought to port here by the fishing steamer William J. O'Brien. Capt. Michael Powers had a ship's bell marked "Sagua La Grande" and a small flagpole, swept up by his fishing nets about 180 miles southeast of the Boston lightship.

AMERICANS SEE SOVIET AGGRESSION

Newspaper Men Cited as Witnesses of Violations of Chinese Territory

MUKDEN (China) Sept. 1. (AP)—German Consul Hansel of Harbin and four American newspaper men were said in an official communique issued tonight to have witnessed bombardment of Chinese lines by Russian artillery and to have seen a Russian armored train enter Chinese territory.

The party had arrived at Manchuli, near the western frontier of Manchuria, on Friday.

CHINA REFUSES RUSSIAN DEMAND

SHANGHAI (China) Sept. 1. (AP) Foreign Minister C. T. Wang declared today that China will not consent to replace the present chairman of the board of directors of the Chinese Eastern Railway. Such action was made a condition by the soviet government on Friday to a joint declaration for settlement of Manchurian questions.

Earlier in the negotiations Russia had insisted the former Russian general manager of the railway be restored to the position from which the Chinese ousted him early in July as a preliminary to settlement. The Chinese refused on the ground he had used his office to further Communistic propaganda and had misused funds.

Russia, in what was described as a conciliatory move by Moscow circles, on Friday expressed willingness to consider naming another Russian as general manager if the Chinese would replace the Chinese chairman to whom the soviets attached blame for "violation of the agreement" of 1924 governing the status of the railroad.

The statement of the Foreign Minister today would seem to leave the negotiations exactly where they were almost two months ago.

Fisherman Will Face Dry Charge as Firing Sequel

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Rutherford Hays, fisherman, who was shot by Coast Guardsmen at Crane Creek near Port Clinton, O., Thursday night, will be placed under arrest by United States Marshals Tuesday morning, Commander M. W. Rassmussen announced here. The commander said that from a penitentiary report made to him it is indicated Hays was carrying liquor when he was fired on by Coast Guardsmen.

Rassmussen explained the Coast Guard crew displayed the usual warning directing the Hays boat to heave to. When the Hays boat failed to comply, approximately thirty 30-caliber bullets from rifles or revolvers were fired at the motor in an endeavor to cripple it. The preliminary report says Hays succeeded in tossing overboard his cargo of intoxicants before the Coast Guard halted the craft. Coast Guardsmen say they recovered one keg of ale.

UNION HEAD CLAIMS ALL IN MESSAGE

Labor Day Statement Issued by President Green of American Federation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his annual Labor Day message claims for the federation credit for everything accomplished for the betterment of industrial conditions since 1882, the year following the federation's organization. He says:

"Today is the forty-eighth anniversary of the establishment of Labor Day, the purposes of which are to consider the successes and failures of the year just passed and prepare plans for advancement of labor in the future.

"The wonderful progress made since Labor Day in 1882 has astounded the world. In fact, in that brief time there has been more advancement in the economic condition of the wage earners than in all the previous history of our country.

"We find where the unions are the strongest prosperity is the greatest. We also find that living conditions are better in such places than where intense antagonism is shown by the employers and other interests.

"Notwithstanding our failure as yet to obtain justice from the judges we can look over the past year with the greatest satisfaction. The organizing of the unorganized wage earners has gone ahead with startling successes. In more than 600 cities and towns aggressive organizing campaigns have been in progress and many thousands of members have been added to the trade unions.

"The Department of Labor reported 3789 strikes in 1916. Its figures for 1928 are 629. The absence of strikes does not tell the story. It is the collective bargaining that is going on without the knowledge of the people that shows the advancement that labor is making. We continue to secure increased wages, fewer hours and better working conditions.

"The five-day week has had marvelous support. More than 1,200,000 members of organized labor are enjoying the five-day week and many employers who refuse to deal with labor have also adopted the shorter work week. They have done so because of the great benefits it gives. More employees and more leisure mean greater consumption of products produced."

NEW PLANE'S WINGS AT FUSELAGE CENTER

STRANGE LOOKING DEVICE BROUGHT TO FIELD AT NEW YORK

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—A strange tandem monoplane, with its main wing in the center of the fuselage and with three wheels like a tricycle, was brought to Roosevelt Field today for tests in preparation for what its designer said would be an attempt at a nonstop flight to Bucharest, Rumania.

The designer, A. T. Fernic of Arlington, N. Y., said that in six weeks or two months he expected to start across the ocean in it.

The plane has a small wing at the front end of the fuselage, which Fernic said would prevent stalling. The propellers, turned by two 220-horsepower engines, are mounted in the big wing on either side of the fuselage.

AMERICANS ATTRACTED

BADEN-BADEN, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Almost a quarter of the 54,461 tourists in Baden-Baden in the first seven months of the current year were foreigners, the Americans having a big lead with a total of 4658, followed by Hollanders with 2482 and French with 899.

YOUNG MEN RUSH TO BE AIR PILOTS

War Department Gives Priority Order for Army Examinations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic and the recent 'round-the-world flight of the Graf Zeppelin the War Department has been flooded with applications from young men who desire to become army pilots. Recently the flood has increased to such an extent that the Secretary of War has found it impossible to grant written examinations for all.

Priority will be given applicants in the following order, it was announced today: Enlisted men of the Regular Army Air Corps, other enlisted men of Regular Army, National Guardsmen assigned to air-corps units, college graduates trained in air-corps R.O.T.C. units, graduates trained in other branches of R.O.T.C., National Guardsmen of other than air-corps units and graduates of recognized colleges and universities.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the ordinary civilian without college training has slight prospect at present of qualifying.

PACKING DELAYED

HEALDSBURG, Sept. 1. (AP)—Packing operations, delayed nearly a month on account of the lateness of the tomato crop, are expected to begin here about September 15.

SOVIET ORDERS GRAIN ARRESTS

Buying Agents Compete for Scout Supply

Price Goes Up and Farmers Hoard Harvest

Severe Measures Adopted to Avert Hunger

RIGA (Latvia) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Complete disorganization of the soviet government's grain-buying organizations has forced the commissar of trade, A. J. Mikoyan, to publish another decree ordering the arrest and punishment of government officials found competing against one another for peasants' crops.

Reports are reaching Moscow that the co-operatives are trying to force the peasants to surrender their harvests by informing them they will be unable to purchase goods at co-operative stores unless they sell their grain there.

Agents of the grain trust, the grain center and other buying organizations have been complaining that competition is boosting prices and the collection is proceeding slowly.

GRAIN HOARDED

Only a third of the expected amount of grain is being collected, and the peasants even are refusing to surrender crops for which they were paid last spring. Thousands of individual contracts which the soviet government agents signed with peasants who in return for cash promised to sow larger areas cannot be enforced and the difficult food situation in the cities whose inhabitants have been receiving bread rations since last spring caused the peasants to hoard the harvest.

Last winter the government was unable to provide an adequate supply of bread materials to the cities. There was an acute shortage in other articles. The city population was placed on rations and a card system was devised for the various urban classes. Communists, government employees, employed workers and Red army veterans were given first chance to buy goods in state stores. The unemployed proletariat were also given preference over the families of tradesmen and educated classes.

SEVERE MEASURES

The Russian cities are increasing rapidly in population, and even though a number of new factories have been opened the number of unemployed is also mounting. To feed the city dwellers is a problem which the soviet government has to solve or face disorders and dissatisfaction which may threaten its existence.

Faced with the prospect of making further grain purchases abroad during the coming winter the soviet commissariat has ordered the local officials not to hesitate to use the severest repressive measures against the peasants failing to deliver contracted grain.

Another decree fixes a time limit upon grain collections, stating that the Ukraine and lower Volga provinces must collect 70 per cent of their scheduled amounts before November 1, while the northern Caucasus must collect 75 per cent and the middle Volga provinces, 65 per cent. By January 1 the collections must total 95 per cent.

TRAVELERS' YARNS VIE AT STATE FAIR

Commercial Men Forego Prize Decision in Joy of Swapping Stories

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Today was story-telling and happy-timer day at the California Diamond Jubilee State Fair and Western States Exposition, and from a standpoint of attendance it was another record breaker. Taking advantage of the Sunday and Labor Day holidays, thousands of visitors jammed the city last night and today to "do the fair," which is celebrating its seventy-fifth birthday.

The program was billed as Commercial Travelers' Day and the knights of the grip vied with one another in a best-story contest, the winner of which probably never will be determined, so keen was the competition. But the traveling salesmen are not worrying about that; the stories alone interested them.

Hugh Barret Dobbs of KPO was the master of the happy-time ceremonies. He was assisted by William Hancock and forty-five happy-timers. The program was broadcast direct from the fairground, this being the first time in the history of the exposition that the radio has been used to carry the fun, frolic and spirit of the State Fair to those who have to stay at home.

This feature of the day's program was in direct contrast to the first State Fair that was held in Musical Hall in San Francisco in 1854. Then it was several days before the visitors were able to return home to relate the wonders of California's maiden exposition. Horses, oxen and slow boats were the only means of transportation in those gold days.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD STILL RECUPERATING

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1. (AP)—United States Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota, will be unable to attend any sessions of Congress between now and December, it was learned here. Senator Shipstead became ill in Washington a year ago and has been recuperating since. He is on an island in Rainy Lake, near International Falls, Minn., where he will stay indefinitely.

INVENTION AIDS AUDITS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (AP)—A system of graphs has been evolved by Harold E. Smith, superintendent of accounts in the State Department of Finance, that makes it possible to visualize at any time the audit reports of State institutions and departments and application for patent of the process in the name of the State of California has been made, A. R. Heron, director, stated.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR RAMON GUERRERO

A la medianía del artículo de Gabaldón que hemos estado comentando se halla éste párrafo: "Estamos en 'plena' primavera oficial, porque el tiempo parece haber respetado hasta ahora los decretos de la Naturaleza." Y a seguida viene este otro: "He aquí que nos hallamos, y ojalá sea por mucho tiempo, en 'pleno' disfrute de todos los derechos del brote primaveral."

El adjetivo "pleno" vale lo mismo que "lleno", "completo", "cabal", y son muy comunes en español locuciones análogas a las contenidas en esos párrafos, para denotar el mayor grado a que puede llegar una acción o un estado: "Está la pareja en plena luna de miel"; "En plena borrachera, se le metió en la cabeza a Pedro insultar a las autoridades"; "Llegué a Sevilla en pleno carnaval", etc. "Sesión en pleno" es la que se celebra estando presentes todos los miembros de un cuerpo colegiado: "La Audiencia territorial en pleno tomó ese acuerdo"; "Reunióse en pleno el Concejo municipal", etc. "Pleno" suele substantivarse con el valor de "sesión plena": "El pleno del municipio"; "El pleno de la asamblea", etc.

Cuatro párrafos adelante nos habla el jovial articulista de un concurso de peluqueros, que compiten en un hotel de Budapest para ver quién rasura más aprisa a sendos parroquianos (iba a decir ¡sendas víctimas!) de barba cerrada (full, thick beard). Recuérdese que la voz inglesa "contest" se vierte al castellano por "concurso" o "certamen", y que los "contestants", o sean las personas que se disputan la supremacía en algún ejercicio mental o físico, son en español los "concursantes" o "competidores".

Ya que viene a cuento el arte del barbero o peluquero (barber, hairdresser), no será mal recordar los términos españoles relacionados con la operación de cortarse el pelo y la barba. La de raparse el pelo, que se llama "pelarse" o "cortarse el pelo (cabello)", es raro que se la haga uno mismo; en cambio, es muy general hacerse a sí mismo la operación de raparse la barba, o sea "rasurarse", "afeitarse". Para que nos corten el pelo, vamos casi siempre a una peluquería o barbería. Estos dos términos pueden considerarse sinónimos, pues todo peluquero es a la vez barbero, si bien hay barberos que no se dedican al ramo más adelantado de peluquería, que es el de peinar señoras.

Suele darse a las peluquerías el nombre de "salones", "salones de peinado" (shaving parlors, hairdressing parlors); esta última designación se aplica distintivamente a los establecimientos que se especializan en peinar señoras.

Válense los peluqueros, para cortarle a uno el pelo, de unas tijeras y un peine batidor o escarmenador. Algunas porciones del cabello las cortan con maquinitas de rapar o tundidoras, que funcionan, ya a mano, ya por electricidad. Si el parroquiano quiere pelarse al rape, esto es, cortarse el pelo casi a raíz, se le puede pasar la maquinilla por todo el cuero cabelludo (scalp). Para que el pelo cortado no nos caiga sobre la ropa, ni se meta por dentro del cuello de la camisa, nos pone el peluquero un peinador, que nos cubre el cuerpo y se ajusta bien alrededor del cuello. Para defender éste, empléase también en las peluquerías de los Estados Unidos un collar ancho de goma elástica, que oprime el cuello y no deja pasar los pelitos entre éste y la camisa.

Frases que suelen escucharse en las barberías: "Hágame favor de pelarme (cortarme el pelo) al rape"; "No me corte usted mucho pelo de arriba"; "Recórteme el cabello de los lados y de atrás"; "No me rasure (afeite) el cuello por detrás" o "No me afeite el cogote o la nuca (nape)"; "No me ponga aceite ni pomada para peinarme"; "No me moje usted el pelo; haga el favor de peinarme en seco"; "¿Lo afeito (rasuro) a usted, caballero? — No, yo me afeito solo en casa."

Para raparnos el bigote y la barba (rasurarnos, afeitarnos), usamos de la "navaja de rasurar (afeitar)" o "navaja barbera". Esta puede ser ordinaria (libre), o de seguridad. Las navajas de seguridad constan de una filosa hojita de acero, que se inserta en una guarda o armazón. Esta no deja sobresalir sino el filo de la hojita, y defiende de cortaduras al operador. A fin de rasurarnos con facilidad, nos untamos jabón especial de afeitar, que viene ya en barritas sólidas, ya al estado de crema, contenido en tubos de estaño. Con una brocha de afeitar húmeda nos frotamos vivamente la cara para que el jabón haga espuma (jabonadura), y ésta suavice la barba. Tomamos luego la navaja, bien afilada y suavizada (en Méjico, "asentada"), y con ella nos raemos barba y bigote, primero a pelo (a favor del pelo), y luego a contrapelo, para dejar la piel enteramente lisa.

Al acto de pasar la navaja a contrapelo después del primer rape, para cortar más a raíz la barba, se le llama en español "descañonar", pues lleva por fin cortar los "cañones", o sean las porciones más recias del pelo de la barba, que son las inmediatas a la raíz.

Para afilar las navajas hacemos uso de unas piedritas lisas de material muy duro, ya producto natural como el esmeril, ya artificial, como el carborúndum. Cuando la hoja no tiene filo decimos que está desafilada o embotada. Después de afilarla, se suaviza, pasando ambos lados del filo contra el suavizador (en Méjico, "asentador"), que es una correa lisa de vaqueta o de cuero de puerco. Tras el afeitado o rasura, nos lavamos la cara, nos secamos, y nos la frotamos luego con alguna agua de tocador para calmar la irritación de la piel. Evaporada esa agua, nos ponemos un poco de polvo de arroz o de talco.

Lacquer Bought for Road Making

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Purchase of 20,000 gallons of white traffic line lacquer and thinner to cost approximately $30,000 has been made by the State Department of Finance and will be splashed along 1400 miles of State highway in California by the State division of highways, A. R. Heron, director of finance, announced. A total of 11.66 gallons of paint is required to paint a stripe one mile, according to Heron.

FRENCH TAX LAW HITS AMERICANS

Double Impost Complained of by Washington

Long-Ignored Statute Put Into Sudden Effect

Proposal Made to Ask League to Settle Question

PARIS, Sept. 1. (AP)—An important diplomatic question has arisen between the United States and France over double taxation of American concerns operating in this country.

Some companies deem the situation so serious that they are considering the advisability of abandoning their agencies and dissolving their subsidiaries altogether. Huge sums of money are involved and the American government has taken a strong stand. It is probable that the matter will come up before the League of Nations in October, when an effort will be made to draft a convention eliminating double taxation throughout the world.

French authorities admit that the law, which was passed in 1872, is "rigorous," although French companies are placed on the same basis as foreign. In their opinion it could be profitably changed only by bilateral or general convention.

America, on the other hand, is opposed to this form of action and holds the opinion that double taxation already has been outlawed in international jurisprudence. Although enacted in 1872 the law was seldom enforced against American firms until about two years ago.

The American Chamber of Commerce in France has tabulated more than sixty cases of American firms operating here, either directly through agents or through subsidiary companies, that are liable to double taxation. These have been submitted to the Finance Ministry with a request for a ruling in each case, so that American business in the future may know to just what extent it will cost them to do business here.

The United States government has taken a strong stand in a long series of representations to the Quai d'Orsay. The conversations are continuing with the hope expressed that definite assurance will be given to American business that it can operate on the same basis as a French company in the United States.

Vatican State Will be Strict

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—Sharp punishment will be meted out to persons importing or exporting contraband goods in the newest state in Europe, according to an order issued by the governor of the Vatican City.

Even attempted exportation of goods without paying the official duties will be punished by a fine of $800, imprisonment up to three years and confiscation of the goods. The governor ordered the new regulations rigorously applied for reasons of international law.

Fruit Half Pear and Half Apple

LYNN (Mass.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—A fruit, half apple and half pear, was picked today from a tree in the orchard owned by William J. Murphy.

Last spring Murphy placed the blossom of a Gravenstein apple within the blossom of a winter pear, fastening the two blossoms together with a thin piece of wire.

The experiment resulted in a fruit about one-third the size of a natural pear with a pear stem and many characteristics of both fruits.

CITY'S BIRTHDAY FETE STAGE SET

Plans Almost Complete for Wednesday's Fiesta

Pageant of Founding Will Be Among Features

Public Urged to Lend Aid Celebrating Event

With more than twenty groups in the city assisting, arrangements virtually are complete for the pageant of the founding and the fiesta Wednesday which will mark the observance of the one hundred forty-eighth birthday of Los Angeles.

While the pageant of the founding will take place at the Plaza, much of the celebration will center around two historic buildings in Olvera street, the old Avila adobe which once served as the American headquarters of Commodore R. F. Stockton when the city was taken from Mexico, and the old Pelanconi house which is the first brick building in Los Angeles.

Plans call for the celebration to start shortly after 3 p.m., the program to be opened with a pageant of the founding of the city, which will be carried out by picked soldiers of the One Hundred Sixtieth Infantry, Mission Players, Indians and Franciscan padres from the Mission at Santa Barbara.

PIONEERS TO HELP

[illegible] Plummer, Hollywood's original settler and a ranchero of early times, will head the pageant in the role of Felipe De Neve, California Governor in 1781, who founded the city. He will be attended by Don Pedro Lugo, a grizzled native of Los Angeles and a son of one of the original families settling in California territory. Both will be mounted on western pintos with complete caballero equipage.

Padre Felipe, Franciscan father who has been selected to repeat the mass recited on the date of the historic founding, will be assisted in the [illegible] ceremonial rites by Father [illegible] of the Church of Our Lady at the Plaza.

[illegible] will be declared immediately after the formal ceremony by Mr. Plummer, the general public being invited to participate in the [illegible] and dancing which will follow. Cascarones or Mexican confetti prepared in egg-shell containers will be provided in large quantities by the Latin-American colony of Los Angeles and a number of other features are arranged to make the affair a lively one. Musicians and dancers, giving Mexican and Spanish favorites, will stroll about the Plaza and Olvera street and assist in providing entertainment.

Street vendors of Spanish and Mexican sweets and also well-known [illegible] dishes will ply their trade in the quarter, typical of the days of Mexico and of those held in Los Angeles in early days. At the old Avila adobe descendants of old families will attend a reception given by Mrs. Christine Sterling, one of the sponsors of the fiesta celebration and known also for her work in restoring the old adobe.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce again urged yesterday that the general public give the celebration full support and it was requested that as many as possible appear in the costumes of early California, special rates having been [illegible] by local costumers for this occasion.

In connection with plans for decorating the Plaza and Olvera street it was announced yesterday that the California Vineyardists' Association has donated a large quantity of grapes to be hung in festoons and used for general decorative purposes. Closing up the fiesta the general public will be invited to carry away the fruit. Special lighting effects have been arranged for the fiesta by the Bureau of Power and Light and greenery decorations will be carried out by the city park department.

COUNCILMAN WOULD LIFT LEVY BURDEN

Cooke Proposes Fund to Buy Assessed Property of Poor People

Councilman Cooke, chairman of the Council Finance Committee, has proposed what he terms is a solution of the problem of aiding property owners in shouldering the burden of assessments on public improvements. He proposed that the city create a fund with which to purchase property in assessment districts when it is shown that the cost is too heavy upon the property owner.

"Many old people have all their money tied up in the property and cannot raise the money to pay the assessment," he said. "I believe some plan can be worked out whereby the city can purchase the lot and hold it. In the event the property increases in value, due to the improvement, the city will have made a profit.

"Elderly people cannot afford to wait the time until the aggrandizement of value comes.

"There are not many such lots in an assessment district. The districts usually are formed by majority petitions. However, even if 99 per cent of the property owners desire the improvement, the remaining 1 per cent may feel that they suffer loss.

"This is a difficult situation. We in the Council cannot afford to be swayed by sentiment in the building of this city. Improvements must be effected. But I do not think this should bring financial troubles to citizens."

COUNCIL APPROVES

The City Council has adopted the assessment district map for the improvement of the Bundy Drive and Norman Place district.

BYRD TO OPEN RADIO SHOW

Signal from Frozen Antarctic Will Turn on Lights; Exhibits Can be Seen This Afternoon

Commander Richard Byrd will send a radio impulse from the South Pole to Los Angeles at 9 o'clock tonight, thus turning on lights that will signal the official start of the seventh annual National Radio Show at the Ambassador Auditorium. The polar aviator will send from his Antarctic headquarters in Little America, Antarctica, his signal to be picked up by Station KEE at Torrance and relayed by RCA wires to the Ambassador Auditorium. Special signal lights, floods, spots and arcs, will be turned on in a dazzling illumination while the band plays the "Star Spangled Banner."

There will be other lights in profusion to illuminate the exhibits at the show preceding the reception of this radio signal from the South Pole. The show opens to the public at 2:30 p.m. today. A preview for dealers, manufacturers and laboratory men was afforded yesterday. At today's opening radio bands and radio entertainers will be featured, virtually all the programs to be broadcast. The sponsors predicted a crowd of 25,000 at the opening day of the show.

COMPLETE IN DETAIL

Complete in every detail, the show yesterday stood as a triumph of radio's magic accomplishments and rapid development. The auditorium and a great annex adjoining were jammed with displays. These represent the cream of radio, showing what the receiving set for the coming year will be in almost every line manufactured.

Comment was excited by the beauty of the auditorium's interior. It has been furnished with booths, done in a wide variation of color and with a pleasing absence of the architectural monotony, which

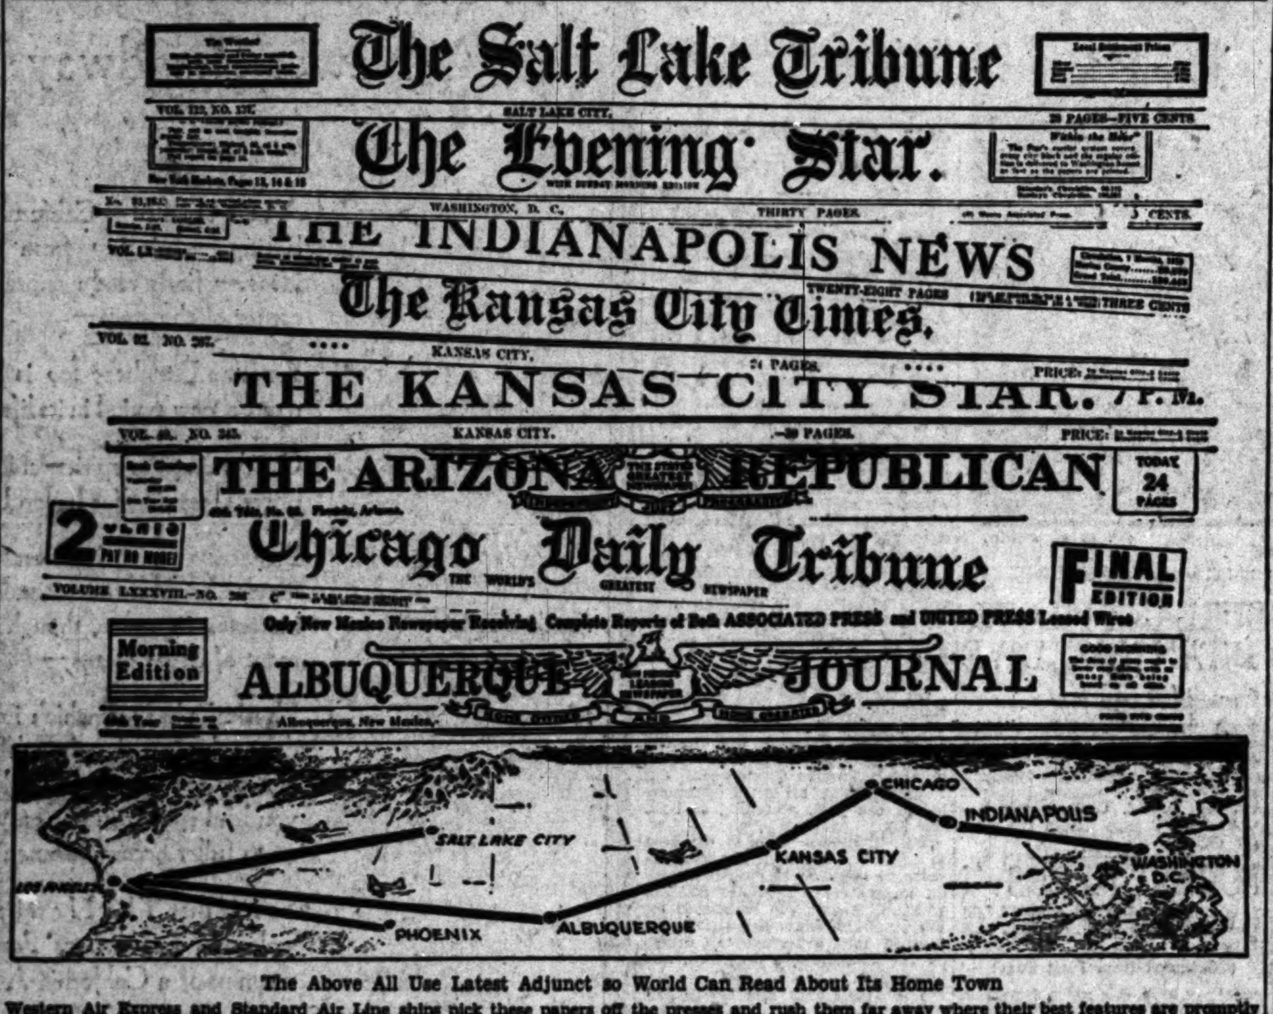
"TODAY'S NEWS TODAY" THE MOTTO THEY KEEP BY AIR ROUTES



The Above All Use Latest Adjunct so World Can Read About Its Home Town

Western Air Express and Standard Air Line ships pick these papers off the presses and rush them far away where their best features are promptly incorporated into a column that is the latest novelty in the making of a modern newspaper.

SKY-RIDING CARRIERS USE PLANES FOR DELIVERIES

Your Home-Town Happenings Can be Read Each Day Even If You Are 1500 Miles Away

About fifteen hours after the presses lay down the last of a late morning edition of the Kansas City Times a copy is delivered in the editorial rooms of the Los Angeles Times. At approximately the same moment a man back in Missouri armed with a protected razor blade, and perhaps an eye shade, grunts something about "let's see what's doing in Los Angeles," and unfolds a fresh, inky smelling arrival from the Pacific, which turns out to be the Los Angeles Times of that day's vintage.

At the same hour or perhaps a little earlier, the Phoenix (Ariz.) Republican and the Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal and the Salt Lake City (Utah) Tribune of current date have been received, together with the Chicago Tribune and Indianapolis News of the preceding day, and the Washington (D. C.) Star, bearing date of two days previous.

NO SPIRIT AIDS

No genii has performed the miracle, no spirit has materialized the papers. They have come over regular lines of travel available to everyone, every day; a bit faster in delivery than air mail, but that is because the Western Air Express and the Standard Air Lines, whose planes carry the publications, hurry them to their destination by special messengers.

It is an effective demonstration of the rapidity, regularity and safety with which human beings and freight may be transported across the country, or from point to point under modern conditions. It is a far cry from the day when news sheets were packed in saddle bags or sent by pony express in two or three days from New York to Philadelphia or Boston, to the Los Angelan seated 1500 miles away in a Kansas City hotel reading his home town Times on the evening of the day of publication.

The map shown above visualizes the journey from coast to coast, forty-eight hours at its widest point, this soon to be reduced to thirty-six hours. Washington, "one sleep" away, as the Indians might have said when Geronimo was first-page news.

Below are brief items of interest from our airplane exchanges; items not likely to be deemed important enough to find a place on crowded news wires, but bringing home more definitely than ever the meaning of "today's news today."

LOS ANGELES MAN HELD

Leo Greve, alleged "petting party bandit," was held to answer to Superior Court in Justice Nat T. McKee's court yesterday on a charge of attempted robbery. He was remanded to jail in default of $2000 bond.

Greve, a well driller from Los Angeles, was arrested in Mesa and held for investigation as the armed bandit who had been holding up "petting parties" on outlying roads. According to the investigators, he was positively identified by one of his victims.

McGIRTY INCORPORATED

(Indianapolis News, August 30)

The McGirty family will hold its third annual reunion the 8th inst. at Muscatatuck State Park, near North Vernon. The program will open with a basket dinner at noon. Officers are D. L. McCauley, president; P. J. McGirty, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Alhand, secretary, and W. P. Flannary, treasurer. Mrs. Alhand is arranging for transportation.

ANGELENO FLIES HOME

(Kansas City Star, August 31)

Following receipt of a telegram informing him of the dangerous injury of his daughter in a motor-car accident, Fred Bachwitz, buyer for a Los Angeles department store, left a westbound train early today at the Union Station and boarded the Western Air Express plane for the Pacific Coast.

LAD BLUFFS BANDIT

(Chicago Daily Tribune, August 31)

Police Chief William O. Freeman of Evanston had his men out last night looking for a 12-year-old boy who walked into a National Tea store at 2004 Central avenue on an errand yesterday, when a hold-up was in progress. The Chief wants to pin a medal on the lad.

The store manager, C. W. Flory, was counting crates of peaches when the robber, a young man in a blue suit and gray cap, strolled in and ordered Flory to step behind the counter.

Just then the 12-year-old boy walked in and ordered a peck of potatoes from the robber. Then he observed the pistol.

Ignoring the robber's order to go behind the counter, the boy ran out the door threatening to return with his gang—and he did. As the robber withdrew he encountered eight small boys at the door and dropped the $20 worth of coins as he el-

LET-UP OF HOT SPELL INDICATED

High-Pressure Area Over Pacific Promises Relief, Says Weather Observer

The backbone of the hot spell has been broken, according to the cheering information in the weather prediction last night of Col. H. B. Hersey, United States Weather Bureau observer for Los Angeles.

"There was a low barometer all along the coast from Oregon to Southern California last month," he said. "There is a high pressure area forming out over the Pacific. When this gets more pronounced our hot spell will be a thing of the past. Even so, the worst is over."

A cool breeze blew in from the ocean shortly after nightfall and gave relief to the city.

September started in with a high temperature yesterday and on the first day registered 92 deg., four less than Saturday. The coolest time of the day was at 5 a.m. with a registration of 70 degrees and 84 per cent humidity.

While the 96 deg. was being registered Saturday the humidity was low, 33 per cent. Yesterday, however, the humidity was 41 per cent during the peak. Sunday was the twentieth straight day to have temperatures above 80 degrees.

At 5 o'clock last evening the temperature had fallen 10 deg. in three hours and the mercury registered 82 with a humidity percentage of 55.

It was 109 at San Bernardino Saturday and 108 at Redlands.

PETITION ADVANCED

The Public Works Committee of the City Council has recommended approval of the petition for the improvement of Burwood avenue at Highgate avenue.

CONVENTION WILL PLAN BEAUTIFUL CEMETERIES

Monumental tombstones will be ordered into the discard here next week when more than 350 members of the Association of American Cemetery Superintendents meet in their forty-third annual convention at the Ambassador.

The organization, one of the oldest of its kind in the country, and recognized as one of three national societies working for the conservation of landscape gardening and promotion of rural art has placed a taboo on unsightly tombstones.

Such is the comment of Frances Gordon, superintendent of Forest Lawn Memorial Park, and officials of the cemetery superintendents' association.

"Cemeteries should be civic assets instead of civic liabilities," Gordon said. "We should strive to improve the cemeteries instead of sticking to the old ideas of such high, unregulated and ungainly sights as monumental markers. The grounds in such a place should be landscape gardens and a place of beauty."

One of the main topics on the convention program will be the creation of modern park plan cemeteries where only small headstone markers will be used, it is stated.

Delegates arriving from the East for the convention, which will last three days, will travel on a special train of the Union Pacific system, reaching Los Angeles Monday. More than 200 members are expected to be on this train.

FOREST NEEDS GET HEARING

National Legislators Told California Situation; Congressional Visitors Leave for Utah

Prefacing an appeal for Federal aid in combating the menace, Supervisor William Mendenhall of Angeles National Forest yesterday completed his outline to three members of the Congressional Subcommittee on Agricultural Appropriations of the history of fires within the reserve.

The major portion of the recital was addressed to Representative L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, chairman of the subcommittee; Representative John N. Sandlin of Louisiana and Dr. John W. Summers of Washington at a conference in the assembly-hall cabin adjacent to the hotel atop Mt. Wilson, Saturday night, and was also heard by Maj. R. Y. Stuart, chief United States Forester, with whom the application for financial help has been filed.

TOUR AT END

Yesterday brought to a close a tour of inspection the committeemen have been making in California and, armed with Mendenhall's data, they left later in the day for Utah and Colorado. Before departing they announced themselves as prepared to receive next November formal requests for appropriations looking to abatement of the fire menace in the eighteen California national forests. In addition to the Representatives, their wives and about forty representatives of civic, State and county interests heard the address.

Mendenhall traced the history of Angeles Forest fires with the help of an eight-foot relief map of the reservation on which were depicted its main canyons, principal peaks and outlook stations. The burned areas were indicated in black.

DISASTER TOLD

"One-third of the acreage in Angeles Forest has been burned over since 1919," said Mendenhall. "Your particular attention is called to the disastrous fire of 1919, which denuded more than 100,000 acres, and to the conflagration of 1924, which seared 80,000 acres," he said.

"Los Angeles county has appropriated $306,000 and has spent $155,000 in addition over this period of time, as against $147,000 appropriated by the Federal government," he continued. "Our carefully compiled figures show that more than $600,000 has been spent from different sources in our effort to control the fire hazard in Angeles Forest. In other words, Mr. Dickinson, we have met the needs on a four-to-one ratio with the government."

EROSION PICTURED

W. C. Loudermilk, who was present with E. I. Kotok, director of the California Forest Experiment Station at Berkeley, pictured the effect of erosion in burned areas. Extensive experiments and tests were made by Mr. Loudermilk in China over a period of five years and the result of this research now is being applied in California. "We learned that the run-off of water from denuded ground is twenty to thirty times in excess of the run-off from covered ground and that erosion in the former case is from fifty to 3000 times greater, depending on the character of the soil," he said.

The party was met at the foot of Mt. Wilson toll road at 8:30 a.m.

BURBANK PILOTS DIE IN NOSE DIVE

Plane Plunges from 2200 Feet Above Ground

Student Thought to Have "Frozen" to Controls

Instructor Tried to Fell Him, Say Witnesses

Dropping like a plummet from an altitude of 2200 feet, two flyers were killed instantly yesterday when their airplane went into a nose-dive while they were soaring over Valhalla Cemetery about two miles west of Burbank. The victims were Arnold V. Geldart, an amateur instructor, 32 years of age, of 530 Parrish Place, Burbank, and Rex Crouse, a student pilot, 18, of 508 East Fourth street, Los Angeles

The fatal plunge occurred at 10:21 a.m., a half-hour after the two had taken off on a practice spin from the airport Geldart recently established in connection with his school of aeronautics at 4412 Victory Boulevard. Just what caused the crash police were unable to determine; but mechanics who examined the wreckage advanced the theory that Crouse probably had "frozen" to the controls in a moment of fear, rendering it impossible for his instructor to maintain command of the ship.

ARNOLD GELDART

TERRIBLE IMPACT

Two boys strolling in the cemetery at the time were eyewitnesses of the tragic dive. They told investigating officers the plane appeared to be flying at top speed when suddenly its nose pointed earthward and it did not waver in its descent to the ground. So forceful was the impact that the bodies of both victims were crushed almost beyond recognition.

The bodies of Geldart and Crouse were taken to the Powell mortuary in Burbank, where an inquest is expected to be conducted tomorrow.

Reports that Crouse had fifty hours of solo flying to his credit were denied by acquaintances who declared he had only recently taken up the study of aviation. Little was known of the youth at the hotel where he had lived for more than a year.

Geldart, however, was a seasoned pilot, having served as a member of the Royal Canadian Flying Corps during the World War, his widow said. He has been employed as a carpenter at First National Studios and, in his spare time, had conducted an aviation school near the scene of the tragedy. A hangar, partly constructed, had been built by him at one side of the field.

Mrs. Geldart denied vigorously the possibility that her husband had been stunting before the crash.

"BLOW ON HEAD"

"He didn't believe in taking unnecessary risks," the widow declared, "least of all when he had a student along. Persons who witnessed the crash told me they were sure it was caused by his student 'freezing' the controls. They also told me that just a few seconds before the plane crashed, they saw my husband standing up in the cockpit, apparently trying to hit Crouse on the head and force him to release his grip on the controls. That is the only way a pilot can regain control of a plane under the circumstances.

CINEMA COLONISTS' WEDDING BRILLIANT

Mary Eaton and Millard Webb

Another motion-picture colony romance culminated yesterday at 4:30 p.m. when Mary Eaton, screen actress, and Millard Webb, film director, were united in marriage at All Souls Congregational Church with Dr. H. C. Culbertson officiating.

Following the ceremony, which was attended by a number of friends and relatives, with Marilyn Miller as maid of honor and three sisters of the bride, Evelyn, Pearl and Doris, and Katherin Robbins as bridesmaids, the wedding party had dinner at the Wilshire-Beverly Hotel. The groom was attended by Robert Webb, with brothers of the bride, Joe and Charles, and Tom Moore, Naco Herb Brown, Ned Marin and William Seiter as ushers.

The bride is a former stage actress in New York and the couple met here on the studio lots. A brief honeymoon will be spent in the East.

TWO KILLED IN TRAFFIC; FOUR HURT

License Plate Torn off by Slain Woman's Dress Aids Hit-run Suspect's Arrest

Two dead and four seriously injured make up the week-end traffic toll, according to police reports. One victim was killed instantly by a hit-and-run driver, while one died last night of injuries received Saturday.

Owen Johnson, 31 years of age, was taken into custody by Lieutenant of Detectives Ed Nolan and charged with being the driver of the car that killed an unidentified woman. The identity of the asserted death car was established when the dress of the victim caught in the license plate and pulled it from the front of the machine.

The broken body of the woman was carried 100 yards on the front of the machine before a bump in the street dislodge it. The license plate was found hooked into the dress worn by the woman.

Detective Nolan immediately traced the license plate as being registered to Johnson, who is an employee of the Bureau of Power and Light and who lives at 703 West Forty-third street. The detective waited two hours before Johnson arrived home. The front of his car bore a dent and the license plate was missing, police reported.

He was taken to Central Police Station and booked on the charge of suspicion of manslaughter. He denied he had struck the woman. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where physicians asserted he had been drinking.

The accident occurred at Fifty-first street and Central avenue. The woman was dead when picked up by witnesses.

The victim was judged to be about 30 years of age. She wore a wedding ring but there was nothing to identify her. The body was taken to the Georgia-street hospital and then transferred to the County Morgue.

Leon Weniger, 20, of 1943 East Forty-seventh street, died yesterday at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, from injuries suffered in a traffic crash Saturday. The young man was employed as a messenger.

He was riding a motorcycle when it collided with an automobile driven by Dr. C. A. Foster, 1276 South Citrus street, at Ninth and Citrus streets. His body was taken to the County Morgue and an inquest will be conducted today.

An inquest also will be conducted today over the body of Mrs. Anna Talbot, 8729 Cedar street, Graham, who was killed Saturday night in a traffic accident.

Manuel Tobin, 9, of 143 East One Hundred and Fourteenth street, suffered injuries which, it is reported, probably will cause his death, when he was struck by one automobile and thrown under the wheels of another at One Hundred and Twelfth and Main streets. The car that knocked the boy down, according to the police report, was driven by E. E. Davis of 1535 West Jefferson street. Hurled to the pavement the youngster was run over by a machine being driven in the opposite direction by Roy F. Weaver of 137 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, police assert. At the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital,

THERE are more towels in the prize-fight ring these days than you can find at a Friday white sale in a department store.

One smack taken by a fighter—his manager nearly wrenches his arm off flinging in the token of surrender. And if the manager is in slow pitching form, the referee stops it.

Most of the modern fighters would benefit by a vacation at the summer Young Men's Christian Association camp in New York, where it has been decided that bugle calls are too rude an awakening: reveille is to be poked out with one finger on a piano.

CHICAS

The only rough stuff now remaining in the world is to be found in flappers. If our chicas ever take it into their heads to become prize fighters, the days of Attila the Hun will fade into pale pink.

SPEED

There is no use denying that modern efficiency has seized our War Department. After only eleven years, they have discovered that some of our soldiers showed great heroism in France. Last Tuesday they handed out some medals.

To any one who knows the record of that buck-passing institution, this bewildering speed is fairly cyclonic.

HYPOCRITICAL

The soviets are appealing to the American Red Cross for help for the starving population of Harbin. Meanwhile they are spending $600,000 in vicious propaganda intended to stir up another revolution in China.

WERE ABE ALIVE

In Freeport, Ill., the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Lincoln-Douglas debates has been celebrated—that historic talkfest to which Douglas rode up in a decorated carriage-and-four and Abe came up straddle of an old mule.

What would it not mean to the world were Lincoln now alive and heading the League of Nations or one of the numerous international courts who are matching their pinhead jealousies?

WHAT'S THE USE!

I can't see what possible reason there is for the city to open an expensive new police station. The Police Commission has so hopelessly tied the hands of the Chief of Police that he cannot function—in any headquarters.

Alexander H. Legge has settled the social disputes of Washington. Leaving Mrs. Gann in imperial sway at the head of the table, he says he is going to eat in the kitchen with the help.

If Mr. Legge's scornful ideas about fried shirts become catching, he will have earned the undying enmity of his country. No one has the right to take the joy out of life: and the spectacle of a lot of hick politicians and their funny wives struggling for the royal prerogatives of precedence at dinner tables is among the few innocent joys that remain to us.

If you have never been to a Congressmen's dinner party and seen the gang jostling and elbowing into the solemn procession that marches into the dining-room you still have something for which to live—and hope.

Collectors for Asserted Liquor Ring Face Quiz Today

FITTS WILL ASK ABOUT DEALINGS

Police Accuser Expected to Continue Story

Reported Confession Now of Great Length

Investigators Make Check of His Charges

Two men, asserted to be collectors for a liquor-protection ring, said to consist of twenty-five Los Angeles police officers, are to be taken to the District Attorney's office today for questioning regarding their dealings with Harry D. McDonald of 206 Gretna street, Whittier, who has named them, along with the officers as part of the asserted antilaw enforcement regime.

At the same time McDonald, who told his first story to Dist.-Atty. Fitts Friday in a statement that consumed more than eight hours, also will be questioned again and continue the narrative that has filled forty-eight closely typed pages.

McDonald stepped into the limelight Friday when, shortly after his arrest, charged with conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, he requested an interview with Dist.-Atty. Fitts and then is asserted to have told the inside story of liquor-traffic protection in Los Angeles.

TOTAL OF SALES

According to McDonald's asserted confession, he has been engaged in illicit liquor traffic in Los Angeles for more than five years and, together with a partner, sold approximately $2,000,000 worth of liquor during that time.

Early in the game, McDonald told the District Attorney, protection was arranged with certain police officers. These officers later increased their demands as "business" increased and finally forced McDonald to purchase liquor from them which had been seized in liquor raids, he asserted. Finally the officers virtualy forced him into bankruptcy with their demands for money, McDonald said, and he decided to tell the story to the District Attorney.

Since McDonald made his first statement, investigators for the District Attorney have been ordered to check his assertions and obtain as much corroboration as possible. Tomorrow, all evidence in the case will be assembled and reviewed, after which the District Attorney will decide whether or not to file complaints or refer the matter to the grand jury for further investigation.

MUCH EVIDENCE

McDonald's statement and the subsequent investigation brought to light the fact that the matter was brought to the attention of authorities nearly a year ago and an exhaustive inquiry was made at that time resulting in the accumulation of a huge file of evidence which is now found to corroborate the new information.

All of this, it is believed, will be placed in the hands of the grand jury for consideration either at a special session Wednesday or at the next regular meeting, which is scheduled for Friday.

Lucky Miner Flies to See Will Rogers

With several bags of gold-bearing ore and high hopes of millions M. B. Dudley, old-time prospector and friend of Will Rogers, humorist, arrived by Transcontinental Air Transport airplane in Los Angeles from Kingman, Ariz., yesterday. Dudley, with "Pap" Duncan, formerly a "cowhand" partner of Rogers, started for Los Angeles with bags of ore they discovered recently in an abandoned mine, but Duncan missed the plane.

Dudley and Duncan recently obtained rights to the old Pilgrim mine, nine miles west of Chloride in the Weaver mining district in Mohave county.

They sank a shaft eighteen feet deep on a 230-foot level that had been abandoned by the original owners. The shaft was aimed in a direction opposite from that which had been mined by the original owners. Ore, they report, was struck.

Dudley will take the specimens to the United States Assayer's office this morning. In the meantime he sought out Will Rogers to tell him of his "luck."

HIGH STAKES IN OIL SUIT

Italo Companies Named Defendants By Action in Which Trial Opens Tomorrow

Thousands of dollars are involved in the suit begun by H. C. Meyer against the Italo American Oil Company, the Italo American Petroleum Company, the Italo Petroleum Corporation and others, which will go to trial tomorrow before Superior Judge Tappaan. A number of cross-complaints which have been filed in the case by the defendants also will be heard.

Meyer's chief complaint is that fraud was practiced by William J. Gorham, R. L. Dubrow, P. P. Tommasini, Paul Masoni, John Perata and C. L. Moore, directors of the Italo American Oil Company.

Meyer asserts that the directors deliberately, with the intent to defraud the Italo American Oil Company, transferred an oil lease on Signal Hill, known as the Wiley Tobin lease, to the Italo American Petroleum Company without any consideration; that later the Italo American Petroleum Company was dissolved by a court order and the Italo Petroleum Company was formed.

ASKS LEASE RETURN

It is the contention of the plaintiff that the stock in the Italo Petroleum Company is now worth $1 a share, due to the value of the Wiley Tobin lease, which it took over when the company was formed. The stock of the Italo American Oil Company, Meyer asserts, is without any value. He asks that the lease be returned to the Italo American Oil Company and that the court order an accounting of the profits derived from it.

Jacob Harper, one of the defendants, has filed a cross-complaint in which he asserts practically the same thing as Meyer. He demands $175,000 damages, contending that he holds that amount of stock in the Italo American Oil Company. W. D. Rorex, making the same accusations, asks $80,000 damages.

DEFENDANTS ANSWER

The defendants in their answer to the action deny any fraud was practiced. They hold that Meyer, E. P. Zanetti, Harper and Rorex plotted to disorganize the Italo American Oil Company. They attempted, it is asserted, to form a new company in which the oil company was to put $600,000, while they were to furnish oil leases. In return they were to get 1,250,000 shares of stock. Later it was discovered the leases were worthless, they contend.

The directors declare that they then made another deal whereby the Wiley Tobin lease was transferred to the Italo American Petroleum Company for a valuable consideration.

AMBULANCE PHYSICIANS SAVE TWO

Surgeons Sent on Calls Credited With Rescue of Women by First Aid

The wisdom of placing doctors on all outgoing ambulances from police stations was demonstrated twice yesterday when the lives of two women probably were saved, according to the report of Police Surgeon Dodge of the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The first case was that of Mrs. Catherine Dee, 904 East Fifteenth street, who severed an artery while trying to open a jar of preserves. In the past it had been the custom to take victims of accidents to the hospital where medical aid was rendered. But yesterday Dr. Elmer Degero, police surgeon, accompanied the ambulance and was able to give instant aid upon his arrival at Mrs. Dee's home.

An hour later the life of Mrs. Cora Steurer, 1107 Rowan street, probably was saved through the first-aid treatment Dr. Dodge rendered following a call that the woman had taken poison. Mrs. Steuer admitted to the police she had swallowed seventeen poison tablets. Had medical aid been delayed fifteen minutes longer she would have died, the doctors assert. Her condition is considered critical.

Last Rites for Mrs. Whittlesey Set Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth A. Whittlesey, widow of Dr. R. T. Whittlesey, once well-known physician of Los Angeles, who died of heart disease Saturday, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon from Garret Brothers' Mortuary.

Mrs. Whittlesey came to Los Angeles with her husband in 1886. She took an active part in church and sorority affairs and was a charter member of the Woman's City Club. At the time of her death she was secretary of the King's Daughters Day Nursery and treasurer of the King's Daughters' Home for the Aged.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Cecil N. Rosenthal, a son, Glenn T. Whittlesey; four sisters and two brothers.

The funeral services will be at 2 p.m.

HOTEL PAIR DIVORCED

May Petros, owner of a hotel, was granted a divorce from James A. Petros by Superior Judge Lamberson after the wife testified that Petros choked and beat her. Mrs. Petros declared that on July 30, last, her husband attempted to beat her to death, but was prevented in doing so by one of the guests in her hotel. The couple were married ten months ago, according to the complaint. A decree was granted.

FOREST NEEDS GIVEN HEARING

yesterday by a delegation from San Bernardino county headed by Francis Cuttle, president of the Tri-Counties Conservation Association of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties. Conducted by mounted motor patrolmen the caravan visited San Dimas, where the Congressional committeemen were shown an orange orchard that had been ruined by erosion from the denuded watershed of the mountains; Claremont, where the women of the party were presented with boxes of oranges; and then on to Riverside and San Bernardino, where the Congressional members of the party boarded the train for Salt Lake City.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

Representative Crail, Representative Evans, Supervisor H. L. McClelland, Spence D. Turner, county forester; H. S. Gilman and D. I. Huff, members of the State Board of Forestry; L. H. Anderson, supervisor of Cleveland National Forest, and S. A. Nash-Boulden, supervisor of Santa Barbara National Forest; E. I. Kotok, director of the California forest experiment station at Berkeley; E. E. Carter, assistant forester, Washington; W. I. Hutchinson, assistant district forester of California and tour manager of the party while in this state.

J. S. Bright, construction engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads of San Francisco; F. E. Wadsworth, superintendent of recreation of Los Angeles county; J. H. Stace and Paul Gray, representing the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; Dr. George P. Clements of the agricultural department of the chamber; W. S. Rosecrans, chairman of the forestry committee of the chamber and president of the Los Angeles County Conservation Association; F. E. Graham of Pomona, William Starke, superintendent of the San Bernardino Municipal Water Department; George H. Cecil, manager of the safety and fire department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; Harold I. Cruzan, vice-president of the Los Angeles County Conservation Association; Sam Morris, superintendent of Pasadena City Water Department, and R. L. Deering, assistant district forester of San Francisco.

THREE DEAD IN AUTO MISHAPS

Tobin was found to have suffered internal injuries and a broken right thigh. Neither driver was held.

Mrs. Vivian Marwich of San Francisco, visiting in Los Angeles, faces the loss of her left hand as the result of an automobile accident last night. The car in which she was riding collided with one driven by Mrs. Mary Rosendrum, 223 South Catalina avenue. Both cars were wrecked. Mrs. Markwich was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where physicians prepared to amputate her arm. Mrs. Markwich was visiting Mrs. Aileen Hyatt, 659 South Main street.

Perfecto Corresco, 109 South Arizona street, suffered a fractured skull when knocked down by a car at Second and Kearn streets last night. The car was driven by Lloyd White, 2202 Commonwealth street.

A. F. Rehunk, 106 South Sipers street, may die from injuries he received when his car collided with another at Third and Lorraine streets last night. The other car was driven by Arthur Magel, 350 South Gramercy street.

Senator Pittman Flies Back East After Short Stay

United States Senator Key Pittman of Nevada who made a flying trip to Los Angeles from Kansas City last week, toured Southern California for thirty-six hours and then engaged passage yesterday by air for Washington, D.C. The Senator is a member of several important committees and came to California to confer with Representative James of Michigan pertaining to appropriations for airports on the Western Coast.

Senator Pittman will transfer from a Western Air Express plane at Kansas City for another plane that will land him in Chicago. Passage from Chicago to Washington will be made by railroad.

CUSTOMER TURNS BANDIT

After drinking a soda a bandit produced a revolver, held up J. R. Steitz in his grocery at 412 East Twenty-fifth street and robbed him of $30, Steitz reported to police late Saturday night. The bandit fled in an automobile he had left in front of the store.

STEUER WILL AID MRS. PANTAGES

Noted Lawyer Confers With Los Angeles Attorneys

Murder Case Revelations May Be Startling

Both Sides Declare They Have New Evidence

Max Steuer, New York criminal attorney, brought here to assist in the defense of Mrs. Lois Pantages on murder charges, which will go on trial tomorrow morning in Superior Judge Hardy's court, will spend today in conferences with W. I. Gilbert and Joseph Ford, the other defense counsel. Steuer, who arrived by air Saturday, will, together with Mrs. Pantages and her other lawyers, go over every phase of the case during the day.

And in the meantime, Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones, who will lead the prosecution, together with a number of District-Attorney detectives, are putting the final touches to their case in the seclusion of a near-by mountain resort. The two prosecutors will not return to the District Attorney's office until just before the trial tomorrow morning.

NEW TESTIMONY

On the eve of the trial both sides claim startling new testimony with the District Attorney announcing about twenty witnesses and the defense countering with the same number. Two to three weeks will be needed to get all of the testimony before the jury, according to both sides.

Mrs. Pantages, who is expected to go on the stand in her own defense, is expected to base her story on an asserted nervous disorder which, it is said, will be blamed for her condition when her automobile crashed into a second car driven by Joe Rokumoto, a Japanese, and killed him.

The prosecution asserts that its witnesses will testify that Mrs. Pantages was intoxicated at the time of the accident and had driven into three other automobiles before the fatal crash.

No official statement was forthcoming from the Pantages camp yesterday, but Attorney Gilbert declared that his client is ready for trial. "There are two sides to all cases," declared Gilbert. "We will put a number of witnesses on the stand that have not, as yet, been heard from. I feel that when the public hears our side of the case it will be a different story."

ALL WERE INJURED

According to the transcripts of the preliminary hearing Mrs. Pantages, who was arrested on June 16, drove her automobile into the side of a light car operated by Joe Rokumoto, at Sunset Boulevard and Serrano street. In the car with Rokumoto was his wife and two small children, another Japanese woman and her two children. All were injured and Rokumoto died several days later.

Witness after witness went on the stand and testified that Mrs. Pantages was driving at a high rate of speed and had struck several other cars before the fatal accident. One witness told of having urged Mrs. Pantages to leave her automobile following one of the early accidents. The wife of the theater magnate was held to answer after the hearing when no defense was offered to the charges.

At 1 p.m. today and every day this week, just prior to the opening of the show, will be held free of charge in Ambassador Hotel Theater a program by radio entertainers, calculated to put the audiences on intimate terms with the broadcast artists.

Similar programs are to be given in the auditorium throughout every afternoon and night. It is estimated 2000 different entertainers will take to the stages before the show closes six nights later.

LURE OF RADIO

Whether one is "radio-minded" or not, the show, it is declared, holds forth an appeal. Put on by the Radio Trades Association of Southern California, it is calculated to make radio fans out of the "raw material." One association man said it will be impossible to attend the show without becoming interested, at least to some extent, in radio.

If receiving sets fail to exercise an appeal, there are countless scientific devices, ways to make or project talking pictures, radio machines for curing ills, exhibits which date back to the early days of radio and vistas and backgrounds which, in themselves, have an enchantment for the average onlooker.

NEW ENGLAND GROUP TO HAVE MAPLE SYRUP

Maple syrup from the sugar fields of Vermont will be served several thousand New Englanders tomorrow at a picnic of the New England States Society at Sycamore Grove Park. The morning hours will be devoted to registering and the afternoon given over to a program which will include community singing led by H. J. Brubaker and cornet solos by Miss Mary Harvey. All visiting New Englanders are invited to attend.

FUGATE WILL APPEAR IN COURT TOMORROW

James B. Fugate, formerly postmaster at Chino, will appear tomorrow before United States District Judge James for trial on a charge of converting $684.50 of postoffice funds to his own use. It was intimated yesterday that the defendant may change his plea, instead of going to trial. He is at liberty on bail.

Welcome---September!

A New Season
at A Newer Broadway

AUTUMN—California's Second Spring — bringing fresh activities and ideas — finds ready expression in every corner of the store—

For The Broadway too is bursting forth upon a new period in its life and growth—

Quickening the spirit—creating an atmosphere spreading far beyond its walls.

Physical improvements—yes—new facades, broad entrances, modern windows, increases in space, thoughtful rearrangement of departments—

Physical changes which impressively evidence the fact that though The Broadway grows older in years it is dominated by a youthful spirit content only with pushing on to fuller accomplishment.

So it is that The Newer Broadway welcomes September, "Fresh with all the newness of a California Autumn."

HIGHLY endorsed by the Post-Office Department and quickly adopted by ever alert and efficient Big Business, the Continental Postage Meter machine is fast proving its value to Small Business as well. "Anyone whose daily mailings average one hundred pieces, or even less, can use this machine with profit," says Wm. H Carter, Director of Sales for the Continental Postage Meters Corporation. "There are now more than seventy-five hundred of the machines contracted for."

At a speed of from 150 to 200 pieces per minute the Continental Postage Meter prints indicia (postage, origin, and date of mailing), seals the envelope and counts the postage used at each mailing. The metered mail goes direct to the distributors, thus avoiding that "bottle neck" of Post-Office service, the cancelling machine. Obviously, much time is saved all along the line . . . . often a very important consideration; the mail is neater in appearance; and possibility of loss through carelessness with or pilfering of stamps or stamped envelopes is completely eliminated.

STATE NEAR END IN TORSO TRIAL

Will Testify on Signature of Mrs. Sutton

Defense Maintains Death of Woman Unproved

With the testimony tomorrow of J. Clark Sellers, handwriting expert, concerning signatures represented to be those of Laura B. Sutton, asserted "torso" murder victim, and handwriting on a number of documents introduced in evidence against Dr. Frank P. Westlake, the prosecution is expected to bring to a close its case against the elderly retired physician, accused of murdering his sweetheart.

Continued last Friday until tomorrow by Superior Judge Wood, the trial of Dr. Westlake now is in its second week. According to Assistant Chief Deputy District-Attorney [illegible], and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman, conducting the prosecution, the death penalty will be sought in the event of the doctor's conviction.

Throughout the trial the prosecution has been engaged in weaving a web of circumstantial evidence around the doctor in an attempt to link him with the assumed death of Mrs. Sutton, who disappeared the latter part of last March.

Declaring that it is not at all improbable that the woman is still alive and in hiding, bearing out her reported intention to go away where she would not be found, Defense Attorney Kendrick is expected to place Dr. Westlake on the stand to refute the charges against him.

The doctor, who was engaged in laundry work at the time he was charged with the killing, is asserted to have slain Mrs. Sutton in order to obtain her estate, severing the limbs and head from her body. A torso and later a head, declared to belong to the woman, were found in the Los Angeles River bed.

Value of the imports for August, 1929, was $5,202,900, compared with $4,312,730 for August, 1928.

A material increase also was noticeable in exports from the ports. The value of exports for August, 1929, was $12,974,751, compared with [illegible] for August, 1928.

Shipments to Hawaii were valued at [illegible] for August, 1929, compared with $731,306 for August, 1928. Shipments to Alaska were valued at [illegible] for this August and at $42,-[illegible] for August, 1928.

Customs collections for this August amounted to $807,826.46; in August, 1928, the collections were [illegible].

HUSBAND ACCUSED OF STEPPING OUT

WIFE IN DIVORCE PLEA SAYS HE TOOK TRIP WITH ANOTHER WOMAN

Evidence that her husband, Clement Duncan, head of the Clem Duncan Company, owners of a machine shop at [illegible] South Main street, made an overnight trip to the San [illegible] Mountains in company with Mrs. [illegible] Thorkilson and two other men and a woman was offered by Mrs. Lillian Duncan at the hearing on her petition for a divorce held before Superior Judge [illegible]. Both Duncan and the woman appeared in court to deny the accusations of the wife. At the close of the hearing Mrs. Duncan was granted a decree.

Both Duncan and Mrs. Thorkilson admitted that such a trip was taken to look at a mine, but denied there had been any improper conduct. Mrs. Thorkilson testified that she and the other woman occupied a room by themselves while the men spent the night in the large living-room of the cabin.

Duncan did not cross-complaint, merely filing an answer denying the allegations made by Mrs. Duncan. The couple married on February [illegible], and separated on March [illegible]. The have one child, Kenneth Duncan, 4 years of age.

ROGERS? THEY "KNEW HIM WHEN"

Humorist's Early-Day Employers Call

Mr. and Mrs. George Wirth

"THE Cherokee Kid" may not remind present readers of Will Rogers, but that was the way the humorist was booked in his earlier barnstorming days, particularly in Australia. At least, that is what George Wirth said on his arrival on the Dollar liner President Adams yesterday from New York.

"Will Rogers was in our circus in Australia in 1904 and 1905. He was twirling his rope and talking. Folks couldn't understand his act very well in those days and I believe some of his stuff is still going over the heads of a lot of his listeners and readers."

Mr. and Mrs. Wirth expect to call on Rogers, whom they have not seen since he was in their circus. The Wirth circus, by the way, is celebrating the fiftieth year of its founding. It is declared to have given the American circus much of its character and given America May (Martin) Wirth, whose horseback-and-singing act has been an Orpheum feature many years. She is a niece of the four brothers who started the circus, of whom only two survive.

Incidentally, the Wirth circus seems a forerunner of wars. While in South Africa the Jamieson uprising broke out. The circus visited there again just as the Boer War started. The show was caught in a Peruvian fiasco and another in Trinidad and was in London when the World War broke out. It is a large outfit and employs the year around more than 500 persons, many from America.

NEW HOTELS PLANNED BY BUS LINES

Pickwick Announces That It Will Spend Millions on Its Own Terminals

Increased travel on Pickwick, Yelloway, Southern Pacific Motor Transport and affiliated motor stage lines throughout the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain territory during recent months has resulted in speeding up of plans for construction of new hotel terminals, depots, garages, shops and other operating facilities, it was announced yesterday by Charles F. Wren, president of the Pickwick Corporation.

The third of Pickwick's chain of hotel terminals was opened at El Paso, Tex., on August 16, and work is expected to start this fall on a similar structure to contain 200 rooms, at Eureka, Cal. The company has had its own hotel terminals at San Diego and San Francisco for several days.

The Knox Hotel, the new Pickwick terminal at El Paso, was erected at a cost of $325,000. Projected plans for the Eureka hotel terminal provide for a building to cost about $500,000.

Pickwick opened a new depot at Santa Maria last July 1, and on August 1 moved into a new depot at Ventura. In Sacramento, the Pickwick Stages headquarters recently were moved from the former location to the union station of the California Transit Company, whose lines were included in the recent country-wide motor bus merger.

In Kansas City, executive headquarters for the Pickwick Greyhound Lines, Inc., Pickwick interests are erecting a $4,500,000 hotel terminal.

Rare Violins Thief's Prize

Two violins valued at $2100 were obtained by burglars in a residence at 1047 South Westlake street late Saturday night, the owner, A. B. Hellauer, a music teacher, reported to police yesterday.

Entrance was effected through an unlocked front door.

NEGRO WAITRESS TO SERVE TERM IN JAIL

Elsie Lamella, 20-year-old negro waitress at the Green Parrot, a "black-and-tan" cafe at 1318 East Vernon street, was sentenced to serve thirty-five days in jail by Municipal Judge Sheldon, following her conviction on charge of sale and possession of liquor. Deputy City Prosecutor Kaufman called as his witnesses Police Officers Johnson, Hoy and McMullen, who testified that they purchased a half pint of moonshine liquor from the woman for $1.25 at midnight on July 25, last.

SHRINERS TO HAVE OUTING NEXT MONTH

Barbecue and Ceremonial Will be Conducted at Park in Orange County

Shriners of Southern California will hold a barbecue and outdoor ceremonial at Irvine Park, Orange county, on October 5, according to an announcement yesterday by Le-Roy M. Edwards, Illustrious Potentate of Al Malaikah Temple. The order for this outdoor event is the first in some years.

A series of free entertainments to be given thrice monthly for Shriners and members of their families are being arranged, and special events for organizations within Al Malaikah Temple are being worked out by committees. The Thursday weekly luncheons held at the Biltmore will be resumed on the 26th inst.

Several hundred candidates are expected to be taken into the organization at the outdoor meet. The Shrine Club of Orange county will be host.

The Shriners will form a motor caravan at the end of the Whittier Boulevard street car line at 10 a.m. and proceed to Santa Ana, will parade around the place where Potentate Edwards was born, and then continue on to Irvine Park, formerly Orange County Park.

At specified places along the line of the caravan, members of Shrine clubs from surrounding towns will join the Los Angeles Shriners.

GUEST RANCHO PLANS LAID

Tract in Santa Monica Mountains Acquired By Sponsors of Ramona Village

Eight hundred acres in the Santa Monica Mountains have been taken over by the sponsors of Ramona Village as the site for a guest ranch to be known as Rancho de Ramona, it was announced yesterday. As in Ramona Village, all buildings of the ranch will be redolent of the atmosphere of the early days of California, it is said. Definite plans for the establishment and conduct of the ranch have not yet been completed.

Another project to be sponsored by Ramona Village is the formation of a Ramona Village supper club which will meet every Saturday night in pueblos now being built. Membership will be by invitation only and it is planned to include the representatives of the old families of the State in the membership.

As a feature of the fall activities of Ramona Village, tentative plans are being considered for the holding of an international exposition of horsemanship, with cowboy riders and ropers participating from all the Western States, Old Mexico and Southern American countries.

It was said that the new board of directors of Ramona Village will include three prominent local business men in addition to the present directors, Robert E. Callahan, O. J. Boos, Judge Rex B. Goodcell, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Frank Tenney Johnson and L. E. Behymer.

Peterson Quits Federal Post

Ames Peterson, First Assistant United States Attorney, has presented his resignation to U. S. Atty. McNabb, the resignation to take effect today.

Mr. Peterson during his four years in the United States Attorney's office has appeared in some of the most important cases handled during that period. Among the cases he prosecuted was that against E. G. Lewis, promoter of Atascadero, now serving a seven-year sentence at McNeil prison.

It was stated by Mr. Peterson that he will enter private practice of law.

ASSESSMENTS APPROVED

The City Council has approved the assessment district map for the improvement of One Hundred and Twentieth street between Avalon Boulevard and Western avenue.

DAVIS ACQUIRES HISTORIC STUDIO

Ambassador at Culver City to be Renovated

Purchased at Price Said to Exceed $100,000

Thirty Pictures Scheduled for Production

The historic Ambassador studio at Culver City, where many of the film stars made their debut before the camera, has passed into possession of J. Charles Davis II, president of the J. Charles Davis Productions, for a sum slightly in excess of $100,000, Davis has announced. The studio occupies a site of two acres on a triangle bounded by Venice Boulevard, Durango street and National Boulevard, and is midway between the M.-G.-M. and the Hal Roach studios.

The purchase was made from the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Company of Los Angeles, owner of the property. The name will be changed immediately to the J. Charles Davis Productions studio. Mr. Davis said he will spend $50,000 in renovations and in installing sound-recording rooms and other facilities talking pictures require. On the property at present is a stage capable of accommodating four units at one time and an exceptionally large outdoor stage. There are several tiers of dressing-rooms, a projection building and administrative offices, the latter facing on Venice Boulevard. Directly back of these is a large swimming pool.

Mr. Davis said he will produce thirty pictures in the 1929-1930 season. These will consist of four superspecials and twenty-six westerns and outdoor features.

The Davis Productions have as stars Marilyn Mills, horse show woman, with her equine favorites, Star and Beverly; Yakima Canutt, five-time rodeo champion and winner of the Theodore Roosevelt Trophy for dare-deviltry in riding; Art Mix, Canadian cowboy; Buff Jones, lariat expert and rodeo winner, and Art Acord, also a rodeo champion.

Davis, whose headquarters at present are in the Fowler studio in Hollywood, will move into his new home within ten days.

CITY CAR USE LOOKED INTO

A further investigation into the use of a large sedan assigned to the city mothers by the City Council some years ago has been decided by the Police Commission, following a report by Capt. E. M. Slaughter of the crime-prevention bureau that Mrs. Aletha Gilbert used it more for private than department use before her retirement on August 27.

President Thorpe of the commission contends that since the machine was assigned to the city mothers it should be retained for their use. The other commissioners, however, favor going into the matter further, following Capt. Slaughter's statement that the city mothers do not use a car for their official duties more than nine times a month and the department can furnish a car on those occasions. He wants it assigned to the department for general use in police work.

Hollywood to Count Aliens

Believing that Hollywood will be revealed as the most cosmopolitan city of the world, plans are being made for a survey of the foreign population of the film capital under the supervision of Harry M. Baine, president of the Hollywood Boulevard Association.

Col. Baine's plan is to have a check made of the Hollywood motion-picture studios, stores, apartment-houses and organizations to determine just what percentage of the population is of foreign nativity.

The survey was inspired by the fact that dress designs in Hollywood are said to reflect the influence of nearly every country on the globe.

Liquor Arrest Delays Plans for Honeymoon

Lawrence Labell, 28 years of age, of 3310 Ramona Boulevard, had his wedding involuntarily postponed Saturday. Lawrence made the mistake of picking Police Officers Williams and Wheeler as customers for two quarts of gin, which the officers reported he sold them for $10 last Thursday. Officer Englund, who searched the car in which the delivery was made, found eight more quarts of gin, he reported.

Labell was unable to make the $1500 bail which Municipal Judge Bogue set as the price of liberty when he pleaded not guilty to charges of sale, possession and transportation of liquor and the wedding will not be celebrated until after Labell's trial, nor for some time later unless he is acquitted.

The defendant told officers, they reported, that he is not as badly off as he might be, as he is to be paid $5 for each day he is forced to spend in jail. He expects the payment due on his release to provide ample funds for a lengthy honeymoon, he declared.

GRADING PETITIONED

The City Council has referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee petitions from property owners asking for the grading, paving and ornamental lighting of Glendon avenue between Wilshire Boulevard and Wellworth avenue.

BOULEVARD WIDENING APPROVED

Supervisors Appropriate Funds for Improvement of Harbor Highway

Widening of pavement of Harbor Boulevard from the point where it intersects Riverside-Redondo Boulevard south to Wilmington is provided for in an appropriation of $260,000 voted by the Board of Supervisors.

Funds for the improvement will be available from the county's portion of the State gasoline tax, it was stated. The plan calls for widening of the pavement in the area affected from a minimum of eighteen feet to forty feet.

Supervisor Shaw, who sponsored the improvement, sees in it an additional outlet for the constantly growing stream of traffic between Los Angeles and the Harbor District.

"Harbor Boulevard is the oldest main artery between Los Angeles and the harbor and at present the most neglected," said Shaw. "Traffic from Figueroa street and South Broadway empties into it and the present narrow strip of pavement is not sufficient to handle it. The traffic capacity of the boulevard practically will be doubled when the improvement is completed."

LICENSING JOB HALF FINISHED

Drivers Display Smartness in Eligibility Test

Col. Snook Gives Credit to Psychology

Penalties Soon to be Fixed for Delinquents

Chalk up another score for Ol' Man Psychology.

Two months ago he joined the working forces of the State Motor Vehicle Department, and, although his name does not appear on the department pay roll, Col. Frank G. Snook, chief of the department, says he pulled the whole works out of a rather bad hole.

For it was Psychology—with a capital P, that made a State-wide success of the Motor Vehicle Department's huge job of examining more than 2,000,000 California motorists for their new drivers' licenses, Col. Snook admitted on his visit to Los Angeles last week.

"The new motor vehicle law, which went into effect on August 14, made it mandatory for all motorists whose licenses were issued prior to 1927 to take an examination and obtain a new card," the colonel explained. "It was therefore up to this department to prepare for that examination and carry out the big job of testing the driving ability of more than 2,000,000 men and women in the State.

CREDITS PSYCHOLOGY

"It was decided that a list of twenty-four questions, some of them easy and some quite otherwise, should be prepared and that the applicants should be required to answer a certain percentage of these questions correctly before obtaining their new card. Well—we drew up the questions and they were submitted to me for approval.

"One brief look at that questionnaire and I threw up my hands. 'They'll scare the average motorist to death and we will have to go out in the highways and byways of the State and forcibly round them up,' I told the boys in the department. I figured that a long list of questions would have a bad effect on the motorists and that our job would be a tough one to say the least.

"But I reckoned without psychology. For it was just that which made the big job comparatively easy. And here is how it worked out. The average human is usually proud of his knowledge of things and events of his nation's and his State's laws. He likes to let the other fellow know that he knows things, and he also likes to prove to himself that he is smart.

POLICE PRAISED

"And that last trait is what did the trick. Mr. and Mrs. Motorist, along with all the Misses Motorists, flocked to the nearest available place and tackled the questionnaire with avidity. They wanted to test for their own satisfaction, their knowledge of the California State Motor Vehicle Law. That is why the job is now more than half completed."

Col. Snook paid a glowing tribute to the various police departments of the State, and to other agencies that assisted in the work of examining and licensing motorists in their respective communities. Without their work, he said, the job would have been twice as difficult for the department.

The final day set by law for motorists to take the examination and obtain new drivers' licenses was August 14, but the task was not completed in that time. Motorists were urged, however, by local officials of the department, to make haste in complying with the new law.

PENALTIES SOON

"No penalty has been attached to those who have applied after the date set by law, nor will any penalty be exacted against those who apply during the next week," James Butler of the local branch, said yesterday. "But the time limit is fast approaching and it will not be long before orders are issued, penalizing motorists who delay in obtaining their new drivers' licenses. Under the law, every motorist, who, since August 14, has driven his car with only a license dated prior to 1927 as his safeguard, has been violating that law and is subject to arrest. But no arrests will be made for the present, the department desiring to give every motorist an opportunity to comply," Mr. Butler said.

He estimated that approximately 1,300,000 new licenses have been issued to date and that approximately 1,600,000 more will be issued before the big job is completed.

Fire Protection to be Discussed

Because Mayor Porter has disapproved the appropriation of $50,000 for fire stations at Reseda and Owensmouth, the City Council has decided to conduct a meeting of the Committee of the Whole to take up the matter of providing fire protection for the western part of the San Fernando Valley.

In his veto message the Mayor said he believes $25,000 should be transferred from the Permanent Improvement Fund for the construction of one station at Reseda to serve the needs of the valley.

WIFE SAYS MATE NAGGED

Once a week Max Kulpinski searched his home thoroughly and systematically seeking letters he believed his wife was receiving from other men, Mrs. Pearl Kulpinski testified when asking Superior Judge Comstock to grant her a divorce. The wife also declared that her husband refused to let her attend church affairs and made life miserable for her with his nagging whenever she received any telephone calls or entertained friends at the home. The decree was granted.

SIGNALS ASKED

City Engineer Shaw has asked the City Council to appropriate $830 for the installation of traffic signals at the intersection of Pasadena avenue and Avenue 19, in accordance with the request of the Automobile Club of Southern California. He also asked for authority to round off the corners by cutting back the curbing and paving the resultant increase to the roadway.

LABOR DAY WILL HAVE ITS RADIO

Most of Stations to Give Full Programs

KHJ Plans Jamboree for Chasing Blues

KEJK Will Offer Comedy By English Team

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Most of the radio stations here will observe Labor Day with their regular program hours on the air. Only two stations have reported an abbreviated schedule.

KNX plans to broadcast from 10:30 a.m. to noon, commencing again at 2 p.m. until 1 a.m. tomorrow. KFWB intends to go on the air at 1:30 p.m. with baseball, until the game ends, and again from 6:30 p.m. until midnight. Other stations report they will observe their usual hours on the air.

JAMBOREE NIGHT

Don Lee's KHJ will be on deck tonight to chase away blue Monday with the jamboree, from 8 to 10 p.m. Musically, the latest tunes and novel arrangements of old favorites will be heard, as well as a few comedy surprises featuring Pedro and others.

Between 8 and 10 p.m. KTM will offer the studio dance band with Hale Hooper, balladist; Fred Packard, tenor, and Polly Hall, accompanist; the instrumental quintet, and the studio concert ensemble.

KEJK, Beverly Hills, offers at 8:30 o'clock "This and That," billed as an English comedy team, followed with an hour in tin pan alley, featuring the dance orchestra and local composers of popular tunes.

RETURNS TO RADIO

George Lipschultz, violin soloist, who has not appeared on a local station for several years, will be heard via KFI at 7 p.m., with Robert Hurd, tenor, and Zhay Clark, harp soloist. The same station at 10 o'clock will present the concert orchestra in a comic opera album with Eva Olivotti, soprano.

KMTR from 7 to 8 p.m. will broadcast from the Radio Show with the Marimba Symphony directed by Paul Finstein, music director of the station. Arturo De Palma will act as tenor soloist. Some of the numbers will be: "Paso Doble," "Ojos Tristes," "Clavelitos," "La Guapa," "La Violetera" and "Manolos y Manolos."

COAST STATIONS PETITION COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive.)—Radio Commission petitions include the following from Pacific Coast points: KUJ, Longview, Wash., asks for power increase from 10 to 100 watts; KVI, near Des Moines, Wash., asks permission to install new equipment with maximum power of five kilowatts; Earl Stanford Ricker, Pasadena, Cal., asks permission for new station, using 740-kilocycle band, one kilowatt, unlimited time; John Wesley Hancock, Santa Ana, Cal., requests new-station permit, using 1500 kilocycles, 100 watts and certain specified hours of operation. He formerly owned KWTC, which was reported sold some months ago to the Pacific-Western Broadcasting Federation.

Today's Bible Text

"Let no man deceive you with vain words; for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience." Ephesians v:6.

THE YALE LOCK

In the recent ring battle Yale Okun appeared to have the best of it against the New Jersey Braddock in the light-heavies. It sounds like a spat between Yale and Princeton and this time Eli was on top.

THE BUTTINSKI

The barber explains to the customer in the end chair that a kibitzer is a sort of a back-seat driver in a pinochle game. At any rate he is always ready with instruction and advice—even if he doesn't expect it to be needed.

SWEET STUFF

Americans ate up more than $400,000,000 worth of candy last year at wholesale prices. This in face of the fact that chocolate creams are not on the Hollywood diet. The tired business man of the nation is building up a sweet tooth.

RUNS THE TOWN

In a distant town the village doctor is also the local lawyer and on Sunday he fills a pulpit as an ordained preacher. He has had full training for all three professions and fills them with ability. Needless to say he is a Scotchman. Anyhow, he is not letting anything get away.

SPARE THE ROD

Woman who spanked a neighbor's child for invading her yard and stealing fruit was arrested and fined for assault. Nowadays the wight who touches a kid save in the way of kindness not only gets beaten up by the crowd, but is lambasted by the courts. The angel child may not even be reprimanded.

BIG FAMILIES

Three brothers all celebrated their golden weddings at one time and they reported a total of forty-five children between them. This was an average of fifteen offspring to the family, which may be said to be rather ambitious as families in this country go. The name is not likely to run out for a few thousand years.

THE OWL AND LARK

Our owl and lark courts are now definitely established by act of the Legislature and are working nicely. The owl court runs from eight in the evening to one in the morning, while the lark section begins to administer justice at 7 a.m. Amateur offenders who wish their sins ironed out in a hurry find this a great accommodation.

THE MANILA MARKET

Three different trade lines are now running their ships regularly between Los Angeles and Manila. The Filipinos are eager for our merchandise and we are always ready to give the Manila boxers a chance to exhibit their wares in the ring. Everybody is getting chummy. The Filipino boys are handy with their fins. They may not be massive guys, but they are quick and they can hit.

FINE-CUT FOR BABIES

Mention is made of a 3-year-old child in Denver who has been brought up to use tobacco for medicinal purposes. The strange idea prevailed that if the kid could use strong tobacco it would gain strength of its own. They say that is what happened. The child now puffs a mean pipe. Also kiddie can chew plug tobacco on occasion. Thus proving that to keep up with the rising generation it is necessary to watch its smoke.

TRICKY TALK

An Indiana doctor who paid $175,000 for a lot of desert land supposed to be within range of the Colorado River improvement is now trying to get some of his money back. He finds that the land was bought from the railroad company for 50 cents an acre and is so far from everything that it can never be irrigated or improved. There are other victims of flamboyant promises who may never make their plight known. Men who buy lands in the Colorado-dam sector would do well to live on them a year before making the first payment. Then they would know a lot.

THE RADIO SHOW

Predictions made a couple of years ago that radio receiving sets were on the verge of being standardized and that little more remained to be discovered, will be recalled with amusement when the seventh annual radio show opens its doors today. The improvements in that time have been startling and many of them have been marketed for the first time within the year, so that this year, as in years before, the show really has something new to offer. Not much that is new in principle, but variations in the applications of principle, new developments and new arrangements, new tone quality, simplifications and advances in sturdiness and dependability, will be in the booths.

The principal value of merchandise show is the grouping in a compact space of the best the market has to offer so that comparisons may be made with the least difficulty. At the radio show there is the additional advantage of explanation by technical experts, valued by most radio enthusiasts.

Los Angeles is the biggest radio center west of Chicago and 63 per cent of all the receiving sets in California are in its immediate vicinity, which is one of the reasons why efforts are made by manufacturers, jobbers and dealers to make sure that the show here shall be first rate. The Radio Trades Association, which conducts the show, promises that this one will surpass its predecessors.

One of the expanded items this year is space. The tented annexes will be larger and better arranged for easy ingress and egress. There also will be more entertainment and more variety. Eighteen different broadcasting stations will be represented by artists and many favorites of the air will be present in person. There will be talking-picture artists and phonograph artists on the program for the first time, because of the close linking that has come about recently between radio and these other entertainment forms. The methods of sound reproduction now used in pictures were taken directly from the developments of the radio and phonograph fields and these have become allied arts to radio.

Even with space enlarged by a third there has been a clamor for space, the managers announce, reporting that the regular capacity of the Ambassador auditorium was taken up four months ago and all the added space two months ago. Every booth will be occupied either by a manufacturer, a jobber or a retailer.

Radio has unquestionably become big business, and if the radio shows of the past seven years have not been sufficient to prove the fact, that of 1929 will hammer it home.

THE INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

Labor Day is, appropriately, made an occasion for industrial stock taking throughout the country. And, as Los Angeles continues to be the white spot of the country commercially speaking, similarly its industrial condition compares more than favorably with that of like areas throughout the United States.

To a greater extent than many realize, both facts are due to the open-shop conditions which have been maintained here in the face of years of intensive effort to unionise Los Angeles. Industry here is prosperous because it is free; business is prosperous because industry is so. There are other contributing causes, of course, but there is none of greater importance.

The recent report of the Federal Department of Labor shows the majority of Southern California factories, especially those in and near Los Angeles, running with full shifts in nearly every instance. With the exception of those areas where automobile fabrication constitutes the principal industry, no better showing is made anywhere within the compass of the department's investigations.

Skilled labor is in demand here, according to the report. A slight shortage of machine men, tool and die workers is noted. Harvesting and canning activities took up most of the slack among the unskilled.

The only skilled laborers in California not absorbed are in the building trades. The lull in real estate may account for it. However, a lull often precedes a period of exceptional activity.

July employment, according to the State Department of Industrial Relations, was 12.3 per cent ahead of July a year ago. The weekly pay roll of Los Angeles is 13.3 per cent higher.

Employees in automobile work, including bodies and parts, increased 64.1 per cent. Iron and steel forging showed an advance of 37 per cent. Structural and ornamental steel was 33.9 per cent beyond last year. Employees in metals, machinery and conveyances showed an increase of 18.9 per cent. Leather and rubber registered a 19.5 per cent advance and chemicals, oils and paints, a 21.6 per cent increase.

We are living in an era of mass production. Everything in our economic system is geared to top speed.

Mass production offers some advantages as well as disadvantages. It costs less per car to manufacture a million than a thousand. As a result we have a car for every family, or one for every 4.8 people in the United States. The congregation of cars of workmen in front of every building enterprise is further confirmation.

What is true of automobiles extends to radios, telephones, vacuum sweepers, gas ranges, refrigerators, electric sewing machines and other conveniences. A workman today has better conditions than a king a half century ago.

A hundred years ago a farmer labored three hours and a half for every bushel of wheat he produced. Today he gets the same results in ten minutes. Harnessed natural resources of steam, stream and gas have lifted the burdens from the backs of men. One man with an electric crane can load 100 tons of coal into a ship in an hour. It takes swarms of coolies a day to do the same job in the Orient.

Hours of work have been reduced and leisure lengthened for all classes. These, as well as more employment, are largely due to the introduction of labor-saving machinery which, paradoxically, has always had an effect the opposite of that anticipated by artisans. The harvest hands burned the first reaper in the grain field. The compositors mobbed the first linotype. The worker has been jealous of his job. But it proved a blind jealousy. The machine wipes the sweat from his brow and he becomes a specialist with larger income.

The climb has been a long, hard one and not without heartaches on both sides. Employer and employee rise or fall together. Their relations are interdependent. Relativity holds here as well as in the mathematics of the universe. The cycle ever returns to plague the oppressor and chickens come home to roost in both factory and barnyard.

The
LEE SIDE O' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

E. E. S., San Diego, writes to express her especial appreciation of the library which made a special department of books on travel and sports for summer vacations, among which was "A Houseboat on the Styx," by John Kendrick Bangs.

Warning

Be careful or you'll show your age, E. E. S. Mighty few folks under 35 know what "A Houseboat on the Styx" is all about.

Cast Thy Teeth Upon the Waters

An Ontario man is reported by the Elsinore Leader-Press (which may possibly have picked the story up from the Ontario Report) with an experience which shows how simple, persevering steadfastness is rewarded in the end. With a party of friends, the Ontario man went deep-sea fishing, in a small, nervous boat, and when the big waves made the little boat extremely skittish he, as well as all the others, leaned impulsively over the boatside and engaged in a lunch-casting contest. So great was his ardor for that sport that when he could not bring up anything else to cast upon the waters, he unhesitatingly spat, or volcanoed, forth his store teeth for a putt of a good eighteen feet.

But he held on to his fishing line, and when the waters calmed—perhaps dismayed by such unusual missiles—he resumed his fishing, mumbling to himself toothless words which seemed to be: "A man must eat—and how?" Finally he caught a fine fish, and when it was cut up for cooking, lo! in the fish's interior he found his stray teeth.

Now we suppose some of the tape-measure boys will spring up to dispute this story, as they did the one Jonah once told to explain his long absence. But we are full of innocent trustfulness and unhesitatingly award it a medal as the best fish story of the week.

After the Fish Course, Fowl

And here comes the Hemet News with a story of a Hemet man who, noting that his chickens were dull and droopy, poured out a lot of red wine where they could get it; and soon all the chickens were bright and chipper.

The only wonder is that it didn't make a lot of the pullets crow and smoke cigarettes.

Reading Gains, in Spite of All

In spite of radios and talkies and motor cars, Angelenos seem to be reading more books than ever before. Drop into the main library any day at noon and you will be surprised by the long lines of downtown workers who cut their luncheon hour short in order to obtain books to read. As many as 8000 books a day are borrowed from that one building alone, and last year Angelenos borrowed more than 8,000,000 volumes from the main library and its forty-eight branches and eighty-five stations. The truck service from the main library delivers an average of 550 new books a day to the branches.

Best seller new fiction is in such demand that even when from forty to 100 copies of a new book are bought it is hard to find any of them on the shelves. Yet records show that each year there is increasing demand for biography, travel, drama and educational books. Faith Holmes Hyers, publicity editor for the library, says she doesn't know whether that is because the public is going high-brow or the authors are going lowbrow and making romances of biography, travel, business and science. But certain it is that the public is more and more interested in real things and real people, and even the pure fiction books, in many cases, are written in such a way as to give the impression that they are life stories with the names changed.

Yet the shelves containing the works of Dickens, Dumas, Stevenson, Thackeray, Eliot and Scott are always "shot to pieces," and continual replacements of those books is necessary, for hundreds every year are worn to shreds.

Happiness

Ain't got no fine house,
Nor no fine car,
But I got fine eyes
An' I see far.

"UNCLE SHAM"

Not so long ago America was shocked by Miss Mayo's book on "Mother India." The grim pictures of that unhappy land were penned before a startled world. The worst forms of distress and especially the woes of women were played up by unforgettable scenes and practices.

Now comes a volume from an East Indian, Kanhaya Lal Gauba, called "Uncle Sham." The title is self-explanatory. We are pictured as having run amuck in blasphemy and indecency. It seems to be about as easy for a Hindu to write interestingly about us as for one of our number to touch the heart of the world by "Mother India."

We need not be surprised to find that one of the chief sources of information about "Uncle Sham" was the writings of H. L. Mencken. One wonders whether the sources of information for "Mother India" were equally reliable. That the cases and incidents exist, there likely can be little question; but were they as isolated and unfair? Are exceptional events printed in a sensational press consistent types of American life? That they are news shows that they are extreme and unusual. Then is the same thing true of many of the reports that come out of India?

At all events the chickens have come home to roost. We find that two can play at the game. Action and reaction appear to be equal as usual. The bigger the gun, the greater the back kick!

While we disclaim H. L. Mencken as our historian and "Uncle Sham's" biographer, it is possible that we could do a little doorstep scrubbing.

"DRIVE A PEG"

Secretary Wilbur is called "Drive-a-Peg" Wilbur, says Uthai Vincent Wilcox, Washington correspondent. When any discussion comes up and it is difficult to come to a head, the big Californian is wont to say, "Drive a peg and let the talk revolve around that." Nonessentials are quickly eliminated and daylight begins to appear.

"Drive-a-Peg" Wilbur is not a bad definition of an able man. Who drives a peg to start with soon finds others clinging to him. So many drifters are floating about unattached in thought and action. Anyone who takes root in either a place or a principle will find himself the center of a colony.

It is a comfort to have a man in the government who is dependable. The President's wisdom is revealed in associating with him men who can drive a peg. It is a great thing to have men who are planted somewhere and you can find them when you go back.

President Wilbur found his peg valuable in dealing with the students of Stanford University. By it he drew his institution and students up to his advanced position.

A doctor of medicine, he became the youngest college president of his day at 40. Being Secretary of the Interior is a little aside for a while to help his friend, Hoover, with the government. They were students together at Stanford in their boyhood and both built homes on the Stanford farm. Here they reside when the government gives them a chance.

Like Abe Lincoln, Rex Wilbur grew to be six feet four in his stockings—when he had any. He is as beautiful as Lincoln also. Long drawn out like the great Kentuckian, he goes the full length of everything he meets. Following through is his hobby. Driving a peg and pulling everything to it is his habit.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

FLAPDOODLE

[Chicago Tribune]

A plausible fallacy that has attained a strange currency in the American Legion has its latest expression in the assertion of the Illinois department commander. "Take the profit out of war and you will have no war party." How this pet notion of a certain school of pacifist radicals approves itself to veterans of the late war is a curiosity of mental operation.

If there was a war party in the United States, it had no organization and only such influence as its individual members exerted upon public opinion. In a very loose sense the citizens who thought we ought to join the Allies to avenge Belgium, to save democracy or civilization, to punish "the Hun," to assert the sanctity of treaties, to prevent Germany from establishing a world empire or from attacking us with a triumphant fleet and army might be called a party, but financial profit was the very last consideration they were moved by.

In short, tested by the realities, neither in the last war nor in any other of our wars, can there be found the motive of pecuniary profit, and it only fuddles thought to harp upon it.

This fallacy is being used to support a theory of policy for war time which if embodied in ill-considered legislation would diminish efficiency in preparation and supply. In peace our system of production is individualistic, and to attempt, when our need is for its highest efficiency, to eliminate its mainspring, fair profit, would be little short of disastrous. All the patriotism in the world would not compensate for the financial disorganization which would follow upon a revolutionary removal of the factor of profit. It is quite proper, and was in some measure attempted in the late war, to limit profits by practical means. But such a policy should not be controlled merely by the sentiment, commendable enough in itself, that there should be no advantage derived from assisting one's country in the hour of trial. The problem is not primarily one of morals or justice among individuals. It is a problem of practical results and there is no one more vitally interested in the maintenance of efficiency in production than the man at the front. Confusion and slowing down at the rear put upon him unnecessary hardship, peril and sacrifice.

War legislation for profit control, for taxation, for organization and for military service should be directed to the end of success and should have no other test.

A FEW THOUGHTS FOR LABOR DAY

BY CHARLES COKE WOODS

Labor Day is vitally related to everybody whether he labors or not. It has vital relation to the tramp on the road. If laborers had not labored to build that road the tramp would have no road on which to do his tramping. Let all the tramps lift a song of thanksgiving to labor.

And if there be idlers who have plenty of time and money to waste life in doing no service whatsoever let them indulge in at least one thankful thought of the highway laborers who made their highway and constructed their beautiful limousine. These gad-abouts also have vital relationships and vital obligations to labor. Let these also doff their hats to Labor Day. It is the day that is consecrated with the common dust of human toil. Labor Day has on its drawn brow the sweat of the shop, the store, the factory and the field. Everywhere our laborers trudge in the dust, sweat in the factory's smirk and smoke, whirl on wheels and fly around the world on wings. All hail to the laborers and to Labor Day.

On Labor Day we need to think of the many unpretentious toilers who, like the earth worms, do their work noiselessly and out of sight. These never hear the plaudits of the people. Yet they are so important that we could not run the machinery of business without them. Every man, woman and child who lends an honest hand to the general lift of things deserves to be remembered on Labor Day. It will deepen and widen the understanding sympathy among the ranks of labor to extend such remembrances. One may specialize oneself as a laborer while forgetting that there are others. Labor in its lengths and breadths and heights and depths is the supreme fellowship of mankind. This realization should characterize the memories and activities of Labor Day. As to the spirit of honest service the ditch digger and the President belong to the same great fraternity. This is the very heart of American democracy. There is nothing else just like it anywhere on the earth. In a thousand other places on our planet uppishness and pretense, prejudice and highbrow officialism shred the social fabric into suffering ruins.

No, Labor Day is no class day putting certain people up on a pedestal for honorable mention. A lot of folks belong. A great multitude which no man can number. "Blest be the tie that binds," the sacred labor tie. No honest laborer, howsoever humble, is a "scab." He is a gentleman of the great rank and file. Amplius, "wider" is what the great artist wrote over the work of his pupil. That should be on the banner we carry in our Labor-Day parades. All classes of honest laborers, from the shoe shiner to the Secretary of the Interior, belong to the great sweating fraternity. In our appreciative remembrances let us take them all in on Labor Day. Let the soft but hard-working hand of the pen and typewriter grasp in friendship the horny-handed sons of the shovel, the pick and the crowbar. We have learned by this time for a certainty that neither can do without the other. The great common denominator of our great democracy is a friendly mixture of dust and sweat. In this blessed land it is not great wealth, nor prestige, nor power, nor fame nor inherited glory, but "Omnia vincit." Our Labor Day is deep enough and high enough and wide enough and long enough to include all honest labor and all honest laborers of every degree.

Labor Day has grown in its meaning with the vast growth of labor. It represents the sum total of our industries from the least to the greatest. Every honest service in this mention deserves to be specialized. They all deserve it.

It is this realization of the living relationships of labor and laborers that cements the great fellowship in the kindliest mutual considerations. We need to think more about the other fellow, his struggle and his responsibility.

It is a great day, but let us put the full meaning into it. Let us not leave so many laborers out, unremembered and unsung. They all bump elbows with us, but sometimes we are too busy to notice whose elbows we bump.

The common bond of labor should bind all humanity together in a common bond of peace. This common realization of our universal mutuality in responsibility, struggle and labor do more than all politicians, diplomats and wily maneuvers to cement us all in the everlasting fraternities of good will and peace.

NOT "SINCEREST FLATTERY"

An amusing story, told of a visit of the Shah of Persia to England, has recently been published abroad.

Arriving at Victoria station, the Shah was placed in an open carriage and driven in state through the crowded streets of the city. He looked to left and right and was inclining his head in graceful recognition of the plaudits of the people, when suddenly he caught sight of a small boy who had shinned up a lamp post and was engaged in thumbing his nose vigorously at the passing monarch.

"What," asked the Shah curiously through his interpreter, "does that interesting gesture indicate?"

His hosts hesitated. Finally some ingenious person suggested that it was an ancient British method of signifying profound respect.

Nothing untoward occurred until the Shah's departure from London. The Shah appeared in the window of his private car, smiled at his well-wishers, then, as a final gesture of farewell, thumbed his nose magnificently at the massed gilt and braid and broadcloth that had come to do him royal honor.

What "G.M.T." Means

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you permit me space to offer a little explanation on the subject of "time"? I am writing this because of a "bill" which appeared in the Zeppelin story of last Friday morning's Times. In parentheses the sentence read, "G.M.T. means Greenwich meridian time." G.M.T. does not mean Greenwich meridian time. It means Greenwich mean time. This needs a little explanation. True, or apparent, solar time is time calculated by the transit of the true, or apparent, sun over the meridian of the observer, at which time it is apparent, or true, noon where he is, as well as at all places on his meridian from pole to pole. Because of the obliquity of the ecliptic and the lack of uniformity of the motion of the earth in its orbit, the rate of motion of the sun in hour-angle and the length of the apparent solar day are not constant. Therefore, clocks, watches and chronometers cannot be regulated by apparent solar time.

To permit of constant time and to obviate the necessity of setting clocks back and forward as necessity demanded, an imaginary, or fictitious, sun was invented (by calculation) which is supposed to move uniformly and to cross the same meridian at the same time every day, thus giving a value of exactly twenty-four hours to the day. This mean, or fictitious, sun sometimes crosses the meridian of the observer a little in advance of the true, or apparent, sun, and at other times a little after it, and this difference, or interval, between the true and imaginary suns is known as the Equation of Time.

This imaginary sun is the body from which we derive our clock time, because of its uniformity. The mean solar time is equal in length to the mean, or average, of all the true, or apparent, solar days of the year. Time is also calculated by the stars, and is known as sidereal time.

A Vision Comes True

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The news from Palestine should be disquieting for more than the British, and America should weigh carefully the steps she may feel called upon to take with regard to her nationals in that country. I recall a prophecy made ten years ago, in 1919, when I was working in Jerusalem under the Near East Relief. I was directress of the girls' school in the Syrian Orphanage and the great German hostel on the Mount of Olives had been turned into headquarters for the provisional government under Sir Harry Watson, acting high commissioner, who was later succeeded by Sir Harry Bols and Sir Herbert Samuel. One day one of two little Scotch ladies stood upon the Mount of Olives and one of them gifted with what the Scotch call "fey," looking down upon the city, had a vision and told how exactly ten years from then the streets of Jerusalem would run with blood, and that later on the leading nations of the world would be again in the throes of another war, more fierce and terrible than the last.

I have kept that prophecy in my heart, but this is 1929, and since her vision bids fair to come true, it may serve some useful purpose to publish it.

Suggestions for Men's Dress

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Is it weakness, lack of initiative or lack of courage that keeps the male of the species in bondage? In New York at present they are carrying things to extremes—this foolishness of wearing pajamas in the street. But seriously speaking, why don't the men discard some of their clothes?

Long ago women threw away their closets, bobbed their hair and now live as cool and comfortably as is possible. But custom seems to have the stronger sex in tow.

I would suggest rolled-down sox, Palm Beach trousers, shirts cut with half sleeves and low, roll-down collars. Nothing else except, of course, the lightest of undies.

My husband and I attended a lecture last night in a suffocatingly hot hall. The women all removed their coats, exposing sleeveless gowns and the men sat and sweltered with tight collars, coats and heavy trousers on. This morning I weighed my husband's shoes and they weighed exactly two pounds, while mine weigh only three-fourths of a pound.

Will not some he-man start a society or club to get the men together and declare emancipation of some of their excess clothing? In other words, make it the style or custom to discard part of their clothes, so our dignified husbands will feel properly dressed wearing a collarless shirt and short sleeves.

One who hates to see suffering even in human animals.

SHADOW OF SIN AND DEATH PASSING FROM HUMANITY

Dr. Isett Declares Race Some Day Shall Know Freedom of Christ's Promise

Voicing the belief that the day will come when sin and death shall slink away like guilty shadows from the highway of humanity, Rev. William C. Isett in his sermon yesterday at First Presbyterian Church of Santa Monica declared that eternal life is the law of the Spirit of Christ and that in the light of that law the human race shall one day know its freedom.

"I find so many evidences of this [illegible] of the Spirit of Christ that I [illegible] we all do not substitute it [illegible] for the law of sin and death," said Mr. Isett. "On the [illegible] the law says 'go,' but the [illegible] sees people still crossing in [illegible] of his car and dares to disobey the law. Millions of dollars are spent to restore the sick to health, but it is only with the feeble hope that life may be prolonged, not that death may be wholly defeated. The orphan and the aged are provided for by the charity of [illegible] that the law of death may not fall with all upon the helpless. But [illegible] here there is a feeling that [illegible] and age cannot be wholly [illegible]. Humanity has not yet [illegible] the necessity of the law of sin and death.

"I believe a time is coming when [illegible] shall be free from the law of sin and death. Paul says, 'There is, therefore, now no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus,' because they are now free from the law of sin and death. For those who [illegible] under the law of life, life [illegible] and the law of sin and death [illegible]. It is a glorious gospel."

JESUS CHRIST WAS MEMBER OF CHURCH

[illegible] the opinion that Jesus did not come to earth primarily to [illegible] a new church, Adjt. Frank [illegible] officer in charge of Salvation Army Temple, in his address [illegible] told his audience that at the age of 12 years, Christ joined [illegible] with the church existing at that time.

"When Jesus came to earth He [illegible] things in a bad way," said the speaker. "Politically the world was ruled by Rome, and sin was in the saddle. Between the Roman government with its corruption and [illegible] and the powers of sin the world needed a savior, and Jesus became the redeemer."

SPIRITUAL HEALING DHIRANANDA'S TOPIC

"The Psychotherapy of Jesus" was discussed by Swami Dhirananda [illegible] in his sermon at the Figueroa Playhouse. The speaker said, in part:

"Healing of sickness by the power of another's mind implies the dominance of mind over matter and also the possibility of occult transmission of mental influence from one person to the other. This mental [illegible], whether of one's self or [illegible], was known in the world long [illegible] its philosophical implications were expounded. When mental healing is done by intensifying and [illegible] intellectual concepts of [illegible], vibration, etc., with volition, then it is a psycho-medical method, plain and simple. When it is done with faith in and knowledge of the Supreme Power of the universe it is a spiritual method, as used by Jesus and others. We should always supplement the first method by the second and that is [illegible] when the second is perfected—when faith and knowledge become [illegible]. Jesus's holiness overcame the [illegible] causes of disease. His intimate harmony with the subtle forces of the universe set right the discord in his patients' bodies. Healing to [illegible] was lovingly positing the spirit [illegible] rather than simply doing the cold business of driving disease away."

CHURCH CALLED BEST FRIEND OF LABORERS

[illegible] that organized labor [illegible] was opposed to the church, because it stood for oppression, Dr. [illegible] Brown in his sermon yesterday at South Park Christian [illegible] said that laborers today, organized and unorganized, are discovering that every ideal of Christianity is essential to the welfare of those who toil. Dr. Brown spoke in part as follows:

"When the church pleaded for one day each week for the rest the [illegible] was made that this was for [illegible] purposes, to compel people to go to church. But it is now [illegible] demonstrated that where there are no laws to provide for a day of rest the man who works seven days a week actually receives no more pay than the man does who works six days where religious [illegible] have been strong enough to protect men from the slavery of toil every day of the year. It is too much to say that all churches have stood for the rights of the worker, but it is certainly true that his best friend has been the church, with an open Bible, seeking to inculcate the ideals of the Sermon on the Mount."

SOCIALISM'S DANGER POINTED BY MINISTER

[illegible] criticism of the sophistries of Socialism, sovietism and kindred political impossibilities in a land of free men, was voiced yesterday by Dr. E. C. Culbertson in [illegible] at All Souls' Congregational Church. Preaching on "Christianity and the Economic Genius of [illegible]," Dr. Culbertson spoke in part as follows:

"The key of history is personality. Every great step in exploration, invention, progress and human welfare has come from the enterprise and initiative of some gifted individual. The essence of the story of [illegible] temptation is that He turned away from the superficial methods of conquest and material force to [illegible] slower, but nobler and more enduring method of developing heavenly personalities whose characters [illegible] produce a more heavenly [illegible]. It is from this angle that [illegible] the weakness of Socialism and [illegible] solutions for our industrial problems. Not only would these [illegible] basic economic disaster by [illegible] power into the hands of the [illegible], but they would submerge the individual in helpless mass conformity, destroying those qualities of initiative and enterprise which have made our country the happiest, most prosperous and idealistic on earth. The criticism of denomina[illegible] and denominational schools [illegible] the larger urge toward distinctive, independent personality and individuality, and, however much we unite, this freedom must be preserved. The largest economic progress toward world-brotherhood, the abolition of industrial evils, and the realizing of the humanitarian ideals of Jesus will come not by running mankind through the machine mold of Socialism, but through the largest possible economic freedom and opportunity for the largest number of individuals, transfigured by the indwelling presence and spirit of Jesus. Men like Carnegie, Rockefeller and Hoover, who devote their genius and resources to human service are forerunners of that better day when all the strong ones of earth will find their highest glory, not in amassing wealth and selfish power, but in benefiting and blessing all their brother-men and making earth to shine with the light of love, as a home for all the human children of God."

LABOR DISCUSSED IN TIMELY SERMON

"Does trade unionism imperil liberty?" is the question discussed yesterday by Dr. John Snape at Temple Baptist Church. Excerpts from the sermon follow:

"It is said that the first strike in this country occurred in New York City in 1803, when sailors struck for an advance in wages. It was settled by the arrest and imprisonment of the leader.

We have adcanced far since that day. Instead of arresting the strike leader now we treat him politely, introduce him to our stage stars—and send him back to New York. It cannot be denied that both capital and labor have imperiled liberty. Capital seldom shows fraternity toward labor; it grants concessions—when it must. Extremes have been reached by both sides. Trades-unionism unmercifully refused more than one delivery of milk a day in a midwestern city while deaths among infants increased in that city in one month 40 per cent, causing the Board of Health to say: "Herod was more merciful in his slaughter of the infants." On the other hand, industrial aristocracy marks up the price of merchandise faster than it marks up the price of wages and the innocent party of the third part suffers most and pays the bill. The public, unorganized and innocent, always pays a double price for every strike. What is needed in this old world today more than any other one thing is the dethronement of selfishness and the enthronement of the principles of liberty and fraternity in human hearts.

SCIENCE CHURCH'S TOPIC YESTERDAY

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday in all branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist. The lesson-sermon contained the scriptural account of healing by Jesus as related in the gospel of Matthew, which said. "And when Jesus departed thence two blind men followed him, crying and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They saith unto him, Yea, Lord. Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened."

Correlative passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures presented these words of Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus established in the Christian era the precedent for all Christianity, theology, and healing . . . Our Master said to every follower: 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature! . . . Heal the sick! . . . Love thy neighbor as thyself!'"

McNabb Leaves for Parley on Film Star Tax

U. S. Atty. McNabb left Los Angeles yesterday for Washington, D. C., for a conference with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

It is understood that the meeting of the two officials will have to do with numerous investigations regarding income-tax returns by a number of motion-picture actors and actresses. It also is expected that the conference will refer to prosecutions of criminal cases already filed in United States District Court against various motion-picture luminaries for asserted fraud in connection with the making of income-tax returns.

Mr. McNabb expects to be away about two weeks.

"Mile-High" Rodeo Slated Next Sunday

Lake Arrowhead resort will hold a mile-high cowboy riding and roping contest next Sunday at a new arena with a quarter-mile race track which is being erected at the Tavern on the lake's north shore.

Cowboys and cowgirls from various San Bernardino mountain ranches as well as from other points in the Southland cattle country have been invited. The rodeo is being sponsored by Hoot Gibson and Reginald Denny. Cash prizes and silver cups will be given by the Arrowhead Lake Company.

Entries will be received by Art Manning and Skeeter Bill at Lake Arrowhead Casino Saturday night, on the occasion of a cowboy dance for vacationists at the various San Bernardino Mountain resorts.

SHE BECOMES BRIDE OF SAN MARINO MAN

Mrs. Ruth Wallace McIntosh

Yesterday afternoon at the Church of Our Saviour in San Gabriel, Miss Ruth Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace of 600 Irving street, Alhambra, became the bride of Frederick McIntosh, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McIntosh of 2774 Deresta Road, San Marino. Rev. John R. Atwill read the service.

After a honeymoon at Santa Barbara and Catalina Island, Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh will make their home in Alhambra. The bride is a member of one of the pioneer families of Alhambra and is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles.

CHIEF NURSE CELEBRATES LONG TERM

Receiving Hospital Aide One of Seven at Start; Ninety-seven on Job Now

Charles H. Whitehead, chief nurse at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, returned from his annual vacation yesterday just in time to celebrate the completion of his twenty-first year as a member of the hospital staff.

The incident constitutes a record as "Charlie," as several thousand policemen and firemen know him, is the only member of the hospital staff who has been constantly employed at the Receiving Hospital for so long a time.

Charlie joined the staff in 1908. The staff was then composed of five doctors and two nurses. Charlie was one of the nurses. Injured persons were conveyed to the hospital then in an old high-wheeled patrol wagon drawn by horses. The hospital was located in two small rooms now used as locker rooms in the detective bureau at Central Police Station.

As a contrast the hospital staff now consists of one chief surgeon, one assistant chief surgeon, seventeen hospital surgeons, thirty-one ambulance surgeons, thirty-one female and fifteen male nurses, besides Whitehead as chief nurse.

Japan-American Society to Have Gathering Soon

The Japan-American Society, founded twenty years ago by Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Pierce, will meet Monday evening, the 9th inst., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Hara, 432 South Boyle avenue, where a program featuring the second generation of the Japanese will be presented.

JULIA SUSKI

Among those appearing on the program are Miss Julia Suski, pianist, who also edits the English section of the leading Japanese newspaper printed in Japanese; Miss Kyoto Inouye, soprano; J. M. Kono, 'cello; J. M. Yamamoto, violin. Dr. Owen Cook, professor of political science and international relations at the University of Southern California, will talk on "Some Problems of the Far East."

The society, which was founded to promote friendly relations between the Americans and the Japanese, has a large membership and welcomes other nationalities at its meetings.

Overseas Service League to Meet

After a summer of group inactivity, the fall season of the Los Angeles unit of the Women's Overseas Service League will open with a meeting in the league's headquarters in Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Belle Hayes Cooley, the president, in charge. Reports of summer service work with disabled ex-service women and veterans will be made by Mrs. Rose Connelly, executive secretary.

Thursday evening the feminine overseas service league members are to motor to San Fernando for the monthly recreational bridge party with the convalescents in the United States Veterans' Hospital. On Saturday, the 21st inst., a special all-afternoon visit will be made to the women's ward at the San Fernando Sanatorium.

HARBOR MERGER IN STRIDE AHEAD

Committees Named to Work Out Details

Will Prepare Program for Army Engineers

Members Well Informed on Port Problems

BY CHARLES C. COHAN

With committees appointed respectively by Mayor Porter of Los Angeles and Mayor Hauge of Long Beach to consider details pertaining to the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor unification project, it is expected that a thoroughly satisfactory program conforming to all governmental requirements will be ready for the consideration of the Federal Board of Army Engineers when it meets in Washington next November.

The appointment of these committees is the most significant recent forward step toward the materialization of the project as from their efforts must come the bi-city expression of agreement in connection with the details on which the project is based.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Mayor Hauge has named five Long Beach citizens as that city's representatives in the bi-city conference, while Mayor Porter has appointed three local citizens on the Los Angeles committee. It was stated at Mayor Porter's office that he was under the impression that the committees were to have three members each and that in all probability he would name two more this week to equalize the Long Beach committee membership.

A Long Beach committee member stated that he has informed Mayor Hauge of his willingness to withdraw from the committee if the Mayor sees fit to reduce it to three members so as to be in accord with the membership number of the Los Angeles committee.

This point doubtless will be adjusted at the preliminary meeting scheduled for this week.

THOROUGHLY INFORMED

All those named as committeemen are thoroughly informed on affairs pertaining to the harbors and their welfare.

Eugene Overton, Los Angeles, is a prominent attorney and a member of the law firm of Overton, Lyman & Plumb. He is chairman of the harbor and foreign commerce committee, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and also a member of the Harbor Rate Committee appointed by the Los Angeles Harbor Commission.

A. E. Henning, Los Angeles, is a member of the City Council and chairman of the Council's Harbor Committee.

Burt A. Heinly, Los Angeles, is vice-president and general manager of the Highways Communities Corporation and was executive secretary for former Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water and Power.

C. A. Buffum, Long Beach, is a former Mayor of that city, president of the Buffum Department Store there and a leader in civic affairs.

Irwin M. Stevens, Long Beach, is president of that city's Chamber of Commerce.

B. B. Stakemiller and Frank H. Church are members of the Long Beach City Council.

Nelson McCook, Long Beach, is a banker and a member of the Long Beach Harbor Commission.

CAPITAL TREASURE HUNT

(Washington Star, August 30)

Ending temporarily the treasure hunt which brought to light approximately $8000 in gold, silver and currency hidden in the abandoned home of Miss Blanche Magruder, aged Georgetown resident, receivers in the case today were preparing to report their findings tomorrow to the District Supreme Court.

Justice Wheat will hear tomorrow the petition of Mrs. Marie Clark and Mrs. R. L. Lamb, relatives of Miss Magruder, that the latter be declared incompetent to administer her business affairs. Miss Magruder now is bedridden at the District Home for the Aged at Blue Plains.

It is understood the petitioners also will seek to have Miss Magruder removed to a private home or institution, where she may be cared for with her funds. She was taken to the District Poor Farm, after consistently refusing aid from her relatives, who supposed her to be penniless, it is declared.

The old house on Thirty-fifth street, near Georgetown University Hospital, where Miss Magruder had secreted an unsuspected hoard of savings over a period of many years, had been cleared of its broken-down furniture, ancient furnishings and trash and the doors and windows have been locked and barred. The furniture was stored yesterday in a warehouse.

TOADS TRY FOR GLORY

(Arizona Republican, September 1)

TUCSON, Aug. 30.—Definite date for the big horned-toad race being sponsored by the Tucson Lions' Club has been set and the "race of the century" will be held here on the 27th inst. Interest in the event has spread rapidly throughout the State and it is expected that hundreds of entries will be lined up for the "go." Hundreds of the horned speedsters are adhering to strict training rules and it is expected that the world's speed records will be lowered when the Arizona toads take to the speedway.

U. S. PILOT FOR CHINA

(Kansas City Star, August 31)

Stephen Kaufman, a Kansas Cityan, whose flying career began with the entry of the United States into the World War, is to start for China tomorrow to aid in inaugurating an air-mail system in that country.

Twelve mechanics and seven other flyers will accompany Mr. Kaufman on the trip. The first route of the new air-mail system for China will lie between Shanghai and Hankow, with additional routes to be opened later.

VIM, VIGOR FOR OPERA

(Washington Evening Star, August 30)

A new genius has appeared on the horizon of German poetry and music, word from Darmstadt reveals. He is a young American—Edwin Denby, son of Charles Denby of 2329 California street, this city, and nephew to former Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby.

For the first time an American poet was commissioned by the Hession State Theater to rewrite the book and lyrics of a cherished German classic, Suppe's "The Beautiful Galatea," in a lighter Americanized vein. Such a task is considered imposing if the poet were to write in his own language, and Denby's poetry is therefore the more remarkable in that it was done entirely in German and was produced by the State Opera Company at Darmstadt with great acclaim.

NEW TRY FOR RECORD

(Indianapolis News, August 30)

The Indianapolis Flamingo, which is to begin an airplane endurance flight here within a few days, was to arrive in Indianapolis Thursday afternoon from Cincinnati, piloted by Lieuts. Walter Peck and Lawrence Genaro, who will fly the plane in the record-breaking attempt.

On arrival here the plane was to circle the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument and the Chamber of Commerce Building, in which the flight headquarters are situated, and then proceed on to Schoen Field, Fort Benjamin Harrison, where all test flights will be held.

Maj. H. LeR. Muller, manager of the flight, said no definite date has been set for the start of the test.

MILLION CATTLE RECORD

(Kansas City Times, September 1)

Receipts of cattle at the Kansas City Stockyards for the year to date reached the 1,000,000 head mark on Tuesday, August 27, just a week later than last year, when that figure was reached on August 20. Total arrivals up to last night were 1,018,000 head, or 7300 less than in the corresponding period last year.

PARKING QUIZ ENDED

(Washington Evening Star, August 30)

A survey of nineteen large cities which has just been completed by The Star discloses that the parking question in congested business districts is becoming increasingly acute throughout the country and that the problem is being solved in various ways, depending largely on local conditions. Five of the communities are relying to a large extent on parking prohibition, five are putting their faith in limited parking by varying lengths and seven are combining both no-parking and limited parking in their efforts to alleviate congestion. One other, at present using the combined method, is planning a large extension of the area in which parking is banned, and the other, now using limited parking, expects to adopt no parking within the year.

The replies received indicate that the matter is considered by the country's leading traffic experts to be one of the most important questions, which must be settled by traffic engineers, and business men working in co-operation. It is not a matter, they contend, which can be determined by general rules, as local conditions must and should determine what is the proper solution, and the men who have built up the merchandising establishments, which in a large measure are responsible for attracting a focus of traffic to a particular locality, are primarily interested in solving the problem in such a way that the result will not be a mere diversion of trade to other sections.

Of the cities surveyed, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and Boston are applying parking prohibition in a large way. On the other hand, Dayton, Cleveland, Buffalo, New Orleans and Minneapolis are at present trying t meet the situation with variou sorts of limited parking, whil Cincinnati, Kansas City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Newark, St Louis and Baltimore are combinin both in different manners. Howeve in some of these towns, which no report that they are using no-parking and limited parking combine there is a determined effort o foot to extend the prohibited are This is especially true of New Yor where a voluntary organizatio known as the Citizens' Street Traffi Committee has, within the las month, recommended to the Mayo additional no-parking restriction for nearly 100 streets. Memphi Tenn., now using limited parkin reports it will adopt no-parking th year.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Under auspices of the Tennis Patrons' Association, of which Col. William Eric Fowler is president, Frederick W. Flint, Jr., vice-president; Alfred Wright, treasurer, and Russell McD. Taylor, secretary, the Pacific Southwest championship tennis tournament is to be conducted at the Los Angeles Tennis Club the 20th to the 29th inst. inclusive. This is the third tournament to be sponsored by the group, and both from the type of tennis to be played and from the social aspect the event is assuming promises to be the most successful.

Messrs. Thomas C. Bundy, Edward A. Dickson, Frederick W. Flint, Jr., William May Garland, Dr. Isaac Hampshur Jones, E. Avery McCarthy, James R. Page, Richard Jewett Schweppe, Simpson S. Sinsabaugh, Russell McD. Taylor, Sydney Irving Walles, Harold H. Braly and Col. Fowler comprise the board of governors of the association.

During the tournament the English Wightman team, consisting of Mrs. Phoebe Watson, Mrs. B. C. Covell, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Baron and Miss Betty Nuthall, will play, as will two of the English Davis Cup team, the famous H. W. (Bunny) Austin, and his partner, J. S. Olliff. Japan will be represented by Tamio Abe, and the South African Davis Cup team by Norman Farquharson.

From our own country, Miss Helen Jacobs and Miss Edith Cross of the United States Wightman team have entered, and so also has the United States Davis Cup team, Bill Tilden, Frank Hunter, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison. Everything indicates that Miss Helen Wills will defend her championship at this tournament, at the same time adding the interest of the social and artistic world to that of the sporting world by an exhibition of her drawings, which have created such favorable comment in London. It is possible that the display, to be hung in the Biltmore Salon, will be continued through grand opera week, following the tournament.

Among the box holders for the championship event are Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, Marchesa Cambioso, David Babcock, L. T. Babcock, William May Garland, W. S. Hook, Sr., Mrs. Arthur Hornblow, Mrs. Oscar Howard, Andrew M. Chaffey, Mrs. A. L. Cheney, Mrs. Ira Copley, Mrs. John Cooper, Edwin Janss, Harold Janss, Herman Janss, Mrs. Peter Janss, Dr. Isaac H. Jones, John S. Cravens, Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Jr., Mrs. Louise Dudley, George L. Eastman, H. M. Eichelberger, Mrs. Harry Robinson, C. A. Reed, Jr., Mrs. Dean Mason, William G. McAdoo, Malcolm McNaghten, Harvey S. Mudd, W. H. Severance, Mrs. Rae Smith, Robert S. Ross, Dr. George Thomason, Mrs. Donald O'Melveny, John O'Melveny, Mrs. J. B. Van Nuys, Lee Allen Phillips, Sydney Irving Walles, F. R. Woodbury and Alfred Wright.

Hellman-Stevens Wedding

The marriage of Miss Rosa Hellman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hellman of 845 West One Hundred and Seventh street, to Oscar Stevens, also of Los Angeles, was revealed to their many friends by wire late last week, the ceremony having taken place Tuesday, August 20, last, at the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

Witnessed only by the immediate family of the bride, the ceremony was read at Powell Point just as the sun was rising over the canyon, by Justice Hamilton of the Grand Canyon. The bride was gowned in an exquisite ensemble of brown sepia chiffon velvet, with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of summer garden flowers.

After a wedding breakfast at the El Travor Hotel Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left for a trip to Carmel-by-the-Sea, and points north. Many post-nuptial affairs are being planned for them upon their return to Los Angeles.

For Northern Visitor

Miss Marguerite Strangman, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Charles J. Strangman, entertained recently in her home in Country Club Drive with a luncheon and bridge party for Miss Jane Bradley, a visitor from the north.

Miss Bradley, who formerly resided here, has made her home since January in Hillsborough.

Bidden to the affair were Mrs. Maurice Phenix, Mrs. George Cake, Mrs. Alexander Smith, Mrs. Robert Berkey, Mrs. William Shoemaker, Mrs. Maynard Garrison, Mrs. Harold Kirby, Mrs. Irvin Inor, Mrs. Kenneth Kingsley, Mrs. Baylor Mall, Mrs. Harold Ross, Mrs. Sears Berggren, Mrs. Lucien Griffin and Mrs. Thomas Pierce.

This was the second of a series of bridge-luncheons given by Miss Strangman, who entertained sixteen friends the 10th inst.

Motor Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Tremaine of the Darby Hotel in West Adams street are enjoying a motor trip to the Feather River Inn, where they will remain for a week or more. En route they are stopping at the Tavern, Lake Tahoe, and on the return trip will visit in San Francisco and Santa Barbara.

Bride-Elect Feted

Honoring Miss Ethel M. Sjostrom, whose marriage to Frank Morton Pitt, Jr., is scheduled for the 7th inst., Mrs. George F. Cake entertained recently in her home with a prettily appointed luncheon and glassware shower. Yellow and green flowers and table decorations carried out the bridal motif, and covers were laid for Mrs. Herman W. Sjostrom, Mrs. Arthur W. Horton, Mrs. Walter W. Marsh, Mrs. Robert Sheldon, Mrs. Alexander F. Smith, Mrs. Howard Hulse, Mrs. Jesse Sturgeon, Miss Ethel M. Sjostrom, Miss Adelle Sjostrom, Miss Geraldine Mickley, Miss Harriet Sturgeon and Miss Edna Martin.

Ohioan Entertained Here

Mrs. Cora Brickweddie of Toledo, O., is receiving many social attentions from a host of Los Angeles friends, one of the most charming being the luncheon at the Santa Monica Beach Club given in her honor by her sister, Mrs. George A. Hickey of Warner Drive, with Mrs. James Grainger, another honored guest.

Included were Mrs. George Callahan of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Klueter, Mrs. William Newberry, Mrs. Ora Cunningham, Mrs. John McElfatrick, Miss Helen Rudolph of New York, Miss Sara Adelsperger, Miss Anne Lidell and Miss Alice Pfeifer.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

Mrs. A. W. writes:

"My baby was 2 years old in June and has all his teeth. I have washed them with a coarse wash cloth to keep them clean, but lately there is a film over them and they are beginning to turn a little green on top. He won't let me use a tooth brush, so I don't know what to do. My sister's baby is the same age and his teeth are as white as can be.

"Is it possible that there may be something lacking in the diet? For breakfast he gets an egg and cereal and milk. Later the juice of an orange. For lunch he gets chicken or bacon and two vegetables and milk and stewed fruit. For dinner, cereal and milk. While his appetite is fairly good he doesn't seem to care much for meats. He will chew chicken or bacon until dry and then spit it out. I sieved his vegetables until the fourteenth month which may account for his dislike of coarser foods."

Answer

Just washing teeth with plain water isn't enough to keep off deposits and, as your baby eats no coarse food that might help in that direction, you simply must resort to some powder or paste that will remove the coating. Use a clean piece of absorbent cotton each morning (the wash cloth sounds distasteful to me) and put on some precipitated chalk or some commercial powder or paste that isn't rough and gritty. If the baby handled his own toothbrush he would probably enjoy it. For the future, if the teeth are washed this way daily, they should keep clean, but this present coating of green had best be removed by the dentist, it will resist your efforts.

Give him more activity with his hands, let him feed himself and he'll learn to chew better. Don't fuss about it if he chokes a little, help him with water and pat his back but don't act excited or nervous for this frightens the child so that he is even more apt to choke. Cut his meat finely. If I were you I would try other meats such as lamb, scraped beef or well-cooked liver. A diet of bacon and chicken would be tiresome to most anyone. Cottage cheese can take the place of meat in the diet.

Mrs. F. J. G. writes:

"My small daughter has suddenly developed hives. She has never had these before. What do you think causes them?"

Answer

Hives can come from so many sources that one has to decide that mainly by the previous day's diet. The most frequent causes are pork, shell fish, eggs, fruits, especially peaches and strawberries. But people develop hives sometimes while on a trip when apparently their diet is no different from the one to which they have been accustomed. Change of water, the excitement of the journey, are sufficient in themselves sometimes to bring out these annoying itchy wheals.

CHARGES SWAPPED IN COURT

Film Comedian and Wife Accuse Each Other During Divorce Hearing

When Walter F. Robbins, motion-picture funny man, went into court to answer charges made by his wife, Mrs. Lulu E. Robbins, that he cursed her before their minor child and otherwise made life miserable for her, he accused her of sticking him in the leg with a sword and threatening to scald him with hot water. Both asked Superior Judge Yankwich for a divorce.

According to Mrs. Robbins, represented by Attorney S. S. Hahn, Robbins was not as funny at home as he is when he doubles for comedians in the motion pictures.

Robbins, on the other hand, under the questioning of his attorney, J. C. Harris, declared that his wife frequently had violent fits of temper and while in such fury threw things at him. Once, he said, she struck him in the face with a loaf of bread.

After hearing the testimony Judge Yankwich granted Mrs. Robbins a decree and the community property. The husband, however, was relieved from all alimony payments and attorney fees.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

HIP REDUCTION

Those who have a tendency to collect fatty weight around the hips have a hard problem on their hands to eliminate this unsightly deformity. Here are some of the principal causes: Overeating, lack of exercise and glandular derangements.

The cure of any case of obesity depends upon a proper regulation of both exercise and the food intake.

A deficiency of thyroid secretion or of the secretion of the gonads may give one a tendency to the growth of excessive deposits of fat around the hips and buttocks, but even this cause must be remedied through the true curative and regulating methods of dieting and exercising.

Among office workers who sit all day there is a tendency to enlargement of the hips, as though the bank of nature insisted on making all fat deposits right in that region. In women this tendency has the result of making them appear settled and matronly long before they actually feel that way, and it becomes increasingly difficult to find patterns and clothes to fit, since dresses which are perfect everywhere else are too tight across the hips. It is almost pathetic to see these middle-aged fat women trying to force themselves into little jaunty sweet sixteen dresses because they cannot bear to wear the conspicuously plain lines of the stylish stouts. As for the men, their figures are so designed that their shoulders should be far larger than their hips, but many men even under 40 who have good figures in every other way, will show the need for special tailoring around the hip line.

Much aspiration toward reduction has come from the moving pictures, since the slim heroes and heroines of the silver screen influence our ideas of what a perfect male or female form should be.

Many remedies have been tried for making special reductions in certain parts of the body. Rubber reducing garments have had a large sale, but with very indifferent results. Taking fat remedies containing thyroid extract will in some cases reduce the hips more than any other part, but this is always at the expense of the heart, and much serious heart trouble has been caused through the use of these remedies.

The electric vibrators and vibrating belts have come into popular use and are helpful as long as they are being used, but, of course, this vibrating, massaging effect can only be of temporary help.

The best exercises to take for hip reduction are swimming, walking, dancing, rope skipping, tennis and kicking exercises. Walking and swimming are probably the best and most effective for this kind of special reduction.

The diet should be in conformity with that required for any other kind of reduction—not over two meals a day, no sweets nor starches, but small amounts of proteins and plenty of green vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Head Shakes

Question: J. K. asks: "What causes the head to shake violently from side to side when one gets nervous? What is the cure for this condition?"

A.: The head-shaking is due to a form of palsy and comes from a degeneracy of the nerves. The cure is to improve your health by hygienic measures, and to remove every mental or physical cause which may produce nervousness.

Saccharin

Q.: Miss H. writes: "My father has diabetes and I want to know what kind of food this saccharin is that is being used as a substitute for sugar. The doctor has told him to abstain from all fruits and most vegetables (those that have sugar or starch in them,) so to my mind, that leaves out the best foods."

A.: Saccharin is often recommended to be used as a substitute for sugar, although it has no food value. It is one of the coal tar products and its continued use is unquestionably injurious. Practically all fruits may be used by the diabetic, as the fruit sugar alone is not sufficient to produce trouble as long as other sugar is not used. There are very few vegetables which are starchy. Potatoes contain from 14 per cent to 20 per cent, and Hubbard squash as high as 15 per cent. The rest of the vegetables are only medium starchy or nonstarchy. Most of the starch which we use comes from the cereal foods and everything made from flour.

Water-Brash

Q.: Mrs. I. N. asks: "Will you please tell me what causes water brash? It bothers me through the night. Is it some kind of indigestion, and what do you think would stop it?"

A.: Water-brash usually comes from overeating or using liquid with your meals. Try cutting down on the amount of food you are using at dinner, and do not use any liquids at all after 3 p.m.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

PEACH DUMPLINGS

Make a rich baking powder biscuit dough, pat it out about the same thickness as for biscuits, cut it into squares and place in the center a half of a peeled peach, sprinkle with sugar and add a small piece of butter, bring the four points together and press tightly along the edges, place in a well-oiled baking dish and make the following sauce:

To two cupfuls of peach juice add one cupful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter, a half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and one teaspoonful of lemon juice; when the sauce reaches the boiling point pour over the dumplings in the baking dish and bake until the dumplings are well browned and the peaches tender.

ENGLISH MEAT PIE

Three veal kidneys, two pounds of round steak, six onions, one-half a cupful of flour, seasoning of salt and pepper, remove the fat and strings from the kidneys, allow to stand in salted water to cover for ten minutes, drain and dry, cut in small dice, cut the steak in dice, chop the onions fine in a well-oiled baking dish, place a layer of the meat, then a layer of the kidneys that have been mixed with the onions and seasonings, sprinkle with the flour and continue until all the ingredients have been used, add half a cupful of boiling water and cover the top with a rich biscuit dough. Set in a hot oven for the first ten minutes, then reduce the heat and cook very slowly for two hours.

CHOCOLATE ALMOND COOKIES

One cupful of brown sugar, four eggs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, two squares of melted chocolate, one cupful of chopped, blanched almonds, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; beat the eggs well, add the sugar and melted butter, sift the flour, baking powder and spices together and add to the well-beaten eggs, then add the melted chocolate and almonds and enough more sifted flour to make a dough stiff enough to handle, roll into small balls, place on an oiled cookie sheet about an inch apart, place the half of an almond on each cake and bake in a quick oven.

PINEAPPLE LIME ICE CREAM

Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of sugar and one cupful of water, allow to boil for five minutes, add one and one-half cupfuls of finely shredded pineapple and four tablespoonfuls of lime juice, chill thoroughly and just before freezing add one and a quarter cupfuls of rich milk.

Twelve Taxis and Police Put on Run by Lad

Time hung heavy yesterday on the small hands of Charles Weaver, 8½ years of age, with the result that police of the Hollywood division went out on a "wild goose chase" and twelve taxicab drivers wasted gasoline in responding to false calls.

After a day of ennui, Charles at about 5 p.m. went to the telephone in his mother's home at 903 North Kingsley Drive and called the Hollywood station. Breathlessly he declared that two men had been held up by bandits and then locked in a vault at 4156 Beverly Boulevard. Detective-Lieutenant Robertson and Officers Berry and Wright jumped in a police car and with siren screaming sped to the address, expecting to find the "victims" perishing for lack of air. But the address was that of a vacant lot. They traced the call to Charles, they reported, and after telling him about their pique in no uncertain terms, released him in the custody of his mother.

Then in quick succession, twelve taxi drivers complained to the police that they had been summoned to the Kingsley Drive house only to learn their services were not required.

Charles's excuse for his pranks was that he "wanted some excitement."

CATHOLIC SOCIETIES CONVENE

Notables Attend Opening of German Federation; Meeting Will End Tonight

Solemn high mass at St. Joseph's Church preceded the opening of the German Catholic State Federation convention in Los Angeles yesterday. A score of notable citizens of Southern California took part in the services. The sermon was preached by Father Didacus of St. Louis, Mo.

The convention was called to order at 2 p.m. by State President J. A. Werner in St. Joseph's Hall. Delegates to the convention were escorted to the hall by a reception committee composed of Joseph Geiger, president of St. Anthony's German Catholic Society; Anton Voss, president of the Gesellen Verein; J. H. Dockweiler, Theodore Bussman, Gustav Risse and Stephen Buhr.

The session of the convention last night featured the appearance of Bishop Cantwell and well-known citizens of Los Angeles. Joseph Schwamm was introduced as chairman of the German Catholic day, which is to be celebrated today. Among the speakers last night were Dr. William Windhorst, founder of the German Catholic Center, and Vice Consul H. Hage.

The convention will end tonight with a banquet at which many prominent German Catholics will be guests of honor.

COURT SECRETARY NAMED

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Miss Dorothea Mesney as secretary to the Justice of Division One of the District Court of Appeals here. The appointment becomes effective tomorrow. Miss Mesney will succeed Miss Marilyn Conrey, who has resigned to resume college work in the East. Miss Conrey is the daughter of Presiding Justice Conrey of Division One and was one of four secretaries employed in the two divisions of the Los Angeles branch of the Appellate Court.

COMEDIANS LIVEN SHOW AT ORPHEUM

Cohen and Cummings Cavort in Amusing Antics; Other Acts Please

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Two eccentric comics, bobbing up suddenly just as practically everyone present at the Orpheum yesterday was ready to go home and call it a day—not a very eventful one at that—gave a roaring finish to the new bill of vaudeville.

One of the funny gentlemen was Sammy Cohen, who until recently has been making pictures for Mr. Fox out in Hollywood. Sammy did an imitation in his own peculiar somersaulting fashion of Al Jolson singing a "Mammy" song. Next, one of a cauliflowered-eared person waltzing into the prize ring to take a beating. Finally, he did his own Sammy Cohen dance, a very fast, skipping number. His work not only packed speed, but punch as well. He's a lot funnier in person than he is in pictures.

The other amusing gentleman was Roy Cummings, who, strangely enough, considering the merit of his offering, occupied the final spot of the program. Cummings is one of these very emotional comedians who tears his shirt into shreds and climbs up and swings on the back drop when excited. Yesterday, in a moment of high tension—his feminine partner had given him a coy smile—he vaulted from the stage, completely over the heads of two violin players and the orchestra leader, on to the carpeted aisle of the theater.

Just preceding the arrival of this pair, Miss Betty Blythe, still trading on the name she made as "The Queen of Sheba," in the days when vampires were vampires in the films, had a little offering. Perhaps her act might be termed "The Big Clothes Parade" of the 1929 Orpheum. Although she sang some songs and revealed the fact that she had poise and excellent stage presence, she spent most of her moments taking off and putting on fetching fashion creations of the type that all really swanky film actresses should wear. First she made a theatrical entrance in a gold evening wrap. Discarding this, her figure was revealed as draped in a long shimmering and trailing scarf, about twice the length of a good piano throw. This removed, there was a sumptuous gold evening dress to match the cloak. The evening dress came off to show what is new in black lace undergarments. After this came a snappy black dress with sleeves. Then a red velvet evening gown with a train trimmed in white fur and of such proportions that it could be used, and was, as another evening wrap. Then arrived a smart, yellow silk teddy, lace trimmed, and finally a blue and gold frock and a scarlet evening wrap. All in all, a luscious wardrobe for any up-and-coming girl.

The Rodeo Revue with Ruth Mix occupied the entire first half of the bill. Miss Mix had some thirty-five-odd performers in her troupe and from them came a curious mixture of dancing, music and comic byplay.

Best of all, I liked the singing of a chorus of seven cowboys, deep-chested sons of the Golden West, whose voices boomed out competitively over the very loud—at least so it seemed—playing of the Orpheum orchestra. Rather nice dancing came from the ballet group in a specialty, "Legend of the Fire," and then in Tiller chorus-type numbers. Jed Dooley was the cut-up of the group, and with Miss Audree Evans assisting, was responsible for innumerable wisecracks. There were cowboy costumes for everyone and the acts were performed against a setting intended to represent the deep-shadowed mountains and wide-open spaces of the Far West.

Belasco Gives Last Showings to "Accident"

With the last week of "The Little Accident" at the Belasco Theater starting tonight, arrangements are being completed for the presentation of Edna Hubbard, Richard Tucker and Kenneth Thomson in "The Door Between," which starts at the Belasco Theater Sunday night.

Miss Hubbard, one of the most brilliant of the younger generation of stage stars, recently scored here in "Let Us Be Gay." In "The Door Between," she is said to have even a more delightful role.

In spite of its success, "The Little Accident" must leave the Belasco Saturday night to begin its season run in Chicago.

Leila Hyams to Appear Tonight at Boulevard

Leila Hyams, who plays the leading feminine role in "Masquerade," the current sound film now at the Boulevard Theater, is to make a personal appearance tonight.

Miss Hyams is not only the leading feminine player, but the only girl in the entire cast. "Masquerade" is unusual entertainment, it is said, and has been deftly directed by Russell J. Birdwell from the novel, "The Brass Bowl," by Louis Joseph Vance.

Celebration at Chinese Today

The Labor Day holiday will be celebrated in fitting style at Grauman's Chinese Theater, with de luxe presentation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Hollywood Revue of 1929" at both matinee and evening performances. This musical extravaganza is now in its eleventh week, having been viewed by nearly 300,000 people, it is said.

It presents a cast of several hundred and features thirty stars. More than twenty tuneful numbers, all originally written for this picture, are the result of the labors of fourteen of Tin-Pan Alley's most noted writers.

Versatility Marks Screen Revue

Bessie Love
Is one of the featured performers in M.-G.-M.'s "Hollywood Revue of 1929," which is showing currently at the Chinese Theater.

"NEW SHOW WORLD" ARISES

Changes in Film Industry Noted by Jesse L. Lasky; Paramount Brings Eastern Talent Here

A revelation of a new trend in entertainment, involving the presentation of spectacular New York musical comedies and stage hits as audible movies, is contained in the announcement of Paramount's program of fall releases, according to a statement issued by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president in charge of production for Paramount-Famous Lasky.

"Paramount has taken cognizance of this revolutionary change in the film industry and is referring to it as 'the new show world,'" Mr. Lasky notes.

"What it really means is that Hollywood has reached its long arm across the continent and linked itself with the cream of New York's theatrical talent. Thus, for the first time, millions of movie-goers will be privileged to enjoy the electric personalities of such favorites as Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows; Maurice Chevalier, the magnetic French music-hall star; the four Marx brothers; Dennis King, the romantic singing hero of "The Vagabond King;" Jeanne Eagels, who starred in "Rain" for four years; Ruth Chatterton, one of the great actresses of the stage; Helen Morgan, late star of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat;" Hal Skelly, Claudette Colbert, Jeanette MacDonald, Helen Kane, the baby-voiced singer; Gertrude Lawrence, Lillian Roth, Walter Huston, and other dramatic stars; Eddie Cantor, the inimitable jokester, dancer and singer of numerous Broadway shows; Tito Schipa, the opera singer; Rudy Vallee, the sentimental singer whose radio voice lifted him to dazzling heights in the amusement world; James Barton, and a score of others."

"The acquisition of these glamorous figures will not mean any loss of the screen favorites, it is disclosed by a glance over the Paramount schedule, for such idols of the silver sheet as Harold Lloyd, Clara Bow, George Bancroft, Gary Cooper, Charles Rogers, Nancy Carroll, William Powell, Richard Arlen, Evelyn Brent, Clive Brook and others who have demonstrated their ability as speaking actors, will be found heading the casts of pictures represented in the fall and winter groups.

"Today all roads of entertainment—stage plays, motion pictures, radio, music—lead to the talking, singing screen," declares Mr. Lasky. "The most celebrated actors, the best authors, leading stage directors, song composers—all are working now for the amusement of the masses of cinema-goers."

Pangborn Picks Versatile Cast for 'Youngest'

Franklin Pangborn has announced his supporting cast for Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the comedy-drama, "The Youngest," which will follow "Expressing Willie" at the Vine-street Theater. "The Youngest" will open at the Vine-street the 9th inst.

Young Fairbanks, who will play the title role in the forthcoming Pangborn production, will obtain his leading feminine support in the play from two ingenues, Lurene Tuttle and Charlotte Stevens. Others in the supporting cast will be G. Pat Collins, William Lawrence, Claire Du Brey, Frankie Raymond and Warburton Guilbert.

Rehearsals for the production have been launched under the direction of George Sherwood. Pangborn, who is temporarily leaving the stage, due to the press of motion-picture contracts, is enthusiastic over his new production and believes that it will mark a climax of his managerial activities.

Wallace Lauded for Direction

Richard Wallace's all-talking production for Paramount, "Innocents of Paris," in which the noted French comedian, Maurice Chevalier, makes his American debut, is playing its fifth record-breaking month at the St. Francis Theater in San Francisco, it was announced.

An outstanding illustration of its drawing power in Europe is offered in the reports from abroad, that exhibitors in Paris, London, Brussels and other prominent foreign key cities are booking it for one solid year's showing. Director Wallace is entitled to no little credit for the adroit manner in which he guided the French celebrity, since it was no easy feat to introduce a new member to the constellation of stars already accepted by the public, it is asserted.

MARY BRIAN WINS PART

Culminating an intensive search that has had most of the young feminine players of Hollywood excited, Mary Brian has been selected for the leading role of Judith Wheater in Paramount's all-talking picturization of Edith Wharton's noted novel, "The Children." The part, said to be one of the best that Paramount has to offer this year, will afford Miss Brian her greatest opportunity since she was cast as Wendy in "Peter Pan."

Film Pictures Activities of Star Reporter

"In The Headlines," Warner Brothers' Vitaphone production, depicting newspaper life in a large city, starts its engagement at Warner Brothers' Theater today. The story of this picture is an original by James Starr.

Grant Withers, who plays the leading male role, portrays the part of the star reported. He is detailed to unravel a baffling murder double mystedy, only to be unsuccessful, and completely beaten by a young cub reported, played by Marian Nixon.

Also in the cast of this production are Edmund Breese, Clyde Cook, Pauline Garon, Frank Campeau, Vivien Oakland, Hallan Cooley, Spec O'Donnell, Jack Wise, Ben Hall and others. It was adapted to the screen by Joseph Jackson, and directed by John Adolphi.

Duffy Selects Complete Cast for New Play

Henry Duffy has completed the cast for "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," in which May Robson will be seen as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players at the Hollywood Playhouse, starting Sunday.

James Bush, recently seen at the same theater as the American youth in "The Big Pond," returns to play the chief role, that of Jack, the nephew, the one person in the world whom Aunt Mary adores. Emily Lowry will be seen as Betty Burnett, Jack's fiancee, and others in the cast will be Lillian Harmer as Lucinda, Kenneth Gamet as Bob Burnett, Fred Trowbridge as Mitchell, William Mahu, Frances Beranger, William Macauley, Myra Huber and Elizabeth Hiestand. Rehearsals are under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis.

"Melody" Next Criterion Show

"The Broadway Melody," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking - singing production, will follow "Lucky Star" as the next attraction at the Criterion Theater. The new picture will be given a popular run starting the 11th inst. Combining the qualities of a musical revue with an entertaining story, "The Broadway Melody" has already rolled up large attendance records throughout the country, it is said.

Bessie Love, Charles King and Anita Page have the featured roles in the picture, which is a story of stage life in New York City. Harry Beaumont was responsible for direction, while the melodies and lyrics were composed by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON AT BOWL ENDS

Musicians Join with Crowd in Tremendous Ovation for Bruno Walter

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Hollywood Bowl concert Saturday night was the closing and the climax of the season. Enthusiasm for Bruno Walter, conductor of the summer orchestra for the past two weeks, reached a point higher than has been registered for any conductor in Bowl history. This expression of admiration and affection, in which the orchestra men joined as heartily as the cheering thousands, was a spontaneous and sincere outpouring of appreciation toward a musician of unassailable integrity and the highest artistry.

Incidentally, the Bowl management announced through Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, that there would be no deficit this year, and that this happy fact was due to the crowds Bruno Walter has attracted. It is tangible proof that the multitude want the best, and when the Bowl management sees fit to give in the crowds will do their part.

The popular program was largely in the mood of opera and the dance, for a classic ballet suite, arranged from Gluck operas with the overture to "Hansel and Gretel," led up to a bacchanale from "Samson and Delilah" and the "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture. Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody" and two numbers by Johann Strauss, dear to the Viennese and all those who love the spirit of old Vienna, finished the program. In answer to the cheering and clapping of the audience, Walter directed "The Star Spangled Banner" and the people sang. A wave of happiness swept over the Bowl and enveloped all in a warm embrace.

The program was one of contrast and abounding grace. From the crystal severity of Gluck, the musical scene changed to the street scene of the Philistines, the bacchanale from Saint-Saens's "Samson and Delilah." Walter is just oriental enough to direct this with fascinating abandon. Mr. White, the tympani player, and Mr. Kastner, harpist, added to the general virtuosic effect.

The overture to "The Merry Wives Windsor," by Nicolai, is not unknown here or anywhere else, but never has it been done locally with the same interest and elan. Walter idealizes the common-place. It is one of his great gifts.

The same is true of Saturday night's performance of the Liszt "Hungarian Rhapsody." Every fine turn of a phrase was as polished as if it had been a new work he was presenting for the approval of the discriminating.

The "Tales from the Vienna Woods" and the overture from Johann Strauss' "Gypsy Baron" were eloquent of a day when light operas was music and not a conglomeration of tap-dance "theme-songs." Bruno Walter, acknowledged by the world as one of the greatest conductors, is not above giving his best attention to the refinements and grace of these inimitable waltzes with their irresistible gayety and wistful moments of sadness. His playing of the Vienna waltzes is unforgettable music. Noack and Svedrofsky, first violinists, took special bows for this.

And thus ended the Bowl season with a laurel wreath presented to the departing conductor and the announcements of Bernardino Molinari, Alfred Hertz and Eugene Goossens, as conductors for the season of 1930.

HILLSTREET SCREEN SHOWS "BIG NEWS"

Robert Armstrong Leads Cast of Pathe Film; Evans and Mayer on Stage

When there is no news—make your own. That is the essence of the Pathe film, "Big News," which is the current diversion this week at the Hillstreet Theater. Practically the entire action takes place in the office of the usual screen type editorial room of what is supposed to be a metropolitan newspaper office. The floor, at least, is well cluttered with reams of copy paper.

The dope ring, common to such stories, is represented only by the efforts of the star reporter to reveal it. There is a speakeasy, and the "scoop" artist is the habitual liquor hound, the somewhat uncomplimentary gesture probably started by that fearless play, "The Front Page."

The owner of the aforementioned den of lawlessness is the villain and is finally thwarted and led away in handcuffs, murmuring "Over the River" to the hero.

The presentation is from the stage play by George S. Brooks, and dialogue is by Walter De Leon. Gregory LaCava directed the piece. If the original stage version was presented before "The Front Page," apologies are in order for the statement to the effect that the latter started the drunken reporter and his inebriated companion reeling through to a stirring and sober finish.

The star reporter, who has the temerity to tell his boss where to "get off," is portrayed by Robert Armstrong; Carol Lombard is the wife; Charles Sellon appears as the editor-in-chief; Sam Hardy makes a fine villain, and Wade Boteler is the city editor. Other minor parts are handled by Tom Kennedy and Warner Richmond.

The characters do their best with the material, which is somewhat trite and worn now. The action, however, does not lag and the love interest is kept at a minimum.

Edith Evans and Ray Mayer, "The Cowboy and the Girl," bring their merry little tunes and comedy to the Hillstreet stage this week. Miss Evans is quite a local favorite, as is Mayer.

Countess Sonia and her "Revue Intimate" divide top honors with Evans and Mayer. Sonia presents a galaxy of numbers, interspersing dancing and music. Alex Sherer appears in his "Missing Link" dance, as one of the features of the act.

Cora Green offers more songs. The Wonder Girl whirls through dizzy circles with the aid of a rope, and the Briants, eccentric comedians who, it is said, have taken their act to practically every civilized country, add much to the varied and versatile vaudeville presentation.

GIRL HEROINE OF FIRE DECORATED

Dorothy Corgill Presented With Gold Medal

Forest Supervisor Elliott Makes Presentation

Recognition Given Plucky Lone Battle With Blaze

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 1.—Miss Dorothy Corgill, 15-year-old Colton girl, wears a gold medal, presented to her by the United States Forest Service, because she is a girl "of daring, resourcefulness and just plain common sense."

Miss Corgill was awarded the medal by J. E. Elliott, supervisor of the San Bernardino National Forest, for single-handed putting out a brush fire in Lytle Creek Canyon near Camp Bonita, on June 19. She was presented with the medal at a program in her honor, held in Lytle Creek Canyon, attended by a score of rangers and representatives of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce.

While driving to Camp Bonita, Miss Corgill saw the fire, apparently started a few minutes before. It was burning toward the invaluable water shed of Lytle Creek, the source of the creek which feeds underground basins for artesian wells in the San Bernardino Valley below. Without becoming excited, she took a blanket out of her car and beat out the fire after an hour's fight. When she had it under control, she called the ranger of the district.

Miss Dorothy Corgill receiving medal from J. E. Elliott, supervisor of San Bernardino National Forest.

The San Bernardino chamber in keeping with its forestry conservation program, suggested that the girl be honored. The forestry service arranged to formally present Miss Corgill with the medal, financed by the chamber.

In his speech of presentation, Supervisor Elliott of the forest reserve, told Miss Corgill that she probably saved hundreds of acres of brush and, perhaps, timber, simply because she displayed courage, "a sense of daring, resourcefulness and plain common-sense."

Four Champions in Exhibition at Lake Norconian

REDLANDS, Sept. 1.—Four national champions and a galaxy of lesser stars made the all-county swimming exhibition in Sylvan plunge here today an outstanding affair. It was entirely an exhibition and attracted swimmers from all parts of the valley.

Outstanding swimmers here were: Jane Fauntz, national women's champion diver from the 3-foot springboard, sponsored by Lake Norconian Club; Stanley Keisler, national junior high-diving champion, sponsored by Lake Norconian Club; Bunny Fergus, 1928 diving champion from the 10-foot springboard, defeated this year by Georgia Coleman, sponsored by Lake Norconian Club; Marian Dale, Southern California champion diver from the 3-foot springboard, sponsored by Lake Norconian Club.

Jesse King, Colton; Charles Feldman, Redlands; Dorothy Anne Jackson, Redlands; Dorothy Ahman, Colton; Jessie Turner, Colton; Gwendolyn Holland, San Bernardino; Bernie Ahman, Colton; K. L. Schutt, Coachella Valley; Charles Johnson, De Sienna; Ben Carpenter, Redlands, and a number of girls from the Lake Norconian Club who are training for the 1932 Olympic games, also took part in the exhibition.

San Marino to Have Newspaper

SAN MARINO, Sept. 1.—This city's first locally owned and published weekly newspaper will issue its first edition Thursday. The paper will be published under the name of the San Marino News at 967 Huntington Drive.

Giles Hart, local correspondent for outside newspapers for the last few years, is the publisher and editor. He has been a resident for the last twenty years.

Hart was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles this summer. During his four years at Los Angeles and Berkeley, he was reporter and editor of campus publications.

Miss Katherine Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen of this city, is society editor and advertising manager.

HEROISM MARKS BIRTHDAY

Art Dolby Passes Twenty-fifth Milestone and Plunges from Cliff and Rescues Drowning Girl

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 1.—Art Dolby of 210 Avenue A here celebrated his twenty-fifth birthday today by one of the most outstanding acts of heroism ever witnessed here when he plunged fully dressed from the cliffs near his home to the surf, bringing ashore Miss Audry Harper of Los Angeles who was caught in a riptide.

Although Dolby, a well-known boxer of Seattle, where he lived before coming to Redondo Beach a short time ago, has not given any special time to swimming, his feat this morning was made without the slightest hesitation in a situation which many an expert swimmer would not have attempted.

A companion swimming near the prostrate girl and unable to bring her ashore, made the beach with difficulty. The rescue was one of five made here today and by a strange quirk of fate another made at the same time was by a chum of Dolby, Wilbur Pickrell of 1341 West Fifty-fourth street, Los Angeles. Pickrell was left at a life guard post on another beach while the guard on duty there answered the call in which Miss Harper was saved. Pickrell, a star halfback of the West Seattle High School, with Carl Mullen, municipal lifeguard, brought Milton Sands, 25 years of age, of Carson and Amapola streets, Torrance, to shore after he had become unconscious.

Sands was about 300 yards from shore when his rescuers reached him and was revived with the help of a physician and removed to his home. Neither Pickrell nor Dolby were aware of each other's act until lifeguards acquainted them with the facts of the two rescues, which occurred almost simultaneously.

The three other persons brought ashore were in the hands of Life Guards Rusty Williams, Lee Jarvis, Hougton Ralphs and Addie Cherry.

MANY HURT IN STAGE COLLISION

Pickwick Bus Crashes With Machine Driven by British Columbia Army Man

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 1.—Some twenty passengers escaped serious injury near here this morning when a southbound Pickwick stage after colliding with a car driven by Capt. Guy Beyer, Port Washington, B. C., rolled down a twenty-five-foot embankment onto the Southern Pacific tracks. Fifteen of the passengers were taken to the Cottage Hospital for first-aid treatment and only six suffered injuries severe enough to warrant additional hospital care. Capt. Beyer was only slightly injured. He sustained a head injury which made him unconscious for several hours. Those who remained in the hospital during the day were:

Jimmy Moore and Douglas Williams, both of Los Angeles; Mrs. June Fisker, Berkeley; J. G. Dubois, Sacramento; Mrs. L. C. Knight, San Francisco, and Mrs. Louise Buhler, Hermosa Beach. None of them received broken bones and all will be released from the hospital by morning; according to attendants.

Undersheriff Jack Ross received the emergency call about 8 o'clock and rushed two ambulances to the scene of the accident. According to information he received, the car driven by Capt. Beyer was on the wrong side of the road. The bus lay over on its side after rolling down the embankment onto the railroad track. A special Pickwick repair car was called and pulled the heavy stage back on the highway. The stage was brought into Santa Barbara under its own power. A Southern Pacific train was held up about half an hour until the stage could be removed from the tracks.

WEATHER MAKES BURGLAR HAPPY

High Temperature Results in Open Doors, Making His Work Easy

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 1.—A barefooted burglar made a systematic canvass of homes in the eastern edge of the city early today, finding in most instances that doors had been left open due to the warm weather, thus saving him a lot of trouble. So quietly did he work that he removed money and jewelry from dressers without disturbing the sleeping occupants of the rooms.

Five burglaries were reported to the police this morning. Other reports are expected when residents return from holiday trips. Money, watches and jewelry, valued at several hundred dollars, were stolen. The victims were Jeannette Spencer, 1100 East Main street; B. R. Stasel, 1206 East Main street; O. M. Hodinott, 14 North El Molino; R. R. Johnson, 13 North Vega, and E. J. Hammonds, 10 North El Molino.

Warm Weather Brings Tropical Fish Offshore

HERMOSA BEACH, Sept. 1.—The largest schools of yellowfin tuna in years were today reported by operators of the Olympic barges and the Pacific deep sea live-bait boats and by anglers fishing from these pleasure fishing craft.

Capt. Tommy Maitland of the deep sea boat O & K with a capacity load of pleasure fishermen also reports yellowtail, of the large variety, very numerous offshore, with many of the beauties being taken by anglers from his craft.

The unusual run of hot weather is, according to those familiar with conditions here, responsible for the unusual showing of tropical fish in the bay waters offshore at Hermosa Beach this year. It has been many seasons since the tuna, tropical pompano, dolphins and several other ultratropical varieties have made their appearance such as they have this season in the bay waters off Hermosa Beach.

Upland's Banner Lemon Year Ends

UPLAND, Sept. 1.—Upland Lemon Growers' Association's banner season in the sale and returns on the 1929 lemon crop closed last night and members of the association will receive approximately 25 per cent greater returns on their crop than in any previous year.

The crop sent to market this season was said to be 25 per cent greater than any previous crop. This season the association sent to market 2000 carloads of lemons. The closest highest season heretofore was 1200 carloads.

Although the outlook for next season's lemon situation is bright, it is believed now it will not reach the high peak of the season just closed, as production will not be as heavy.

Upland Lemon Growers' Association represents 1600 acres held by 265 grove owners.

In order to keep the lemon crop rolling east this season, the association kept two shifts on the job for several weeks.

The annual meeting of the association will probably be held November 7, according to L. R. Bradley, manager of the association.

IDEAS SOUGHT FOR YUCAIPA APPLE SHOW

YUCAIPA, Sept. 1.—Ideas are being sought by the committee for the annual fall apple festival of the Yucaipa Valley.

Mrs. M. A. Dunham, who is again the chairman of the committee in charge of the show, says that what is wanted is an idea that will form a motif to make it more attractive and more beautiful than ever before.

She says there is to be as fine a display of apples and other fruits as the show has ever had, but this is not sufficient to attract all sorts of people, that some idea is needed which will make the show outstanding.

GRAPE HARVEST BEGINS

Largest and Highest-Grade Crop in Years Moving to Eastern Markets; Weather Hastens Ripening

ONTARIO, Sept. 1.—Refrigerator cars are beginning to roll away from Guasti, as the small army of Italian and Mexican pickers plunge into the task of getting the huge crop of grapes off the vines before continued warm weather may cause harm.

Thus far the hot days have not caused any damage to the crop. Rather, it has speeded up the ripening, and the Italian Vineyard Company officials are all set to begin harvest in earnest, starting Monday or Tuesday.

Four carloads already have gone away from the Italian Vineyard Company loading platform, with their destination the markets in the East.

The largest and highest grade crop of grapes in recent years is now nearly mature. A peculiar situation is said to be existing in the vineyards this summer. Some of the plots that ordinarily are early in maturing are slower, while others usually slow to ripen are nearly mature now.

FEDERAL SANCTION FOR WINES

Not only will the grapes go to eastern markets, but the company has an elaborate plan for manufacturing grapes into jams, cooking wines and jellies. Wine also will be manufactured this fall under Federal sanction, the wine to be placed under government bond and disposed of under government regulation.

While the pickers have been making camp in and near Guasti, a large crew of carpenters has been engaged in making lugs for the harvest.

The recently enacted farm-relief measures to be devoted to the help of the vineyardists through the grape marketing stabilization plan, has encouraged the vineyardists, and promises stable returns for the crop, that early in the year seemed destined to face an uncertain fate.

The first shipment of grapes from this district was made by Cario Brothers, Cucamonga growers and shippers, through the American Fruit Express, with New York the destination. The grapes, of Zinfandel variety, were reported of 22 per cent sugar content.

The car allotment, marketing and inspection machinery for the sixteenth district of the California Vineyardists' Association, embracing practically all of Southern California, is now functioning here.

INSPECTOR OPENS OFFICE

A. C. Cadwallader, Federal grape inspector, has established headquarters at Hotel Ontario for the season, and Ralph L. Cason, representing the American Railway Association, is established at the Chamber of Commerce, to allot refrigerator cars to growers and shippers in order that eastern markets will not become glutted, and to assure the shippers cars the moment they are needed.

SCHOOL TO BEAR NAME OF OBREGON

Governor Rodriguez Tells of Plans for Institution to Cost $250,000

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—A new $250,000 school for girls under construction in the Altamira district east of Tia Juana, will bear the name of Alvaro Obregon, late President of Mexico, according to an announcement made here today. The new structure, one of the most important developments of the regime of Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, will have a capacity of 800 students.

A special committee has been appointed by Gov. Rodriguez to supervise the planning and construction of the school, including Miguel Gonzalez, president of the Tia Juana National Chamber of Commerce; Luis G. Martinez, attorney; Adrian Cubillas, Mayor of Tia Juana; Fernando Esquer, manager of the Tia Juana branch of the Bancaria del Pacifico, and Daniel Gonzalez, who donated the land on which the school is being built.

Z. D. Agnew, contractor in charge of the building work, has constructed similar buildings for the Mexican government, including a civil hospital and the Benito Juarez School, both in Mexicali. The contract for the girls' school calls for expenditure of $190,450.

School Days to Begin for San Diego Children

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—School days for children and students in the San Diego public schools will begin Tuesday morning with an enrollment that is expected to exceed 33,000, or about 1800 over the enrollment last year.

Walter R. Hepner, superintendent of schools, said today that a final survey of personnel and equipment shows that everything is in readiness for one of the most successful terms in the history of the city.

"I am better pleased over the staff of teachers for the coming year than at any time in my experience," said Hepner. "We have selected sixty new teachers out of some 900 applicants. The quality of the additional personnel is high, because competition has been keen for these positions."

Hepner added that the staff of the public schools will include 905 members, or twenty-five more than last year, to take care of the increased enrollment. The effect of the increased personnel will be felt in the classes of the smaller schools which were crowded last year.

In reducing these smaller classes, Hepner said they will be about the same size as has been maintained in the larger schools. The average sizes of the classes this year will be from thirty to thirty-five in the smaller schools and an average of thirty-eight in the larger schools.

Alhambra Quota for Advertising Valley Pledged

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 1.—Alhambra has gone on record as promising to raise this city's quota of $10,000 in a proposed $50,000 publicity campaign for the San Gabriel Valley, providing the other communities in the program raise their individual quotas.

The decision was reached at a conference of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Alhambra District Realty Board, industrial heads and merchants. City Attorney R. D. Wickham, Alhambra's representative in the new valley organization, presided at the meeting.

A report of Alhambra's action will be made Tuesday night at a meeting of the executive group of the publicity enterprise at the Alhambra Athletic Club.

At this time it is expected that all the other communities interested in the project will report their final decisions as to their financial support.

SAN PASQUAL BATTLE EPIC

Stirring Scenes of Historic Struggle Between Gallant Caballeros and Daring Americans to be Re-enacted

ESCONDIDO, Sept. 1.—Escondido is again preparing in an elaborate manner for its annual presentation of "Felicita," an extraordinary and spectacular pageant-play, of which there will be four performances, yesterday and today and the following Sunday and Monday, the 8th and 9th inst.

"Felicita" was written by Dr. Benjamin F. Sherman, Escondido's actor-playwright, and the players are being directed by him. It is enacted by a cast of more than 100 people, all of whom are recruited from this community. It is the first big movement toward a representative community drama in California. This fact alone stamps "Felicita" as a unique presentation, but there are other features just as unusual.

On the programs "Felicita" is subtitled "An Epic of the Battle of San Pasqual." This battle, part of which took place scarcely a mile from the spot where its thrilling scenes are once more being re-enacted in a setting so natural that it is hard to realize that one is not viewing the actual struggle itself, is the central theme around which Dr. Sherman has woven a poignant and appealing story of romance, adventure, love and sacrifice.

AMERICANS' POWDER WET

According to historical accounts, the Americans under Gen. Kearney, met the Mexicans, commanded by Gen. Pico, in the little valley of the San Pasqual, December 6, 1846. The powder of the Americans was wet, they were ragged, hungry, worn out by long marches, and inadequately mounted on half-starved mules. The Mexicans, who were armed with lances and mounted on fine horses, drove the hopelessly outnumbered little force to the hills, where they hid in the cactus, which in this case proved to be their salvation. All this is portrayed with fidelity and skill at the beginning of the play.

Then follows the love story of Felicita, the Indian princess, and the wounded American, Capt. Dick. Felicita takes him to her hut to care for his wounds. They fall in love, and from then on the story moves inevitably forward to its touching climax.

Thrills and excitement in plenty are furnished by the battle scene and the dire machination of Don Caspar, while the actions of the two Irish recruits "from Hoboken" provide the necessary comic relief. The superbly beautiful fiesta scene in the third act gives a touch of color and pageantry to the whole performance. Most effective is the use of music throughout the play, the organ and singing in the mission, and the Indian songs from the hills adding immeasurably to the success of the production.

NATURAL SETTING FOR PLAY

The natural setting of the play is ideal and deserves special mention. The audience sits under magnificent live-oaks and is separated from the level spot that serves as a stage by a little stream, while behind rises a rocky, oak-shaded hill. When, during the first act, Indians spring up from the hills on all sides and come winding down the trails to view the marriage race, no more inspiring or picturesque sight can be imagined. The battle takes place at the top of the hill and the audience gets a thrill when Pico's men go galloping up the trail, brandishing their lances and yelling imprecations at the Gringos. A bit of the historic battle can be seen at this point and the action is swift and exciting.

It is amazing that in the short space of two years Escondido has been able to produce such a finished and well-rounded production, sincerely and superbly acted throughout and sustaining the interest of the audience to the end. Many pageants become tiresome due to their length, poor acting, or lack of sustained plot, but not so "Felicita." John Steven McGroarty, father of California pageantry and author of the Mission Play said: "The Felicita Pageant Play is one of the finest, the most beautiful and the most satisfying it has ever been my privilege to witness. I can not suggest any changes in plot or in details of presentation—nothing to add—nothing to take away. I am thrilled with its beauty."

Mother Denied Probation on Liquor Charge

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 1.—Denied probation, Mrs. Georgia Bubler, 48 years of age and the mother of eleven children, was sentenced to serve ninety days in the County Jail by Superior Judge Charles L. Allison.

The court ignored an appeal by Mrs. Bubler's attorneys for leniency when Probation Officer George Larmore failed to recommend a parole. It was Mrs. Bubler's first arrest and her attorneys said she entered the bootlegging traffic in an attempt to support her seven minor children. Her arrest quickly followed.

Judge Allison ordered the County Welfare Commission to care for Mrs. Bubler's children during the ninety days that she will serve in the jail. She admitted her guilt, frankly stating that she sold liquor to two dry operatives.

William Aker, arrested at Mrs. Bubler's home, was freed a few minutes after Mrs. Bubler pleaded guilty, she assuming full responsibility for the liquor sales.

FIVE HUNDRED BOYS DAILY USE PLUNGE

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 1.—An average of 500 boys a day have used the plunge in the Inglewood Union High School gymnasium this summer, according to Coach Arthur Badenoch of the school, who has had supervision of the pool throughout the summer.

This is the first year that the plunge has been available during vacation to the boys of the Centinela Valley and the experiment has been so successful that it is highly probable that arrangements will be made to do so every year in the future, according to George M. Green, principal.

Fully 300 boys have learned to swim in the plunge this summer, it was announced by Coach Badenoch.

Although the fall term at the school does not begin until the 10th inst., the plunge was closed last night, to permit of a week of overhauling and repairs before school opens.

VENTURA TAX RATE TO BE SET TOMORROW

VENTURA, Sept. 1.—The city tax rate for Ventura is to be set Tuesday, it was learned after the City Council met in special session for an informal discussion of the matter.

What changes will be made in last year's rate were not definitely determined. It is not expected that the former levy would be altered greatly, although it may be slightly lowered, it was reported unofficially.

WAREHOUSE FIRE BURNS CONTENTS

San Bernardino Blaze Loss Estimated $100,000; Many Firemen Overcome

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 1.—Burning fiercely in a fireproof building a blaze destroyed the contents of the Associated Warehouse late last night. The damage was estimated by Fred U. Hill, manager of the warehouse corporation, at $100,000, all of which was suffered by the scores of owners of the warehouse stock, which included everything from baled hay and cotton to automobiles.

The fire, hemmed in the fireproof structure, threw off a terrific heat and five firemen were overcome, suffering so severely that they were removed to a hospital. The firemen were Herman Dexter, H. A. Purden, Stanley Purden, W. G. Craben and M. L. Snyder.

The building itself, valued at $200,000, was only slightly damaged, due to its fireproof type of construction.

Probably started by spontaneous combustion in the forty tons of baled hay in the building, the fire had burned for probably an hour before it was discovered. When the firemen opened the heavy doors of the building, the flames literally belched out, driving back the crews repeatedly before hose could be laid in the burning structure.

The entire fire department personnel was called and later volunteers were asked. The fire burned itself out in three hours, there being little saved. The building was jammed with stock of all description.

There was no insurance on the warehouse's contents carried by the owners, it being explained that the individual owners of the contents were the losers as their wares were placed in the building at their own risk.

Wailing Wall in Jerusalem Told of By Traveler

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 1.—Telling of his visit to the scene of the trouble that has started the recent unrest and slaughter in Palestine, the ancient Wailing Wall in Jerusalem; to Tel Aviv, the headquarters of the Zionist movement in the Holy Land, and other points in that country, a long letter has been received here from Dr. Horace S. Cushing, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city and chaplain of the local Lions' Club. The letter was addressed to the latter organization, in lieu of personal cards or other missives to the large membership.

Although written and mailed before the outbreak of the fighting in Jerusalem the letter contains graphic description of the historic points visited. In addition to the Wailing Wall, these included the Mosque of Omar, the town of Bethlehem, the Shepherds' Fields, Jericho, the Wilderness of Judea, the Jordan River, the Dead Sea, the Sea of Galilee, Nazareth, Tyre, Cana and a number of other places well known to students of the Bible.

Dr. Cushing is accompanied by his wife. They will travel extensively in Europe before returning here.

Lighted Cigar and Cigarette Stubs to be Dropped as Plane Soars Over Forest Areas

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—In an effort to determine whether lighted tobacco dropped from aircraft constitute a serious fire hazard, a test that may prove of vital importance to the protection of California forests will be conducted Friday by the Los Angeles County Forestry Department it was learned today.

A trimotored airliner will soar into the sky at San Fernando and observers will drop scores of lighted cigarette and cigar stubs on guarded forest areas.

County Fire Warden Spence D. Turner has organized a strong patrol to stamp out any fires that may be started in the course of the tests.

Stop watches will be used to register the time required for the stubs to fall from varying altitudes. Long streamers of colored yarn will be attached to the stubs so that they may be watched and later identified.

If the tests result in starting a large number of fires, forest officials will seek passage of an ordinance regulating smoking in aircraft above Los Angeles county.

RAIN BRINGS TRAGEDIES

Angelenos Die in Auto Wrecks

Machines on Salt Lake City Road Strike Washouts After Cloudburst

Mother and Baby Killed in One Crash and Boy in Another Smash-up

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Sept. 2. (AP)— Jessie Strong and her 10-months-old baby of Huntington Park, Cal., and Clifford De Camp, years of age, of Los Angeles, were on the Los Angeles-Salt Lake highway today in plunges of automobiles into washouts caused by cloudbursts during last night.

Mrs. Strong and the baby were in a car driven by A. H. Healy, en route from Los Angeles to Utah, to visit relatives. Healy's car plunged into a wash near St. George, Utah. Healy, who was hurt, reported to the Sheriff at St. George that Mrs. Strong and the child were dead when he pulled from the wreckage.

De Camp's car sped into a wash with loose gravel near Sunkville, Nev., near the Utah State and turned over. De Camp killed instantly and two brothers, Lyon and Lyman De Camp, injured. They were en route Los Angeles and were reported to have completed an around-the-world motor tour.

Cloudbursts which broke on the north and south sides of Las Vegas during the night sent curb-high streams of water through the northwest residential section. Many and bungalow homes were flooded, driving the occupants out several hours during the night. automobiles were stalled in streets, while others were trapped within garages by the flood. Several plate-glass windows broken by a terrific wind which the town as the downpour forth in the near-by mountains.

DAMAGE DONE STORMS IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Sept. 2. (AP)—Rains of varying intensity fell throughout Arizona last night and early this morning.

A heavy wind and rainstorm Buckeye, thirty-five miles west of here early this morning, continuing for several hours. The wind, which is estimated to have reached a velocity of fifty miles an hour at times, blew over several structures in the vicinity, felled and disrupted telephone service. So far as can be learned no was injured.

Three-quarters of an inch of rain was recorded at Prescott during the storm, one of the most severe and electrical storms recorded this summer. Some damage was done by lightning and Prescott was without electrical power for six hours this morning.
